Home building sites which are high and are terraced up from the street require a certain type of home in order to make a harmonious combination. The home shown in the accompanying illustration is of the type that looks well on a terraced lot. The broken roof lines and the overhang of the first floor all of the roof project take away from this house the appearance of height which is a good feature when the building is set high above the street level.

Porch Made Livable
With Small Touches
The pasting of winter is marked by the siren-call of spring for all to come outdoors.
The porch may have suffered unwanted hardships through the wintry months, but it can readily be made quite a livable place with a bit of ingenuity. E. Helen Dimbar supplies several suggestions in an article of the People's Home Journal. Outlining the point to be considered in adding dignity and comfort to the living porch, she says:
"People are becoming more and more eager to get out of doors, so let us make the most of porches, however hopeless they may seem at first. No porch exists which cannot be made more livable and attractive at the same time. The principal things to keep in mind as fundamentals, no matter what kind of a porch engrosses attention, are first to secure some privacy by the use of awnings or even simple Japanese screens; second, to make the porch comfortable and inviting; the chairs must be carefully selected for comfort first of all, and, third, to make it colorful and very gay and happy, with plenty of little intimate things about so that it has some personality of its own."

Put Furring on Inside
to Keep Cellar Dry
To appreciate the difficulties of making any kind of a masonry wall damp-proof, it is necessary to understand that actual dampness does not penetrate these walls so much as the cold. When the walls are cold condensation gathers on them and we then have what appears to be dampness coming through them. To avoid this we make the walls coldproof.
This is done by applying furring on the inside walls as a base for the lath and plaster. This is a sound type of construction.

Golden Weddings Of Two Couples

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Temmerman and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hogan Celebrate Happy Events

Two well-known and highly respected couples celebrated their golden weddings in Rochester this week. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Temmerman of 271 Alameda Street, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hogan of 23 Otis Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Temmerman celebrated their anniversary on Monday, fifty years from the date on which they were married by Father Renker in St. Boniface's Church. Their celebration included fittingly, a solemn high Mass in Holy Rosary Church. Rev. A. F. Temmerman of Cornia, nephew of Mr. Temmerman, was the celebrant; Rev. A. A. Hughes, deacon; Rev. Father Greenauer, sub-deacon; Rev. Father Naughton, master of ceremonies. Other priests in the sanctuary were Rev. Fathers Grady, Stauder, Muckle and Gaffney. All members of the family, including seven grandchildren, received Holy Communion in a body. Benediction followed the Mass, and the "Te Deum" was sung. Father Hughes gave a congratulatory talk.

A reception, attended by many relatives, was held later at the family home. The Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, was a guest of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Temmerman received many gifts and were showered with congratulations. All children and fourteen grandchildren of the couple were present. The children are: Mrs. Joseph Rabideau, Mrs. Charles Welch, Mrs. Edward O'Connor, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. Raymond Turner, Sister Bertrand of Hawthorne, N. Y., Miss Alice Temmerman, Frank, Edward and John Temmerman.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hogan celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday morning. They were married on May 7, 1879, in St. John's Church, Hubbardston, Mich. Their attendants at the wedding, and six other members of the original wedding party were present at the celebration. They renewed their vows in Holy Apostles Church, where an anniversary Mass was celebrated for them by Rev. Thomas P. Beahan of Owosso, Mich., a nephew of Mr. Hogan. Claire Connell, a nephew of Mrs. Hogan and a student at St. Andrew's Seminary, served the Mass. Rev. John C. O'Boine of Holy Apostles Church was in the sanctuary.

Mrs. Julia Ezan of Carson City, Mich., sister of the bride, again acted as her attendant, and Michael Hogan of Hubbardston was best man. Members of the original party who were present were Richard Kavanaugh and Mrs. Charles Bohlen of Carson City, Miss Mary Hogan, Mrs. Margaret Beahan, and Mrs. Samuel Meyers of Hubbardston, and Mrs. Margaret Kavanaugh of Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogan have lived in Rochester nearly 23 years. They have ten children and 12 grandchildren. The children are: J. Joseph, William, Dwey, C. Leo and Mrs. Thomas Aselin of Rochester, Mrs. William Barrett of Carson City, Miss Mary T. Hogan of New York City, Miss Helen Hogan and Mrs. William R. Effleck of Pawtucket, R. I., and the Misses Katherine and Margaret Hogan of Rochester.

A dinner for forty guests was at the home in Otis Street Tuesday evening and was followed by a reception. The couple received many gifts and the good wishes of friends.

Stencil Designs Make
Child's Room Charming
Owing to the great variety of stencil designs which are now on the market, the problem of decorating the nursery wall in a manner to please the childish fancy is practically solved. These stencils include animals, flowers and fascinating characters of old nursery rhymes. Apart from the charming effect they lend, their educational value is notable.

Little News Items About Our People

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Smith of 325 St. Paul Blvd. are home from a delightful trip through Europe.

Major and Mrs. John A. Warner and their daughter, Mary Adams Warner, of Albany, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Foster Warner of Prince Street have taken a cottage at Southampton, L. I. for the summer and plan to occupy it June 1st.

At the final meeting of the Catholic Women's Club Chorus for the season last month, Mrs. Joseph H. Eilers, the chairman, was presented with a beautiful bag and a growing plant, the gift of the members of the Chorus. Miss Mae G. Hughes made the presentation speech.

Black for Sun Parlor
Gives Pleasing Contrast
Black is often used in decorating sun parlors, either as a background for the bright splashes of other color, or as a contrast here and there. Because the sun porch is so sunny and so colorful, it can stand some black, which would, perhaps, not be possible in an indoor room. Think of such a sun porch on a summer afternoon—a big wicker armchair or porch swing with bright cushions, and a nearby table holding magazines and lemonade glasses! On a winter afternoon it is just as enticing.

Summer Camp of Catholic Women on Canandaigua Lake Is a Delightful Place for Girls

Camp Madonna, conducted by the Catholic Women's Club of Rochester as a summer vacation camp for girls from 10 years of age upwards and also for women, will be opened for the new season on Saturday, June 29th.

Mrs. John Gysel of 635 Hazelwood Terrace, has been appointed chairman of the Camp for the season, and will give generously of her time and energies towards making the season a most successful one.

Camp Madonna is the only camp for girls under Catholic supervision in Western New York. It is located in a delightful and secluded spot on Canandaigua Lake, and has boating, fishing, swimming, tennis and other sports. A more restful and healthful place would be hard to find.

The Camp enjoyed the most successful season of its career last year, and many girls were disappointed in not being able to obtain reservations there. It is therefore desirable that early reservations be made this year.

Many improvements will be made at the camp before it is opened. The weekly charges are small for a summer camp, excellent care is taken of the girls there, and competent supervisors are constantly with them.

Interest in the camp is so keen that the recent Rummage Sale held by the Catholic Women, and the Henry Warren poor illustrated lecture, netted a sum of $500 for the benefit of the Camp. This was paid on the mortgage. Other funds have been provided for the improvements.

Mrs. Frank T. Curtin, newly elected President of the Catholic Women's Club, was chairman of the Camp last year, and did splendid work in making it popular with the girls of the Diocese.

100 Reported Arrivals
