

Jesuit Scientists To Meet At Santa Clara U. Aug. 5-12

San Francisco, July 30.—The annual convention of the directors of the Jesuit Seismological Association will be held at the University of Santa Clara from August 5 to 12. For the last three years the convention has met in Chicago.

New Primate Favors Revision Of Prayer Book Of Anglicans

London, July 30.—Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York who has been nominated by the King as the new Archbishop of Canterbury, took a foremost part in the work of revising the Anglican Prayer Book and is regarded as the strongest advocate of the Bishop's proposals.

Card. Casquet, 82, In England On Visit

London, July 30.—Cardinal Casquet, O. S. B., who despite his 82 years has come to England from Rome where he has charge of the revision of the Vulgate, this week paid a quiet visit to the Church of St. Aloysius, Somers Town, London, where he was baptized in 1846.

All-White Outfit for Summer Wear

Snowy Attire Is Prominent Where Well Dressed Women Assemble.

With the summer season in full blast it is interesting to note the return to popularity of the all-white costume. White at the seaside, white at the country club and white at the mountains all show that the summer girl is selecting at least one white coat to complete a successful ensemble.

Sweater Coat of White Silk and Wool Mixture.

Front Drape, Uneven Hem Interesting Features

The front drape and uneven hem are important features of this handsome afternoon ensemble. The skirt is a black crepe romaine and the blouse is beige satin with long sleeves. The short cape is made of black romaine and is trimmed with light fox fur.

On Rearing Children from CRIB to COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of CHILDREN, The Magazine for PARENTS

As children find splendid qualities in parents, they imitate them unconsciously. It is too late to start being a pal to your son when he is a man. You must start young, before he reaches the difficult "teen age" when outside influences and interests begin to absorb him.

Many a wholesome dish of prunes, overcast, lukewarm and disavowed from waiting on the pantry shelf is rejected, though it might have been eagerly eaten if served delicately chilled from the ice box.

The setting free of the child should start almost as soon as he leaves the cradle. At least the parents should consciously face the necessity of gradually getting the child ready for the rest life will finally make. The breaking of home ties should not be sudden, an emotional cataclysm, but the result of a steady, increasing development of the child's confidence and judgment.

The woes of "the second summer" and "teething" are, in the majority of cases, the result of improper feeding. To boast that a fifteen-month-old baby "eats everything" is not a tribute to his proclivity, but to the ignorance or willful negligence of his mother.

Not every child can have a wild flower garden, but if the child has an opportunity to go to the woods for these plants, and if there is a rich, shady spot in the garden where they may be planted, much pleasure will result from it. If he is impressed with the fact that our wild flowers must be conserved, he can easily be encouraged to bring home only one or two plants of a kind for his garden.

PEPPY POINTS

It's a rare treat when a miser invites you to join him. Alimony is the capital prize in the matrimonial lottery. Friends' good luck worries some people more than anything else.

LOFTY THOUGHTS

The only way to have a friend is to be one.—Emerson. Man seeketh in society comfort, ease and protection.—Bacon. There is no substitute for thoroughgoing, ardent and sincere earnestness.—Dickens.

SEASONABLE SNIPS

A fall of snow on Christmas day is regarded as a sign of a lucky New Year. When the Puritans were in power in England Christmas day was kept as a solemn fast. One kiss for each berry was the original mistletoe ritual, a berry being removed as a kiss was taken.

OBSERVATIONS

Be stubborn if you want to. But a fellow who sets his head seldom hatches out much. These days it is useless to look to mother for pies like mother used to make. Mother is longing for them, too. Of course, you can't tell. But the chances are the fellow who is a yes-man around the office is a yes-man at home.

FOR THE STYLIST

If you comb your style too much it becomes bald. Thought without style is an uncut diamond; style without thought is a fake diamond. Search for fair thoughts rather than bright words; it is the thought that brightens the word.

NOTABLE SIMILES

Swelled up like a mump.—H. C. Wilver. Dumb as the trodden road.—Barbara Young. Innocent as a movie actress bride.—Kansas City Star. Fresh as a drug store sandwich at 11 p. m.—John Curtis.

KITCHEN KINKS

Green peas and mushrooms are delicious in combination. Use honey instead of sugar in the baked apples for a change. Try baking fresh mackerel in milk, replenishing the milk as it cooks away. Delicious.

DAILY HELPS

Sunday—"Give me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." Monday—"The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked."

CONSIDER YOURSELF

A misfit if you are unable to respect your job. Whipped as soon as you admit it to yourself. A victor as long as you keep up the fight. An object of pity as soon as you begin pitying yourself.

'Tidings' Challenges Preacher's Charges Against Catholics. Los Angeles, July 28.—Calling upon Rev. Bob Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, to substantiate the charges against the Catholic Church broadcast by him over the radio, the Rev. Dr. Thomas K. Gorman, editor of The Tidings, has sent him the following "open challenge": "Mr. Shuler, you indulged in some sweeping and damnable insidious charges over your radio Sunday evening, July 15, which are untrue and involve a vile calumny of the Catholic Church and her people. We hereby challenge you publicly to produce your evidence. Such a Christian minister does not make any such violent statements without proof. The assumption lies that you retailed have been mailed hundreds of times. There is not a shred of respectable evidence. "Mr. Shuler, you cannot produce respectable evidence to show that: "(1) John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln, was a Roman Catholic. "(2) Charles Guiteau, assassin of President Garfield, was a Roman Catholic. "(3) Leon Czolgosz, assassin of President McKinley, whatever his parents may have been or he himself may have been in childhood, was a Roman Catholic and not an anarchist when he did the foul deed. "We further challenge you to prove, Mr. Shuler, that the Roman Catholic Church or any responsible person or persons connected with that organization was or were responsible for the death of Oregon, Lincoln, Garfield or McKinley. "Your evidence is to be submitted to a committee of non-Catholic lawyers to be selected as follows: One by yourself, one by the editor of The Tidings, and a third by the two thus chosen. "If this committee find against us, we will print their report in The Tidings published first after they arrive at a decision. If this committee find against you, you will publish their findings in your magazine and read their statement on the Sunday evening following at your evening service over the radio. "These base calumnies were given wide publicity by you. We challenge you to produce the evidence or repair the damage you have done. That is your plain Christian duty."
