

Weekly Calendar Of Feast Days

Sunday, July 3.—St. Heliodorus Bishop, was born in Dalmatia. The monastic life possessed a peculiar attraction for him, but he did not enter it because it meant he would have to leave St. Jerome, his spiritual director. He accompanied St. Jerome, into the East, but returned home to Dalmatia to visit his parents. After his mother's death, St. Heliodorus became Bishop of Altino. He died about 280.

Monday, July 4.—St. Bertha, widow, abbess, was the daughter of Count Rigobert and Ursana, related to one of the kings of Kent in England. Two of her five daughters—Gertrude and Deotilla—are saints. After her husband's death, she entered a convent and her two saintly daughters followed her. After conquering a persecution, she left St. Deotilla as abbess in her place and shut herself in her cell, praying until her death. She died about 725.

Tuesday, July 5.—St. Peter of Luxembourg, descended from two of the noblest families of Europe, was born in Lorraine in 1369. He refused court honors and devoted himself to Christ. When only 15, he was appointed Bishop of Metz, because of his prudence and sanctity, and made his public entrance into his see barefoot and riding on an ass. He was later created Cardinal of St. George and was renowned for his austerities. He died in 1387 at the age of 18 years.

Wednesday, July 6.—St. Goar, priest, was born of an illustrious family in Aquitaine. He shut himself up in a cell in Trier and attained an eminent degree of sanctity. Fearing the responsibilities of the office, he prayed to be excused from becoming Bishop of Metz, for which See the King of Austria desired to nominate him. He died in 575.

Thursday, July 7.—St. Pantanus, Father of the Church, was a Sicilian by birth and originally a Stoic philosopher. He was converted and placed at the head of the Christian school some time before 178. He founded his school and went to preach the Gospel to the Eastern nations. He died about the year 216.

Friday, July 8.—St. Elizabeth of Portugal was born in 1271, the daughter of Pedro III of Aragon. She was married at the age of 12, and from a holy child became a saintly wife. She attended Mass and recited the office daily and prepared for the reception of Communion with great austerities. Her husband treated her much with his unfounded jealousy and infidelity. She died at the age of 65 while in the act of making peace between her children.

Saturday, July 9.—St. Ephrem, deacon, is the light and glory of the Syrian Church. He preached most eloquently, and crowds hung on his every word. Tears used to choke his voice while he preached. He defended the faith against heretics. His books which have made him known as the prophet of the Syrians. He was noted for his humility. He died in Edessa, where he labored in the famine of 373.

Mgr. E. Tisserant Studies Cleveland Public Libraries

(By N. C. W. C. News Service) Cleveland, O., June 20.—The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Eugene Tisserant, assistant librarian at the Vatican Library, was in Cleveland during the week to study the technique of handling books in the public library here.

Besides being assistant librarian, Mgr. Tisserant is custodian of Oriental manuscripts at the Vatican Library. He has charge of 60,000 Oriental manuscripts, some of which date back to the second century.

The Vatican library was built in 1585. In 1912 the original shelves were replaced by shelves of steel and cement. The library is accessible for research to scholars of all nationalities.

Mgr. Tisserant came to the United States ten weeks ago. He expects to return to Rome in July. He went from Cleveland to Buffalo to attend the annual convention of the American Library Association in Toronto this week.

Mgr. Tisserant was educated in Paris and at the school of the Dominican fathers in Jerusalem. He became an assistant in the Vatican Library in 1908. During the World War he was an officer in the French army.

Library officials here accorded Mgr. Tisserant every courtesy. He was shown through every portion of the main library and the tasks of each of the scores of employees were described for him. Valuable collections of books were on display for his inspection. He also visited branch libraries.

Subsidy to Priest For Excavation

Paris, June 20.—The Academy of Inscriptions and Belles Lettres has voted a subsidy of $30,000 francs for excavations directed by Father Polignone of the Society of Jesus, at the site of the Temple of Solomon in Jerusalem. The excavations were directed by Father Polignone, who was accompanied by certain French archaeologists. The excavations are certain to throw light on the history of the city.

Austrian Abbeys Forced By Poverty to Dispose Of All Their Rare Art

By Dr. Frederic Funder (Vienna Correspondent, N. C. W. C. News Service)

Vienna, June 20.—In twenty years, the whole great stock of works of art in the possession of the old Austrian convents and abbeys will have disappeared, if the present plight of these institutions continues.

This prophecy of an irreparable disaster, not only to Austria but to the world, is made by the well-known Austrian art historian, Father Risenhuber, who is thoroughly acquainted with the situation.

It is the break-up of old Austria, which brought with it the shearing off of the abbeys' property and their consequent impoverishment, which is the cause. To continue to exist and to perform their necessary religious work, the abbeys are being forced to sell their ancient treasures.

Without interruption, piece after piece of old inherited art works which cannot be replaced is going on the market, mostly abroad, from Austria's convents and abbeys, for centuries the guardians and promoters of a magnificent ecclesiastical and secular art. Pictures by famous masters, precious inlaid cabinets, historic parchments, prints from the great monastic libraries, even liturgical vestments many hundreds of years old—art treasures of every sort are gradually being drained away.

Abbeys That Were Rich in Art

In Austria there are many famed convents and abbeys which can look back over histories of seven and eight hundred years, and even more. Persistent work on the part of their members, pioneers in Christian art, the favor of Catholic rulers and of rich families of Catholic noblemen, and the pious mind of the people made it possible for the monks to gather treasures of the brush and the pen and of handicraft which glorified the Divine Service, furnished the arts and sciences and served to educate the people.

Thus the abbeys of Melk, Kremsmünster, St. Florian, Zwettl, St. Peter Nonnberg in Salzburg became places of pilgrimage for thousands of lovers of art from all parts of the world. There they found the highest religious feeling expressed in artistic forms of great variety. The abbeys became known as the guardians of Christian culture.

When the great revolutionary changes of post-war times came up on Austria, these art treasures were the chief jewels left to an impoverished nation. But not even they are being spared. Many of the monasteries hold valuable lands in territories which have now become parts of Yugoslavia and Rumania. By carefully cultivating these, they earned enough to support numerous parishes, schools and libraries. But in the present situation, these lands have been either taken totally from the monasteries or greatly reduced. Moreover, the produce from the land left now brings a very low price, and the farms are heavily taxed by the impoverished state.

In this situation the monasteries, unwilling to abandon their parochial and educational work, have done the only thing left to them—lived on their capital. They have sold and are still selling, piece by piece, their irreplaceable art treasures.

True, there are Austrian laws forbidding the sale of ecclesiastical art property, and the sale into foreign countries of old art objects generally. But the government department in charge finds itself again and again obliged to authorize fresh sales because the rightful proprietors show they are in dire distress. It is a case of necessity knows no law.

Solutions have been offered, but they are unworthy or impossible of adoption. One is that the abbey art treasures be turned over to the national museums for the time being, the State in return paying the abbeys subsidies. But, it is answered, the State subsidies would certainly be too small to care for the wants of the abbeys, and there is much doubt that, once better times come, the priceless objects would ever find their way back to their rightful owners.

One solution would be for the State to grant salaries to members of Orders who care for parishes, as it does to secular priests. Here the Socialists would block the plan. They would willingly sacrifice the nation's artistic heritage rather than appear to help out religious institutions. So it would seem that the loss to Austria must go on and grow worse, unless better economic times in some way be attained by the abbeys.

Fire Damages Boys' Home, San Francisco

San Francisco, June 21.—A spectacular fire caused by a defective fuse, resulted in $25,000 damage to the Youth's Directory, a home for Catholic boys here, yesterday. Sixty boys of the home fled in an orderly manner to the street and were uninjured.

Firemen broke down the door of the room occupied by the rector, the Rev. Dennis Crowley, 76 years old, who was unaware of the fire, and carried him to the street. Subsequently he was taken to the home of Judge Matthew I. Sullivan. Father Crowley was uninjured.

Rochester Pilgrims Visit Father Baker's O. L. of V. Shrine

Catholics, Members of the Victorian Tours Pilgrimage Party, are the first of this diocese to visit the Old Bishop Neponumene Neuman's Chapel at North Bush, N. Y.

Many Rochester Catholics journeyed with the Victorian Tours last Sunday on a Pilgrimage to Father Baker's Our Lady of Victory Shrine-Basilica.

The delegation left Rochester early Sunday morning and immediately upon arrival in Buffalo were transferred in Motor Buses to Father Baker's Shrine where they attended the Solemn High Mass. Father Dugan, assistant at the Shrine sang the Mass and preached an eloquent sermon. After Mass the Victorian Tours directors conducted the pilgrims through the great Basilica and explained in full detail the magnificent Shrine and all its beautiful 13 Marble Altars clustered around the most magnificent High Altar in the United States, all the other Shrines and Grottoes, the life size Stations of the Cross and the masterful paintings.

Visit Father Baker's Institutions. The pilgrims were taken to the Lackawanna hotel for a sumptuous dinner and immediately following they were taken on a tour of all the buildings of Father Baker's Our Lady of Victory institutions, the Trade schools for the boys, the play grounds, orphanage and the infants home where they were permitted to see the two hundred and fifty-five homeless babes.

Visit Venerable Bishop Neuman's Chapel. Leaving Father Baker's institutions the members were taken for a complete sightseeing tour of the city of Buffalo, all its parks and places of interest. After paying a short visit to St. Joseph's Cathedral the pilgrims journeyed to North Bush, N. Y. to visit the old and quaint St. John's Chapel over 90 years old which stands on the exact spot where the Venerable and Saintly Bishop John Neponumene Neuman built a log Chapel in which he offered the first Holy Sacrifice for the Catholics of Western New York.

Here the Rochester pilgrims were privileged to attend the Novena which is being conducted Sunday after Sunday for the speedy canonization of the Venerable and Saintly Bishop John Neuman, the fourth Bishop of Philadelphia. Many favors have been received by the faithful through the saintly Bishop's intercession. The Rochester Catholic members of the Victorian Tours party are the first to contribute their prayers for Bishop Neuman's canonization which indeed is a cherished honor.

The pilgrimage party returned to Rochester at 10:30 P. M. and all have made it known that never before have they made a tour or a Pilgrimage which was more enjoyed than this one. Many of the members have the highest praise for the Laymen in charge of the Victorian Tours for their very efficient way in conducting Tours. They spare no time nor energy in looking after the comforts and pleasures of the members of their party.

New Steamer Service Via Erie, Pa. on the "C & B Line" Starts July 5th

The Cleveland and Buffalo Transit Company announce a new service each night between Cleveland and Buffalo. Beginning July 5th, their palatial steamer, the "City of Erie" will leave Cleveland at 4:30 p. m. alternate days, stopping at Erie, Pa. at 10:30 p. m. and leaving at 12 midnight, reaching Buffalo at 6:00 a. m.

Returning, the steamer leaves Buffalo at 5:30 p. m., stopping at Erie at 10:30 p. m. and leaving at 12:00 midnight, arriving in Cleveland at 6:00 a. m. Eastern Standard Time.

This gives "C & B" Line passengers an opportunity to enjoy daylight rides out of Cleveland and out of Buffalo, adding to the scenic beauty of the lake trip.

This new steamer service will add another delightful lake route for the enjoyment of the many vacationists who reach Cleveland tired from train or auto travel, and who wish to spend a night on board a palatial steamer, traveling while they rest.

For the convenience of those who travel by train, rail tickets between Cleveland and Buffalo are good on the C & B Line Steamers. And as for the motorist, he can drive his car on board the Steamer and arise in the morning refreshed from a night's rest, and some two hundred miles farther along on his journey than if he had stopped at a local hotel.

The daily excursions to Cedar Point and Put-in-Bay via C & B Line Steamer "Goodtime", the finest day-outing steamer on the Great Lakes are proving more popular this season than ever before. Mo-night Rides every night on Steamer "Goodtime" also show an increased patronage.

Many organizations and clubs have chartered the boat for an evening as this proves a novel way to entertain on Summer evenings.

The excellent C & B Line Orchestra adds to the popularity of Steamer "Goodtime". Free dancing is part of the daily schedule on both the daytime and evening trips of the "Goodtime."

Orangemen Assist Catholic To Enter Parade Of Guilds

London, June 20.—Kindness on the part of Orangemen of the City of Corbishley to take part for the seventh first consecutive year in the annual procession of the Preston Catholic guilds.

Mr. Corbishley has been seriously ill to bed since last Christmas, but on the morning of the procession he got up and donned his guild regalia. Hearing that he wished to participate in the pageant but could not walk, Orange officials placed at his disposal a carriage which had just been used in their own procession.

Four sons and sixteen grandchildren of this hardy veteran walked in the procession. Bishop Pearson of Lancaster and Bishop Henshaw of Salford led the way in an open carriage drawn by four horses, on which were seated positionists clad in scarlet and gold. More than 10,000 men, women and children walked the four-mile route.

Huge Catholic demonstrations were held in other towns this week. A mighty choir of Wigan Catholics sang "Faith of Our Fathers" in the market square. They were accompanied by fourteen bands.

Nearly 24,000 persons took part in Manchester's biggest annual procession and sang a profusion of faith in the city's principal public square.
