

—at $27.50

Uncommon Values

in

Manish Tailored

SPORTS

COATS.

Slim straight models with notched collars and patch pockets or with Johnny collar and belted models. Materials are smart domestic wools.

MENG-SHAFFER-HELD CO.

12-14 Main St. East 182-186 Main St. East

Why You Should Take

Father John's Medicine

As a Spring Tonic

The greatest body builder, makes tissue strength and flesh, so it builds power to resist illness. It is richest in vitamins.

It is free from nerve deadening drugs or alcohol.

Proof of its merit is its 70 years of success.

Those who take cold easily find that Father John's Medicine builds up their powers of resistance. It soothes and heals.

Willard M. Lusk

Chances and Other Recommendations We make a specialty of

Twenty-Fourth Baby

Born to English Pair London, March 24.—A baby girl christened this week at St. William's church, Preston, is the twenty-fourth child of a Catholic couple, Mr. and Mrs. James Spink.

The father and mother of little Theresa Spink were married 23 years ago and there has been only one set of twins. Fourteen of the children are under 14 years of age and all but two of the fourteen are still living at home. A "certain liveliness" is reported each morning at the Spink's home when the mother is getting the younger children ready for school.

Mrs. Spink's manager to keep the large family on the small earnings of her husband, who is a building contractor, a small allowance from his work, and the income from a little furniture shop which she runs herself.

When the wind whistled out one of the boys joined the army although he was only 17 years old. Another of the boys joined the forces as a bugler at the age of 14.

This father himself was passed for service, but the recruiting officer said "no" because "we would need a ball for what it would cost for your family to allow."

Mrs. Spink's recipe for a healthy family is "good cooking, not anything else."

Leslie Stuart Dies; Composer Of Music Of Popular Operas

By N. C. W. C. News Service) London, March 20.—Leslie Stuart, who began his musical career as organist of the Catholic Cathedral of St. John at Salford and later gained a world-wide fame as the composer of "Floradora," "The Silver Slipper," "The Slim Princess," and other musical comedies, died Tuesday. The funeral took place today at the Richmond Catholic church.

Mr. Stuart, who was born in Southampton in 1866, obtained his early musical training and first attracted attention as a musician in Catholic churches. Assuming the position of organist at St. John's cathedral at the remarkably early age of 15, he held that post for seven years. Thereafter he was organist of the Church of the Holy Name, Manchester, for an equal period.

Besides the three musical comedies named, all of which were played in the United States and gained wide popularity, Mr. Stuart also composed "The School Girl," "The Belle of Mayfair," "Havana," and "Peggy Shine of the Queen." "Little Dolly Day Dream," "Louisiana Lou," "The Bandolero," "Rip Van Winkle," "The Lily of Laguna," "The Little Octopus," "On the Road to Tipperary" and "The Old Shield."

Child In Free State, Attending N. Ireland School, Raises Point

Dublin, March 28.—A civil guard who summoned James McClintock of Graigue, near the Northern Border, for failing to send his child regularly to school, informed the court that the school which the child attended is in Northern Ireland, while the child resides with her parents in the Irish Free State. The civil guard in charge of the case informed the district justice that about forty families resident in the Free State sent their children to this particular school in Northern Ireland.

The case was heard at Burnfoot before District Justice Walsh, who declared that this was a striking example of the anomalies arising from unnatural division of the six counties from the rest of Ireland. The defendant in the case was found guilty.

New York Actors' Chapel Addition

New York, March 28.—So great is the increase in numbers of those attending St. Malachy's Church, "The Actors' Chapel," especially at midday devotions that are held there for theatrical folk and working people of the neighborhood, that the West Forty-ninth street church is soon to be enlarged. The need of a larger edifice was practically apparent when the annual actor's mission was in progress.

The Rev. Edward F. Leonard, rector of the Actors' Church, has long considered the advisability of enlarging the church, and according to present plans the work will begin May 1, when workmen will begin to tear down the large apartment house adjoining the church on the west. This will enable Father Leonard to add twenty-five feet to the width of the present structure. The new addition will cost about $100,000, not including the value of the site.

Catholic Welfare Worker's Services In Flood Praised

Los Angeles, March 27.—Miss Mary Grogan, Catholic welfare worker of Ventura, has received the compliments and gratitude of the Los Angeles police department for the services she gave during the tragic days that followed the flood catastrophe. Father O'Dwyer, director of the Catholic Welfare bureau has just received a letter from the Los Angeles Department of Police stating that the work of Miss Grogan has been invaluable.

Nun Marks Sixtieth Worker's Services Year of Religion

Los Angeles, March 27.—Sixty years of service as a Sister of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary is the record of Sister Seraphine, pioneer member of this well-known community in California. The anniversary was observed a few days at Ramona, where the Sister and friends of the jubilarian. The Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, Bishop of Los Angeles and San Diego, gave the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Church Keeps Aboof From Politics, Card. Dubois Tells Paper

Paris, March 26.—Catholics have a duty to respect established power; they have not the right to involve the Church in political intrigues. Such is the double affirmation of Cardinal Dubois, Archbishop of Paris, in a very important letter addressed to the paper, Le Temps. His Eminence's letter has caused a great stir. This important political journal, commenting on the letter of Cardinal Gasparri (which proclaimed the permanence of the instructions of Leo XIII) and urging all French Catholics to rally to the Republic, expressed the fear that this step of the Vatican Secretary of State might be interpreted as interference in the coming election.

Cardinal Dubois points out that the Church never meddles with elections but that in preaching submissions to authority she remains within her natural and legitimate role. His letter, in part, follows: "Leo XIII merely called attention to the traditional doctrine of the Church, that which was defined by Christ when he said: 'Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's'; and by St. Paul, when, during the reign of the Emperor Nero, he preached to Christians obedience to the civil powers."

"How, then, can one interpret as interference in French politics that which is merely an act of spiritual teaching of the Church, an instance in which Papal authority impresses upon French Catholics their duty to be submissive and respectful to civil authority?" "There can, indeed, be no other interpretation, and I do not see how one could, with propriety, accuse the Catholic hierarchy of taking part in political affairs. The truth of the matter is that the Church does not have, nor does it wish to have, any preference between democratic or republican government and monarchic or reactionary government."

Card. Hayes, Back From Trip, Hailed By Many Friends

His Eminence Shows In Health Beneficial Effects of Cruise In Caribbean New York, March 27.—With face and neck burned scarlet from the tropical sun and looking the picture of health, His Eminence, Cardinal Hayes returned home last evening after a two months' trip to the Bahamas and islands in the Caribbean Sea in the course of an episcopal visitation, a duty incumbent upon the Archbishop of New York every three years.

Because of a fog in the lower bay, the yacht Warrior, on which the Cardinal and his party made the trip as guests of George Macdonald, Brooklyn financier and Papal Chamberlain, was several hours late in dropping anchor off the Columbia Yacht Club's dock, thereby causing the ceremonies planned to greet His Eminence to be greatly curtailed.

A delegation of clerical and lay friends was at the dock to welcome the Cardinal when the first shore boat pulled up at the wharf. Many had been waiting since 11 o'clock in the morning.

Among those on the dock were Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Downing, the Rt. Rev. John J. Dunn, administrator of the diocese, in the Cardinal's absence; the Rt. Rev. Mgr. George J. Waring, pastor of St. Ann's Church and Vicar General of the Army and Navy Diocese, who started on the trip but was forced to remain here because of illness.

Tells of Experiences. Once feeling his foot safe on New York soil, His Eminence said: "I had a very remarkable trip in every way. Weather, places, and people all fitted in to make the visit an outstanding one. I visited the chaplains in the different places and found them doing very efficient work."

"I was very much impressed with what I heard at Havana concerning the Pan-American Conference. The visit of President Coolidge wrought untold good, and they are still speaking in praise of Charles Francis Hughes."

"I was also delighted to observe in the papers these various islands' glowing tribute to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. We followed him, and in every paper we saw, both French and Spanish, there were odes of praise to the famous American aviator."

While he expressed much satisfaction at the trip, His Eminence was also glad to return. "I must confess the thrill I always receive when I come into our own premier harbor of New York," he said.

Gone Since January 23. Cardinal Hayes and the priests accompanying him left New York by train January 23. They called from Palm Beach, Fla., on the Warrior and visited Bahamas, Guantanamo Bay, (Cuba), Porto Rico, St. Thomas, Trinidad, and the Canal Zone. The Cardinal assisted at fifteen religious functions, of which motion pictures were made. During his stay in the Bahamas islands, His Eminence confirmed more than 1,000 persons.

Those who made the trip, besides the Cardinal and Mr. Macdonald, were the Rt. Rev. Daniel J. Curley, Bishop of Syracuse; the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Vincent Arce, chaplain of St. Joseph's Sanitarium, Sullivan County, N. Y.; the Very Rev. Mgr. Stephen J. Donahue, the Rev. Francis A. Molvray and the Rev. Robert F. Keegan, secretary for Catholic Charities to the Cardinal.

Cardinal Dubois denies that any party has the right to speak "in the name of the Church" and to seek to compromise her in their intrigues.

National Press Club President Protests Religion in Politics

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—J. Fred Essary, president of the National Press Club of Washington, and Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, speaking before the Contemporary Club here, yesterday protested against religious bigotry in politics and expressed the hope for a "showdown" on this issue in the forthcoming campaign. Mr. Essary, a native of Tennessee, is one of the best known of the corps of correspondents in the National Capital.

There has been much religion in national politics for a long time, Mr. Essary declared. He said he trusts that there will be a "showdown" at the next presidential election to test the meaning of the Constitution which grants freedom of worship and religious tolerance.

"I want to know whether the historical Democratic party is after all a party of liberalism and tolerance," he told his hearers. "I want to see to what extent these doctrines are in service. I am eager to see the religious issue fought out at the Democratic convention in Houston, to determine whether a man's faith will proscribe him from high public office."

"Oh, there will be enough Hellfire in the campaign to make that sure," Mr. Essary said. He described Hoffman as "a consummate charlatan when he is serious and an equally consummate clown when he isn't."

Archbishop Hanna Guest Of N. C. C. W.

San Francisco, March 21.—A luncheon was given at the Fairmont hotel yesterday by the Archdiocesan Council, N. C. C. W., in honor of the Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, Archbishop of San Francisco, and attended by two hundred members prominent in the local council. The proceeds of the luncheon will be devoted to the proposed home for subnormal children.

Archbishop Hanna and Dr. Anita Muhl of the University of California, a board of education were among the speakers. Mrs. Bernard M. Broden presided.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK

Breck—Charles Breck died March 29th. Funeral from the Sacred Heart Church, April 2.

Cutsack—Mrs. Margaret Cutsack died at her home, No. 24 Holstead street, March 30th. Funeral from St. John the Evangelist Church, April 2nd.

McGrady—Bernard P. McGrady died at his residence, Richmond Mills, N. Y., April 1st. Funeral from the Immaculate Conception Church, April 4th.

Rebman—Genevieve Geisinger Rebman, widow of Joseph Rebman died at her home, No. 58 Ketchum street, March 31st, aged 59 years. Funeral from St. Michael's Church, April 4th.

Scheffel—Joseph H. Scheffel died April 2 at the family home, No. 236 Marion street. Funeral from the Blessed Sacrament Church, April 5. Interment in the family lot in Auburn, N. Y.

Dolan—James Dolan died at the Rochester General Hospital, April 3. Funeral from the Immaculate Conception Church, April 6th.

Murawski—Joseph Murawski died at his home, No. 80-6 Norton street, April 3. Funeral from St. Stanislaus Church, April 6th.

Rogers—William Rogers, retired lieutenant of the Rochester Fire Department, died at his home, No. 209 Driving Park avenue, April 2. Funeral from Holy Rosary Church, April 6th.

Stambusky—Miss Edna M. Stambusky, aged 20 years, died at the family residence, No. 71 Monica street, April 3rd. Funeral from St. Monica's Church, April 6th.

Meyer—Edwin T. Meyer, infant son of John J. and Genevieve Fryk Meyer, died April 1, at the family home, No. 15 Spencer road, aged 5 months. Funeral April 4th. Interment in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Fucilli—Maria Fucilli, wife of Gaetano Fucilli, of No. 12 Jones street, died March 31, at the Rochester General Hospital. Funeral from St. Anthony's Church, April 3.

Spiessmeyer—John Spiessmeyer of No. 368 Selvy terrace, died April 3 at the Highland Hospital, March 30. Funeral from Holy Rosary Church, April 3rd.

Wilkins—Joseph Wilkins died March 30 at the family home, No. 48 Frost avenue, aged 82 years. Funeral from the Immaculate Conception Church, April 3rd.

Keenan—Mrs. Mary Keenan, 76 years of age, Bergen, N. Y., died at the home of her son, George, 32 Breck street, April 4th. Funeral from St. Bridget's Church, Bergen, N. Y., April 9th.

Poery—Frank X. Poery, aged 72 years, died at the home, No. 1040 Portland avenue, April 4th. Funeral from St. Andrew's Church, April 9.

Ryan & McIntee Funeral Directors

Funeral Directors New Location 307 Chestnut St. Near Monroe Avenue Stone 1484

THOMAS B. MOONEY'S FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Funeral Directors 280 Brown St. opp. Allen St. Phone—Genese 425

Harry C. Hermance UNDERTAKER

Established 1872 L. W. Maier's Sons UNDERTAKERS 870 Clinton Avenue North Phone, Stone 609

Roncione-Porcari Funeral Directors

538 STATE STREET Rochester, N. Y. Main 2391

Remains Of Indians Found on St. Mary's College Site, S. F.

San Francisco, March 21.—When steam shovels began to unearth the bodies of a people who lived a long time ago in the Moraga valley, the present site of the new St. Mary's college, Brother Vantastan, A. M., and a little company of scholars and scientists went to work and raised the veil on a hundred years or more.

They since have found that the inhabitants of their new college site were cousins of the San Joaquin Indians, that they were known as Costanoans or Coast People.

Some of the bodies removed by the steam shovel evidently had been cremated, while others had not. This gave rise to the opinion among Brother Vantastan and his confreres that the Franciscan padres of the Santa Clara Mission had baptized a few of the tribe and when death came they were buried with the rites of the Catholic Church.

Monuments - Mausoleums Stationary T. H. MARRION & CO.

Mark Every Grave 478 State St. Phone 7328 Rochester, New York