Some of Solomon's Proverbs Ascribed To Egyptian Sage

Jerusalem, April 8.—For many years there have been some efforts to attribute the Bible to the religious hymns and moral precepts of the ancient Egyptians. Several likenesses existing between them are indeed very evident. But till now they always have been explained, without difficulty, as due to the fact that the simple and elementary ideas of religion in all civilized countries, are nearly the same in principle and expression. But now the investigator has to deal with a collection of sentences which represent a much greater similarity. If the teaching of Amen-em-Apet are compared with the Proverbs of Solomon, and especially chapters XXII-XXIII, there will be found not only analogous phrases, but identical statements. It is, therefore, no longer a case of fortuitous coincidence, but that of a real dependence of one upon the other. Did the sacred author know the previous text of the Egyptian moralist and adapt some of his precepts to the peculiar mind of Israel? Does the Pharaonic literature give for the first time the source of a fragment of the Holy books?

St. Patrick's Place Of Birth Again Subject of Dispute

London, April 18.—Eminent men have engaged in yet another discussion concerning the disputed birth-place of St. Patrick, following the speculations about the matter in which speakers indulged at the big St. Patrick's Day banquet here. On that occasion, speaking perhaps "after dinner" rather than seriously, Lord Oxford put in a claim for Scotland, the French Ambassador for France and Ramsay MacDonald for Wales.

The claim for Wales was renewed recently in the "Western Daily Mail" by Mr. Kyrle Fletcher, a well-known authority on Welsh place names, who argued at length that St. Patrick was born at Abergavenny.

Dr. W. H. Gratton Flood, writing in the "Tablet," supports the theory. He says: "The weight of testimony is in favor of St. Patrick having been born at Abergavenny; and therefore, as the son of Welsh parents, he may lawfully be regarded as a Welshman. Still, it is consoling to think that even as a native of Wales we can still regard the Apostle of Ireland as a Celt."

Largest Of French Catholic Women's Groups In Season

Paris, April 18.—Religious ceremonies and solemn assemblies, each presided over by a bishop, marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the foundation of the Patriotic League of French Women in Paris, this week.

This group is today the most powerful organization of French Catholic women. It was created in 1902 by Baroness Reille to unite Christian women in a movement to protest against the anti-religious campaign which was then being waged. Her purpose was to defend religious liberty and to propagate the faith. She appealed to French Catholic women of all classes and all opinions.

Boasting 350,000 members before the war, it has now reached 920,000, divided into 4,000 chapters. Its organization is similar to that of the hierarchy by which its activities are guided. Directed by a central council, of which the Viscountess de Vellar is now head, its members are divided into groups of ten.

The Patriotic League of French Women gives its cooperation to all Catholic works, religious propaganda, apostolate, teaching, social work, apostolate, teaching, social work, charity, vacation colonies, libraries, clubs for farm women, day nurseries, dispensaries, etc.

In the course of the twenty-fifth congress many speakers insisted on the new importance which the League will have, when women obtain the vote, which cannot now be far off.

Pilgrims To Lisieux And Rome To Make Novena On Atlantic

Chicago, April 12.—Plans for the second annual Little Flower pilgrimage to Lisieux and Rome have been announced here by Ramona Gibbons Hayes, who successfully conducted the first pilgrimage held last year.

The pilgrims will be accompanied by Carmelite priest attached to the American National Shrine of the Little Flower in this city and is being undertaken with the approval and blessing of the Very Rev. Lawrence Diether, O. Carm., Provincial of the Carmelite Order in the United States.

The pilgrims will sail on the S. S. Alouatta from Montreal July 1. A special novena to the Little Flower will start the day of sailing and will conclude on the day of the arrival of the group at the tomb of the Little Flower in Lisieux.

Following a visit to Paris the party will proceed to Lourdes and thence to Rome, where it is expected that the Holy Father, who received the 1926 pilgrims very cordially, will give the pilgrims a special audience.

Ramona Gibbons Hayes has an office at 22 West Monroe Street, this city.

Catholics Visiting Legion Convention To Tour Shrines

New York, April 22.—Catholic members of the American Legion who attend the Paris convention this year will be afforded an opportunity to participate in an unique pilgrimage to the shrines and beauty spots of devotion in Europe following the convention, according to an announcement made by Thomas A. Broderick, Major Rhinelander Post of this city.

The pilgrims will leave Paris following the closing of the convention on September 25 and the itinerary arranged includes Lisieux, Lourdes, Avignon, Nice, Genoa, Rome, Assisi, Venice, Lucerne, Brussels and Louvain. A Catholic chaplain will accompany the party.

Three days will be spent in Rome, where a special audience will be arranged with the Holy Father.

The tour will be under auspices approved by John J. Wicker of 1440 Broadway, New York, national travel director of the France Convention Travel Committee of the Legion. He is in charge of reservations.

Chapel Built In French Ship

New York, April 24.—Fifteen "first class" passengers aboard the vessel are as keen for spiritual worship as they are for the dancing and other gayeties, the French Line has built into the very heart of the "Helle de France" its newest vessel now nearing completion at St. Nazaire, a complete chapel two stories in height that is capable of seating nearly a hundred persons.

The chapel is equipped with regular pews, an altar that surpasses in beauty many to be found in churches ashore, the fourteen stations of the cross built into the walls, and a richly toned organ.

The altar, situated at the far end of the chapel, stands under a beautiful dome. Mounted on the altar is a crucifix of molded glass, which is lighted from behind. On either side of the crucifix is a bas relief of an angel kneeling in an attitude of reverence toward the crucifix. In the sanctuary are also paintings of the patron saints of the Ile de France, Saint Louis and Saint Genevieve.

The altar rail is hand wrought steel, and from beneath it extends a costly carpet which covers the altar steps.

Catholic Daughters' Convention Plans

Asheville, N. C., April 18.—Civic and fraternal societies of this city are already making plans to welcome the delegates and members of the Catholic Daughters of America, expected here for the biennial summer convention of the order on July 5, 6 and 7.

Mrs. Queenie E. Dale, grand reeve of Asheville court of the Catholic Daughters of America, is chairman of the committee of arrangements. Committee headquarters have been established in the Battery Park.

N. C. C. W. Subscribes Aid for Subnormal Children's Welfare

San Francisco, April 16.—The gathering of the San Francisco Archdiocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women at the hotel Claremont, Berkeley, yesterday, was a great outpouring of representative women from every part of the archdiocese. Plans for the establishment of an institution for the care of subnormal children occupied the convention. Already $17,000 has been subscribed for the home and hospital which will cost $150,000.

Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna attended the meeting and delivered an address.

The Archdiocesan Council was the guest of Berkeley Chapter. Prominent women from the various chapters present were: Mrs. Thomas Catton, chairman of the day; Mrs. Bernard Bredeau, Mrs. E. Mustrom, Miss Carmichael, Mrs. John Kearny, Mrs. Geo. McMaster and Mrs. Sherry.

Archbishop Hanna, speaking of the necessity for the home, said: "It will require $150,000 to build the institution we have proposed and which is necessary for the work. Appeal to the womanhood of this great archdiocese and start to solve the problem."

Chicago Archdiocesan Charities Aided 54,000 With $658,395 In Year

Chicago, April 22.—More than 54,000 cripples, orphans, aged and other dependents were aided in the last year by the $658,395.11 contributed to the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago, according to the organization's ninth annual report, just made public.

The fund amounted to $19,980 more than the previous year.

Cardinal Mundelein is founder and sponsor of the organization. The officers are: D. F. Kelly, K.S.G., president; Robert M. Sweitzer, K.S.G., vice-president; F. J. Lewis, K.S.G., and Joseph F. Conroy.

Of the 53,483 aided, 20,299 were cared for in Catholic institutions and 33,184 in their homes. Charitable services included care of mothers and infants in Miscellaneous Hospital, lodging for homeless men, work in the welfare settlements and care of orphans.

St. Louis U.'s New School of Medicine To Cost $600,000

St. Louis, April 24.—The work of razing the old buildings that have been used by the St. Louis University School of Medicine, located at Grand Boulevard and Caroline Street was begun on Monday, April 18, following the announcement on Sunday, April 17, by Rev. Charles H. Cloud, S. J., that they are to be replaced during the summer by a modern structure of five stories. It is stated that the new home of the school of Medicine will cost about $600,000 and that every effort will be made to have it ready for occupancy at the opening of the next school term.

It is a part of the University's present building program, which will ultimately entail an outlay of approximately $2,000,000. This program includes a school for the training of nurses and a University hospital.

The School of Medicine building will have a frontage of 97 feet on Caroline Street. It will be 70 feet in height. The style of architecture will be early French Gothic, conforming with that of the St. Louis University Administration Building at Grand and Lindell Boulevards as much as possible.

Clerical Alumni Of The C. U. Hold Annual Meeting

Philadelphia, April 21.—The Rev. Dr. Patrick J. McCormick was elected president of the Clerical Alumni of the Catholic University of America at its annual meeting held here yesterday. Dr. McCormick is a member of the University faculty. The Rev. John Sullivan of Central Falls, Division, talked on the prevalent belief among some non-Catholics that priests dabble in politics. "But," he added, "the dictum that no minister of religion should be in politics applies to all clergymen, non-Catholics as well as Catholics. It is rather surprising to find sometimes that those most rabid in crying about Catholics in politics are themselves the worst offenders."

Father Duffy declared that Americans had great reason to be proud of their Constitution because of its grant of complete freedom of worship.

Heroism Of Priest Saves Sacred Host

Chicago, April 21.—Statuary, valuable paintings and the interior of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy on Troy street here were destroyed by fire early Friday. The crackling of the flames aroused the Rev. D. F. Cahill, in the parish house a few doors away, and he rushed through the smoke and falling debris to rescue the blessed sacrament.

When the roof of the building fell, several firemen narrowly escaped injury. The parochial school 30 feet north of the church, was saved. The damage was estimated at $25,000.
