

Bishop Hickey Dedicates Sacred Heart Church

The new Sacred Heart Church was dedicated last Sunday by Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of the diocese, assisted by about fifty clergy from the city and its vicinity. The Knights of St. John, in full regalia, acted as an escort in the solemn procession and Knights of Columbus acted as ushers in the church.

Bishop Hickey was assisted in the celebration of the mass by the Rev. William Flynn, general secretary of the Marquette League, New York City, as deacon; the Rev. Plavian Wilbur, who will be received into the Order of Franciscans, as subdeacon; the Very Rev. Monsignor J. Francis O'Hern, vicar-general of the diocese, as assistant priest, and by the Rev. Dr. Francis Goggin, of St. Bernard's Seminary; the Rev. John Seiling, rector of St. Charles Church, and the Rev. William Hart, secretary to the bishop, as master of ceremonies. The Rev. John P. Brophy, rector of St. Monica's Church, and the Rev. Dean O'Sullivan of Port Hope, Ontario, were deacons of honor.

Congratulating the congregation on its achievement Bishop Hickey said that sixteen years ago he thought that a chapel should be built in the vicinity but, on being told that 175 families lived in the district, he decided that a church was needed. The Rev. George V. Burns has been the organizer and priest in charge from the beginning and the church now has about one thousand families on its roll, he said. The bishop commended the zeal of both priest and people and their devotion to the Sacred Heart.

Certificates of graduation were awarded to eighty-five pupils of the parochial school in the evening. Rev. William Flynn, of New York, made the commencement address, Father Burns presiding.

Mr. Flynn is a former Rochester guard. All sports will be featured at Sacred Heart parish.

The best men were Leroy Metzger and Carl Tremmer. The ushers were George Ray and Wilbur Schumacher. OUR MISSION NOTES

Should the missionaries ever get tired of saving souls, then, and only then, we should allow ourselves to get tired of helping them.

What blessing are you going to put on your summer? A little gift to the missions will spread over every day of it.

Any outward or inward display of sentiment is regarded as an unnecessary product in the market of present-day life. The modern public clamor for facts, not fancies, a praiseworthy tendency, to be sure, but one which, if carried to extreme, has the power to blight all human enthusiasm and make of life a mere mechanical business. Therefore in our thoughts of mission work, let us infuse a little real human interest and sympathy for the cause.

Too often are we oppressed with a burden of details and statistics so that we somehow lose track of the noble motives which inspire the work, the personal character of the workers, and the terrible difficulties which must be encountered. We are so apt to think of the missionaries as people unlike ourselves, rather "queer" and "dry", having absolutely no connection with modern activities, with no sense of humor, or any of those qualities which make man human, and in a word, a sort of ethereal complex, existing in a world apart and as far removed from us in distance as those very lands to which they travel.

The missionary, however, is far different from this paragon above pictured; he is not an anti-social creature, but rather a super-social one, if we might use the term. He understands humanity and the human need for higher things that he is prepared to leave everything dear to him, the old familiar things of life, to mingle with strangers who have nothing in common with him. Can this be called unsociability?

The term mission to most of us connotes a far-off spot in some remote corner of the globe. But let us consider for a moment some of the mission fields in our own country. When the United States itself was but a hazy possibility to the peoples of Europe, religious orders and especially the Franciscans, were struggling to establish the faith in the unknown wilderness of the west among savage and hostile tribes.

VALU OF PRAYER
To get others enthusiastic about the missions as well as to personally aid them should be the endeavor of every Catholic—as one of our priests says—to give one's self. Our prayers and contributions in money can do much to foster this movement but it is mainly through personal co-operation that we benefit them. In regard to prayer, Pope Pius XI says: "Even though the missionaries labor valiantly; though they work and toil and even lay down their lives in leading the pagans to the Catholic religion; . . . still all this shall be of no avail unless God touches the hearts of the pagans to soften them and draw them to Him. Now it is easy to see that everyone has the opportunity to pray, and so this help, the nourishment of the missions, is within the power of all to supply."

MISSION NOTES

A few days ago we received a remittance from St. Mary's Parish, Auburn. Splendid work for the Propagation of the Faith Society has been done by the promoters of this branch. Mrs. John C. O'Brien is the Parochial Secretary. There are thirty active promoters, all of whom have done well their part in helping the missions. The Reverend Francis B. Burns is the Parochial Director.

Last week we received two substantial checks from the school children of the Blessed Sacrament and SS. Peter and Paul's. The children in both of these schools have shown unusual interest in mission work. In both schools the Junior Propagation of the Faith Society and the Holy Childhood Association are well organized. The prayers and alms of these little ones will surely bring blessings on parish, school, and home.
