A New Venture

American Catholic missionaries of the Maryknoll prefecture apostolic of Peng Yang in northwestern Korea have begun special work among the Japanese resident in their district. The Japanese in the cities of Peng Yang and Chinnampo now have their own chapels and pastors, while regular visits are made by the Fathers to Japanese Catholics in other localities. Father John P. Swift, formerly of Baltimore, Maryland and who is now pastor of the Japanese parish in Peng Yang, has already worked among Japanese in the Maryknoll Los Angeles Mission. He describes as follows the beginnings of the Japanese parish at Peng Yang.

"Sunday dawned. It was May twenty-seventh and Pentecost and a pleasant spring day. One by one, the Christians came. Eleven made up the congregation at this first Mass of the Japanese parish in Peng Yang. But please include my cook and myself, for I like to have the number thirteen, in order to remind me of the first Pentecost."

"After the Holy Sacrifice, we had a little get-together in the assembly room. Taking an informal census, I found we could register nineteen Catholics in our parish. Someone suggested that we advertise that a Catholic church for Japanese had been opened and that signposts be hung at two approaches to the mission. This was done and the advertisement brought returns when a woman and her two grand-daughters, who had been attending the Methodist church, found the road back to Rome. Her son too must be included, so now our list shows the number twenty-three, twice as many as we had at our first Mass."

"Thus was born 'baby' mission in Korea. Someone has asked whether we christened it 'Pentecost', and another whether its name would be 'Cherry Blossom.' It is at present under the patronage of the Holy Martyrs of Japan and Korea. We hope these friends will remember us before the throne of God, and we are confident they will."

"Our 'baby' needs friends and some who will send the youngster more than congratulations. I shall have to write out checks every month to the tune of $180.00. Oh for a friend to adopt me for a few months at least, until I can get on my feet."

Bishop Gallagher Ten Years at Head Of Detroit Diocese

Detroit, Nov. 20.—Completion of ten years as head of the Detroit diocese was observed quietly Sunday by Bishop Michael J. Gallagher. The date also marked the Bishop's sixty-second birthday anniversary.

Bishop Gallagher came to Detroit in the midst of a phenomenal expansion period unsurpassed among American cities. Under his energetic leadership the Church kept pace with the city's expansion.

One hundred and forty priests have been ordained for the diocese by the Bishop and he has directed the founding of 90 new parishes. With his encouragement the Holy Name Society has been developed into one of the largest diocesan units of the country with a membership of approximately 100,000 men and youths.

At the Bishop's invitation, ten religious orders have established communities within the diocese since 1918. Five hospitals have been established under his direction and new institutions and diocesan buildings completed with his guidance involved the expenditure of many millions of dollars.

Bishop Gallagher was born in Auburn, Mich., Nov. 18, 1866, the son of James and Mary (Toomey) Gallagher. He studied at Assumption college, Sandwich, Ont., Munger college, Limerick, Ireland, and at the University of Innsbruck, Austria, being ordained priest March 19, 1893.

After serving as assistant at churches in Carrollton and Hemlock he became assistant pastor of the cathedral in Grand Rapids in February, 1896. From 1898 to 1912 he was chancellor of the Grand Rapids diocese and from 1912 to 1916, vicar general. On Sept. 8, 1915, he was consecrated titular bishop of Tipasa and Grand Rapids, and on July 15, 1918, Pope Benedict XV announced his transfer to the see of Detroit in succession to Bishop John S. Foley.

Regularity Makes Greatness
It isn't just bigness that counts. "Great oaks from little acorns grow." "A small leak will sink a great ship."
And so on—run many adages. They all tell how little things will result in big ones.
Likewise with your savings account. It isn't the size of your deposits that count half so much as the regularity of them. Don't wait until you have $100 to save, but bring in that loose dollar you have in your pocket. Drop in often. It only takes a minute to save money and the reward is so great.
