What Have You Done With Your Money?

How much money have you earned since you started to work and how much have you today? You can't save all you earn but each one can save something.

Suppose you had saved 10% of your earnings the last ten years, with interest comp. added, it would come out that you would have and the amount will surprise you.

The next time you get paid, start now to save at least 10% of your earnings each week. You'll be surprised how fast and cash your Bank Account will grow.
