

Student Mission Crusade Adopts Plan Of Action

Dayton, O., July 2.—The Fifth National Convention of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade closed its four-day session at the University of Dayton by adopting a resolution to establish a committee of forty-five educators whose members will be invited to outline a program for the promotion of mission education in all the schools affiliated with the organization.

New Officers Elected

The Archbishop of Cincinnati, Most Rev. John T. McNicholas, O. P., S. T. M., was elected to the office of President. The Archbishop won the affection and confidence of the Crusaders by the warmth of his address at the opening session and by the tributes which he paid to the worth of the organization and the work which it has accomplished.

Francis J. Beckman, of Lincoln, Neb., was re-elected to the office of Chairman of the National Executive Board. Student members of the National Executive Board were named in the election as follows: for young men's colleges and high schools, Cyril Vogel, Duquesne University, Pittsburgh; for young women's colleges and high schools, Josephine Mulvihill, College of the Sacred Heart, "Maryville," St. Louis, Mo.; for seminaries, John T. Gillard, St. Joseph Seminary, Baltimore, Md.

Rev. Dr. Frank A. Thill, National Secretary of the Crusade, was reappointed by Bishop Beckman in the first official pronouncement following his re-election.

Rather heated discussions centered about the standing of graduate members of the Crusade and the modification of the national publication. A compromise was effected on the graduate membership whereby those "Veteran Members" will be affiliated with the Crusade units in the schools from which they are graduated or through the local conference organizations in the various centers.

The convention recommended the publication of a monthly paper, to take the place of the semi-monthly periodical which has been the official organ of the Crusade during the past three years.

The resolution adopted in acknowledgment of the message received from Pope Pius, blessing the convention, and which was cabled to Rome by Bishop Beckman, recalled the many declarations of fealty which had been sent to the Holy Father during the preceding days.

Introduced by Rev. P. Gregory Smith, Crusade leader for Denver, the resolution to the Holy Father read as follows: "The representatives of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade assembled at their Fifth National Convention at the University of Dayton, join to the mighty tributes of loyalty which have gone forth during this glorious week of religious zeal from the United States of America to Christ's Vicar, the renewed pledge of Catholic American youth to follow His guidance in their purpose that America may know and serve the missions."

Inspirational events of the convention included a Solemn Pontifical Mass on the opening day, celebrated by Bishop Beckman; the exemplification of the Crusade ritual in the University of Dayton stadium Saturday night; Solemn High Mass celebrated Sunday morning by Msgr. Joseph F. McGlinchey, diocesan mission director of Boston; and a series of original mission plays presented by the Little Theatre Company of the University of Dayton Sunday night under the direction of D. Herbert Abel.

Addresses at the ritual exemplification were delivered by Msgr. William Quinn of New York, National Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith; the Rev. Patrick H. Griffin of Chicago, representing the Catholic Church Extension Society; and the Rev. Mathew M. Brennan, Crusade field secretary for the Diocese of Albany.

"Missionaries of Sea" Name of New Order

By M. Massiani (Paris Correspondent, N. C. W. C. News Service)

Paris, June 25.—A new society of priests has just been founded in France under the name of "Missionaries of the Sea." Created by a former chaplain of the French Navy Canon Revel, of the clergy of Toulon, its call is to young priests, seminarians and students who are disposed to devote their careers to sailing the seas or living in seaports in order to work for the spiritual welfare of seamen.

Without taking vows, the Missionaries of the Sea pledge themselves to live in obedience and poverty. In addition to theological and spiritual training of the highest order, they will receive special professional training also, since special knowledge is needed in order to deal with sailors, in order to remember their names, their habits and customs and conditions of life.

Statistics issued by the sub-secretary of State for the Navy indicate that there are 250,000 Frenchmen living at sea, of whom about 50,000 are little fishermen who return to port virtually every night, spend Sunday at home and, for the most part, remain practical Christians.

But the 60,000 sailors of the fleet have very few chaplains. As for the 140,000 seamen of the merchant marine, they are veritable vagabonds of the sea and are perhaps the most neglected Catholics in the world. In some ports there are, of course, some homes and shelters, but far from enough. As for hearing the Word of God, it is the rarest experience in their lives unless they themselves go to church of their own accord.

The existence of priests especially devoted to an apostolate among seamen on shipboard and in ports will mark real progress in this respect.

Thieves Who Robbed Tabernacle Convicted

London, June 30.—Sentences of imprisonment and detention in a borstal institution were passed by Mr. Justice Shearman at the Essex assizes this week upon three young men convicted of stealing a tabernacle and altar vessels containing sacred hosts from St. Charles' convent school, Brentwood.

The three men, Eric Reynolds, Stephen Jones and Richard O'Connor, dismantled the altar to get the tabernacle. A large marble canopy was lifted bodily and placed behind the altar, and the marble supports of the tabernacle were cut away.

The thieves took the tabernacle to a house some miles away from the convent, but it was quickly traced by the police.

Sister Injured In Chicago Dies

(By N. C. W. C. News Service) Chicago, June 30.—Sister Alesandra of the Order of St. Joseph, of Minneapolis, who came to Chicago to attend the Eucharistic Congress, died last night of injuries she suffered when she fell from the steps of a train at Grand Central Station Saturday.

Sister Alesandra was sixty years old. A verdict of accidental death has been returned by a coroner's jury.

Former Catholic Lord Mayor Dead London, June 30.—Sir William Dunn, whose death is announced from Bourne-mouth, was the third Catholic to become Lord Mayor of London since the Reformation, and the first of them to attend a Catholic church in full state. He was elected to the office for the year 1916-17.

At the end of his term of office, he was created a Baronet, and Pope Benedict XV conferred upon him a Knight Commandership of the Order of St. Gregory the Great.

Beatification of 252 Martyrs of England Brought Step Nearer

(By N. C. W. C. News Service) London, June 26.—The Beatification of the 252 Venerable English Martyrs who suffered for the Faith under the Tudors and Stuarts has been brought another step nearer realization by the completion of the task of the Papal Commission which has been conducting the Apostolic process at Westminster.

Cardinal Bourne closed the process this week after it had been in progress just three years.

All the evidence has been taken to Rome and will be laid before the Sacred Congregation of Rites. It is possible that the final decree and beatification may be enacted before the close of 1920, the centenary year of Catholic Emancipation, when many of the penal laws under which the martyrs were tried were repealed.

the Holy See, beseeching the Vicar of Christ to send ambassadors of Christ among them." A novel feature of this convention was a series of round-table discussions for mission study, conducted by student groups under the direction of missionary experts. The tables were organized according to the "Paladin Study Plan" originated by the Crusade to stimulate original thinking and achievement among Catholic students along missionary lines.

Second Week At Cliff Haver

Speaking at the Patriotic Celebration held in the Auditorium at Cliff Haven, N. Y., the Rev. Francis P. Duffy, D. D., president of the Catholic Summer School and famous World War Chaplain, said that the Declaration of Independence was a Document that lives in history; its words are on the tongues of every living people of the world over.

"This raised, serene, majestic state document," the speaker stated, "contains a philosophy of government, a vindication of the setting up of a new country, and a pledge of allegiance." Father Duffy observed that the authors of the Declaration were actuated by a devotion to liberty. There were but few of them known to fame, few that were wealthy, and yet this infant country with its scattered colonies, held together by the genius of one of the greatest men that ever lived—Washington, has continued to prosper for 150 years.

This vast continent has prospered for the benefit of the world at large. The economic and financial prosperity of our country has not been gained at the sacrifice of the political principles with which the country started out. There has been an extension of those great principles which place government into the hands of as many people as can possibly exercise it.

Father Duffy declared that the Catholic Church in this country has achieved a triumph as remarkable as the country itself. 150 years ago the church was in a bad way, largely because of its connections with the state. There were still a large number of Catholics who believed that conditions would be worse if religion were disassociated from government. Here, Catholics, welcomed it. We would never dream of allowing any person to establish our religion as the religion of the country, because for every help you get from government you pay the price. Our growth is due, under God, to the loyalty in the first place of the immigrants, and the reaction has been that Catholics in this country display an ardent and deep devotion to the Declaration of Independence, The Constitution of the United States, and all things associated with it.

"We have accepted," concluded Father Duffy, "with great devotion, the principles of liberty upon which this country was founded. There is no doubt in our own souls. We are very definitely citizens of this Republic, and stand ready with its founders, to pledge, for its support, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

During the week, Rev. Edward F. Garesche, S. J., editor of the Hospital Progress Magazine gave a series of five morning lectures in the Summer School Auditorium. Father Garesche spoke on "Books at Home and As a Help to Reading," "The Development of Catholic Centers," "The Catholic Hospital and Its Services," "The New Profession of Nursing," and "The Welfare of Catholic Young Folk."

The well-known speaker and writer, in the course of his remarks deplored the fact that very few Catholic books are being read. "We Catholics," he said, "theoretically are greatly in favor of Catholic books; practically it is extraordinary how little we make use of them."

Two evening song recitals were given by Betty Burr, Soprano, of Brooklyn, New York. Miss Burr delighted a music loving audience with pleasing renditions. She more than duplicated the successes achieved in her former appearances before Cliff Haven residents. Her voice was well calculated to draw the just approbation, as it did, of those in attendance. Miss Agnes Clune Quinlan was accompanist.

On Thursday and Friday evenings, Rev. Francis P. Lyons, C.S.P. of St. Paul's College, Washington, D. C., gave two interesting and consequently entertaining lectures on "Pilgrimages To Rome In Holy Year."

Among the recent arrivals at Cliff Haven we note the Rt. Rev. Richard Oliver Gerow D. D., Bishop of Natchez, Miss. Bishop Gerow, for many years a patron of the Summer School was formerly Chancellor of Mobile Diocese. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1909, and consecrated October 15, 1924.

How Hidden Organ Was Operated At Chicago Congress

Chicago, July 3.—Many who attended the Masses at Soldiers Field in the course of the Eucharistic Congress were puzzled over the location of the great organ. When they heard its notes they were more mystified.

The organ, built especially for the Congress by George Klengen & Co. of St. Louis, was installed under the concrete stands on the west side of the stadium in a soundproof room. Its music was carried to the ears of the worshippers by wires leading to 30 amplifiers set up about the field.

Card. Gasparri Recovering

Rome, June 29.—Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, is recovering rapidly from an attack of pneumonia which prevented him from attending the Consistory at which he was conferred upon three new cardinals. For a time His Eminence was forced to keep to his bed.
