Has Risen From Newsboy to Nominee For Congress.

Thrown on his own resources early in life, James E. Cuff, Republican candidate for Congress, has had a spectacular rise to his present prominence and has crowded much into his busy life.

Educated at the parochial and public schools, he began over twenty years ago first as a newsboy and later as a blacksmith's helper, and then with his savings from this work for a start, he worked his way through college. He is a graduate of two universities, Cornell giving him the degree of Civil Engineer, and Syracuse that of Bachelor of Laws. He graduated from Syracuse University Law School at the head of his class. At one time he was a teacher of economics at Aquinas Institute.

JAMES E. CUFF

His more than twenty years of contact with the stern realities of life while working in factory, engineering camps, as a teacher and in the law courts, has given him a widespread experience and real sympathy with the problems of the men and women who work for a living.

As a Federal attorney in Rochester his record of vigorous enforcement of all laws commanded widespread attention and brought high commendation in Rochester and from Washington. His record in public office is a guarantee that he will be a faithful and representative congressman.

With a reputation built on courage, ability for doing things, faithfulness, sincerity and dependability, Mr. Cuff's elevation to Congress will mark a high point in a career characteristic of our outstanding progressive Americans.

He is a World War Veteran, enlisting in the Army in 1917 and serving until 1919.
