

My Dear Pal

I left no fond good-bys... When I was called away... My shade of fingers round...

Note: A happy couple, inspired by the poem, the husband was killed in a railroad wreck.

Couple Wed Aboard Ile de France; First Religious Ceremony Performed at Sea

Knot Tied in Ship's Chapel by Special Dispensation.

What is thought to be the first duly authorized Roman Catholic marriage ceremony to be celebrated at sea, at least in modern times...

The bride, daughter of the Spanish nobility, a descendant of Christopher Columbus and whose family traces back to the line of the great Charlemagne...

The groom, Mr. Emsault-Pelterle, son and grandson of the great French leader in industry and banking, invented, in 1904, the first monoplane with forward motor...

The wedding procession formed in the Fontainebleau salon, descended the grand staircase to the strains of Mendelssohn's famous wedding march...

Bigots' Smoke Screen

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals...

"1. It is time for Democrats, Republicans and news writers to leave the word 'bigots' out of their vocabularies..."

"2. The American people are not looking for Tammany to furnish them a President for this Christian republic while it remains a dry nation..."

"3. There is a self-respecting way of advocating a cause without descending to the gutter for methods and terms and language to characterize our opponents..."

Dr. Wilson further stated that the religious issue was a smoke-screen by which Governor Smith sought to "bludgeon his own church into unanimous support..."

As to Dr. Wilson's statement that there is "a self-respecting way of advocating a cause without descending to the gutter for methods and terms and language to characterize our opponents..."

But his statement that if Senator Walsh had been nominated there would have been no religious issue calls for a reply.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Southern Methodist Church, during the campaign frequently made claim that he was animated principally by his devotion to prohibition in his fight against Governor Smith...

Of course the Catholic Church does not teach what Bishop Cannon asserts it is teaching and never did teach it. We do not think he is incapable of understanding the Catholic doctrine, but evidently he prefers to misrepresent it in a campaign to suit his political and religious purposes...

Bill, pardon William F. Love is indisputably re-elected as district attorney of Monroe.

"Fighting Irish" is what they style the Notre Dame football players of 1928.

Catholic parishes are on the increase in England. Following along traditional lines, there should be many new parishes instituted in Oklahoma following the 1928 campaign. Perhaps, however, they do not choose to learn.

What a fine cutthroat game politics is to be sure.

Pope and Hoover Were Photographed Together in Poland

Rome, Nov. 9.—When Pope Pius XI received Hesi Skrzynsky, the Polish Ambassador, this week, he exhibited a photograph of himself taken in Warsaw with Herbert Hoover, President-elect of the United States...

The Holy Father, in displaying the photograph, called attention, it is said, to Mr. Hoover's energetic direction of the great American relief work and to the successful career he has enjoyed.

The results of the election in the United States were not known at the Vatican at the time of this audience.

Invalid Poet Dies in Fire as Parents Are Away at Mass

New York, Nov. 12.—During the absence of her parents, who were attending Mass a few blocks away, Miss Irene J. Riley, 32 years old, an invalid since childhood, whose poems have often been broadcast over the radio, was burned to death in bed yesterday morning at her home, 11 Myrtle Avenue, Edgewater, N. J.

A short circuit in an electric wire is believed to have set fire to the bed clothing, and Miss Riley, unable to move her arms or legs, could do nothing to extinguish the flames or save herself.

She evidently struggled frantically however, for she managed to knock the telephone off a small table by the bed, and the telephone operator hearing her screams, notified police. Patrolman Peter McMillan was sent to the house and turned in an alarm when he observed smoke issuing from a window.

Andrew Riley, the girl's father, alarmed for the safety of his daughter when he heard the noise of the fire engines, hurried home; but when firemen succeeded in entering the room the girl's charred body was found in the bed.

Dr. Joseph Payne, county physician, who later made an examination, said he believed the short circuit was caused when, in trying to change the position of an electric pad, Miss Riley accidentally pulled the plug from the wall socket and the wires of the electric pad and the lamp crossed.

Weekly Calendar Of Feast Days

Sunday, November 18.—St. Odor of Cluny was the son of a noble of Aquitaine. His father wished to see him distinguished at Court but the call of the religious life was too strong. He took the habit of St. Benedict at Baume and later became abbot of the great abbey of Cluny. The Pope sent him often as a peacemaker on missions to princes. On one of those missions he was taken ill at Rome and, at his urgent request, carried back to Tours where he died in 942.

Monday, November 19.—St. Elizabeth of Hungary was the daughter of a King of Hungary and the niece of St. Hedwige. She was betrothed in infancy to Louis, Landgrave of Thuringia and brought up in his father's court. While her husband lived she devoted her wealth and influence to charitable purposes. When he died she was driven from the palace and forced to wander in the streets with her children. She died in 1231 at the age of twenty-four.

Tuesday, November 20.—St. Felicitas of Valois was the son of the Count of Valois. An unjust divorce between his parents led him to take the Cistercian habit at Clairvaux. After living for a time as a hermit in Italy he returned to France whereafter another period of solitude he and St. John of Matha formed the Order of the Holy Trinity for the redemption of Christian captives. The order was confirmed by Pope Innocent III. The Saint died in 1213.

Wednesday, November 21.—The Mary. It is an ancient tradition that the Blessed Virgin Mary was solemnly offered to God in the Temple in her infancy. The tender soul of Mary was then adorned with the most precious graces, an object of astonishment and praise to the angels and of the highest complacency to the adorable Trinity, the Father looking upon her as His beloved daughter, the Son as one chosen and prepared to become His mother, and the Holy Ghost as His darling spouse.

Thursday, November 22.—St. Cecilia, virgin, who was martyred in 177, was a rich, beautiful and noble Roman maiden. On her wedding evening she renewed the vow by which she had consecrated her virginity to Christ. Her husband was converted by her words and a few days later was martyred. Cecilia herself was placed in a hot air bath heated to seven times its customary temperature but was unharmed after a day and a night. She was dispatched with the sword, although she remained with head half severed for two days and nights.

Friday, November 23.—St. Clement of Rome was consecrated Bishop by St. Peter himself and was among the first of those who have held the place and power of Peter. His famous epistle to the Corinthians restored order in the Corinthian Church, which was torn with schism and rebellion. Shortly afterwards St. Clement sealed with his blood the Faith which he had learned from Peter and taught to the nations.

Saturday, November 24.—St. John of the Cross became the first prior of the Barefooted Carmelites. His reform though approved by the general was rejected by the elder friars. Three times he was shamefully persecuted by his brethren and publicly disgraced. But his complete abandonment by creatures only deepened his interior peace and devout longing for Heaven.

Prominent Japanese Catholics of Dairen

Dairen, Manchuria, Nov. 1.—The newly established Star of the Sea parish in this city, of which the pastor is the Rev. Leopold H. Tibesar, a Maryknoll missionary formerly of Quincy, Illinois, is fortunate in having these men in the congregation help not a little to gain the confidence of the authorities and of the people in general. Prominent among the Japanese Catholics of Dairen are: Mr. Tsuchiya, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court for the Kwantung Leased Territory; Professor Sato, formerly a student at St. Bonaventure's, N. Y., and now a Professor at the Manchuria Medical College in Mukden; Mr. Gazawa, Vice-President of the Manchuria Bank, Dairen; and Mr. Sato, chief accountant of the budget department of the South Manchuria Railroad.

Owing to the efforts of the Japanese Christians the American Maryknoll missionaries in Manchuria have already received considerable help from the officials of the South Manchuria Railroad. Both in Dairen and Fushun, land has been given free of cost for the construction of Catholic establishments.
