

Social Events
Club Events
Other Events

FEATURES FOR THE HOME AND FAMILY

Fashions
Personals
Weddings

A. J.'s TUX SHOP
73 Clinton Ave., S.
The Exclusive Rental Outfitters for Men—Tuxedo, Full Dress, Cutaway Rentals.

Established 1872
F. SCHWIKERT & SON
Manufacturers of BILLIARD AND POOL TABLES, SAPPHIRES
170 EXCHANGE ST., Rochester

"LET MEN DO IT"
The Modern Pillow, Cushion
and Furniture Shop Makers of Overstuffed Furniture
Reupholstering, Repairs,
Furniture

W. T. SINDEN
115-121 WEST MAIN ST.
Phone Main 2198

Who is the happiest child in the one who wears

Buster Brown
They're known for good service, lowest prices and good looks.
Moderately priced.
ALTIER'S
BROWNE'S SHOE STORE,
307 Portland Avenue
Olive & Broadway Shoe Store
1204 Culver Road

I ASK YOU
What is the affinity between a bunton and an onion?
Well, they sound alike and they smell alike and they both bring us to the table. PERSONALITY CLOTHES and style—
They don't sound alike,
but they go hand in hand!

MUTUAL
Credit Clothing Co.
104-106 STATE
We Will Trust You

The Apostolic Delegate to the United States

His Excellency, Mr. Rev. P. F. Fumasoni-Biondi, D.D., recently said of Church Extension:
"I cheerfully endorse the holy project and invoke the blessing of God upon all who promote its success."

His Excellency knows that for the last twenty-four years Extension has been helping to build up the Home Missions of the United States and its dependencies.

His Excellency knows that if you give us a dollar for a Mass stipend, $20.00 to purchase a stipend, $100.00 to buy an altars, $100.00 to support a missionary student, or $1,000.00 to build a chapel, that we will keep faith with you.

His Excellency knows that if you give us a part of your capital for our Anniversary Plan that we will keep faith with you.

His Excellency knows from Monsignor Biondi of the Office of the Holy See and its dependencies that the Catholic Church is in need of funds to build up the Home Missions of the United States and its dependencies.

His Excellency knows that if you give us a donation to the Home Missions of the United States and its dependencies, we will
keep faith with you.

His Excellency knows that if
you give us a donation to the Home Missions of the United States
and its dependencies, we will
keep faith with you.

His Excellency knows that if
you give us a donation to the Home Missions of the United States
and its dependencies, we will
keep faith with you.

His Excellency knows that if
you give us a donation to the Home Missions of the United States
and its dependencies, we will
keep faith with you.

His Excellency knows that if
you give us a donation to the Home Missions of the United States
and its dependencies, we will
keep faith with you.

Father Dan's Column
for Boys and Girls

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS CHAPTER TWO

Conway Vogt, just turned 13, and known to his pals as "Connie," was to his devoted teachers a puzzle to be worked out in spare moments. He possessed an air of solemnity that led one to believe he would, in time, qualify as an exceptional undertaker. He never smiled. There is a verse from an old song that runs thus:

"There was a boy in our old town
Who dressed in killing style
His hair was combed so very tight
He didn't dare to smile."
Perhaps "Connie" was just such a boy. At all events no hair was ever permitted to roam from its proper position, no matter how hard "Connie" worked or played. Betty McLean, a roguish young seventh grader, who was forever uttering choice comments on the characteristics of her fellow pupils, declared that if "Connie" had been cast in marble he would make a first rate tombstone for a cemetery. "If he ever gets married," said Betty, "his wife will have to call him 'Mr. Vogt' always. Surely she would never think of calling him by his first name. I don't believe his parents do that. And I think the boys are downright disrespectful when they call him by a nick-name. If he ever smiled his expression would probably resemble 'gates ajar.'"

Conway did not look with favor upon Betty's remarks. In fact he checked a determination to "get even" with that talkative young lady at the first opportunity. How he carried out his determination is a matter of history. To relate it here would destroy the suspense that this little narrative is intended to create.

"Connie" Walked Errands
"Connie" loved to run errands for the Sister Superior. No, I'll take that back. He loved to "walk" errands. Running was exceedingly dangerous to his dignity. When one of the children failed to attend school and the absent one's home could not be reached by telephone, Conway could be depended upon to go in search of the missing child and bring back to Sister a reliable report as to the cause of the absence. And Conway never hurried. To his mind it required about 25 minutes to cover and assignment three blocks from the school house and prepare his report on the case.

One morning Sister wished to send a message to the Sanitarium. The Sanitarium is situated on the side of a hill in full view of the village, but because of the winding ascent it is a walking distance of about two miles from St. Joseph's. Sister chose the ever-dependable Conway to do the errand.

"Have you a traveling bag, Conway?" asked the good nun.
"No, Sister, but I think I can borrow one. Dick Driscoll has one. He went to New York once."

"Very well, you had better get it immediately. I want to send you a message to the Sanitarium and I want you to take enough food for lunch, dinner and to-morrow's breakfast, so that you will not go hungry."

"How far is it to the Sanitarium, Sister?"
"About two miles."

"Please, Sister, I don't think I'll have to carry my meals."
"Just as you say; but if you die on the way all right and I'll send an ambulance for you."

"Thank you, Sister, I will."
Such choice bits of dialogue were not infrequent between Sister and Conway. Yet the unsmiling, solemn-faced individual, who apparently never saw the funny side of anything was known as the leader, the terror and the biggest joker of the "Main street gang."

The Irish Kids
One day in early April Master Richard Driscoll, "Connie's" rival for leadership among their immediate followers, and captain of "Irish Kids" baseball aggregation received this letter:

"Mr. Dick Driscoll
"Dear Sir:
"I understand that you are contemplating the re-organization of that splendid ball team you had in the field last season. It would afford me great pleasure to fit out each member of your team with a new uniform. Bring your team-mates to my home on Thursday evening next when we will discuss the matter."
"Very truly yours,
"Arthur Bradstreet."

Be it known that Arthur Bradstreet was generally regarded as the wealthiest and most influential man in the village. The kindly gentleman was not a little surprised on the Thursday evening in question to receive a copy of 11 boys' letters into his mailbox. "Well boys, what will you do?" he asked good-naturedly.

"Mr. Bradstreet," said Dick L. local and this is my team. I came to see you about that letter you wrote me."

It Was All a Joke
"Indeed, why I don't believe I have ever addressed a letter to you Richard. Ahem. By the way you don't happen to have that letter with you? Yes? May I see it?"

Nervously Dick handed the letter to the great man, while 20 pairs of eyes watched the expression on the faces of both.

"I'm sorry boys," said Mr. Bradstreet breaking the silence that "succumbed a year." "I never wrote a word of this letter. Some of your chums have played a little joke on you."

Dick waited for no more. Quickly he edged his way through the crowd, bolted through the big front door and was on his way. The other boys stared in wonderment at the man, then suddenly came to, and without a word of explanation turned and followed their captain. Dick had a good start, and as he was an excellent runner, probably reached home in safety. Mr. Bradstreet, who loved boys, made no effort to find the one who had dared to sign his name to a letter and the event bade fair to take its place along side of Betty Bacon's sore foot as one of the unsolved mysteries of Holcomb.

Laying for "Connie!"
"Then things began to happen. "Connie" had suddenly developed a willingness to remain after school and help Sister straighten up the room after the day's tasks. Moreover, the ever-watchful Betty McLean had noticed that Conway never went home the same way. Each afternoon after he had helped his teacher about the class-room he would invariably go out the back door, cut across door yards, and when he reached a side street, would always pick a different way of reaching his proper domicile. Betty reported the matter to Sister, who immediately enquired into the why and the wherefore. Conway explained to her that Dick Driscoll's crowd was waiting for him.

"Why are they waiting for you?"
"Sister, I don't think they liked a letter I wrote to Dick about his ball team."

"Well what are they going to do about it?"
"Please, Sister, I don't know."

"Why don't you find out?"
"Please, Sister, I'd rather not."

"Connie" A Real Hero
The state-of-siege lasted about two weeks, then came to a surprising end. One afternoon as "Connie" was nearing the end of his self-imposed vigil in the school, he heard a noise in the adjoining room as of someone breaking open a box. All the teachers had left the building. Conway was sure of that. Tip-toeing into the hall-way he saw a burglar going through the teacher's desk.

The boy's reputed slowness disappeared like magic. Seizing with one hand the school's old "cow bell," he rang it vigorously, while with the other he knocked a hand fire-extinguisher from its place, upsetting it and sending a hissing stream of chemical at the intruder. The burglar acted as though he thought the extinguisher was some form of bomb intended to kill him. He leaped to the window from which he tumbled into the back yard more quickly than he had intended, thanks to a tussy poke from a window pole in the hands of Conway. Jerry, the janitor, hearing "Connie's" shouts and the ringing of the bell, rushed out of the basement in time to "crown" the prostrate thief with a can of green paint. The burglar was soon in the hands of the police. It was found that he was wanted in many cities for many crimes. A reward offered by no less a personage than Uncle Sam was to be paid to Conway and Jerry. Better still, "Connie's" picture and an account of his heroism was in the Breeze-Transcript, the village weekly. One of the first to call on the young hero to congratulate him was Mr. Bradstreet. He was not a little surprised when "Connie" asked his pardon for having used his name on a certain occasion. And after a word of fatherly warning as to the danger of signing another's name to any document, the good man departed, leaving the hero the proud possessor of a new wrist watch which was quickly converted into a pocket watch when that annoying McLean girl observed that a wrist watch was "sissy" for a boy.

(Continued Next Week)
Chapter three introduces the "angel-faced" Kate Hickey and her pals and shows how Conway "got even."

Nuptial Events

Rochester Groom Is Married In Rome
Miss Abbey Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. Smith, of Rome, N.Y., and Leonard R. Morgan, of Rochester, were married on September 25th in the Rome city of the bride by the Rev. George S. Heister of St. Mary's Church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emma Smith. John C. Nell was best man.

GRiffin-OVIATT
Miss Helen Jean Oviatt, daughter of Percival D. Oviatt of Harrington Street and John F. Griffin 2nd, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Griffin of Nassau Street, were married on Tuesday evening, Sept. 24, in the rectory of St. Mary of the Angels Church in Olean. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin will reside in Olean.

MAHONEY-IHRIG
Miss Florence C. Ihrig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ihrig of Sherwood Avenue, and Bernard T. Mahoney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Mahoney of Lake Avenue, were married on Tuesday, Sept. 24, in St. Augustine's Church by the Rev. Thomas Brennan. Following a western trip, Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney will reside after Oct. 15 at 401 Ridge-way Avenue.

GOLLOGLY-CUMMINGS
Miss Dorothy Cummings, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Cummings of Lake Avenue, and Rupert Morrison Gollongly of Kingston, Canada, were married recently by the Rev. Father Winterroth of St. Michael's Church. Mrs. Jean Howland was matron of honor, and Miss Shirley Oliver and Miss Betty Rawleigh, the bridesmaids. Betty Jean Morrow, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Billy Hurrida, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer. Irving Green was best man. A reception was held at the Sagamore after the ceremony.

BRIEN-BAUM
Miss Mabel C. Baum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Baum of Hawley Street, was married to Cyril E. Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Brien of Selva Terrace, Sept. 14, at 3 o'clock in St. Monica's Church. The ceremony which was followed by a nuptial high mass celebrated by the Rev. William J. Brien, brother of the groom, was witnessed by Mrs. Lucille Meehan, Welsch sang Millard's "Ave Maria."

The bride was attended by Miss Evangeline Mitchell. Thomas F. Brien, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Edgar Haus, and James Shanly.

A wedding breakfast was served immediately after the service at West Manor. Mr. and Mrs. Brien left by boat for Montreal, Quebec, and the Saguenay River. After Oct. 15 they will live at 448 Columbia Avenue.

FISCHER-WURZER
Miss Viola E. Wurzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wurzer of Maple Street, were married on Wednesday, Sept. 11, in Holy Family Church by the Rev. Joseph Wurzer. The nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Michael Wurzer, cousin of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Father Vogt. Music was furnished by the boys choir. Miss Florance Mahur was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Lavina Wurzer, sister of the bride, and Miss Dorothy Seiler. Vincent Wurzer, brother of the bride, and Nelson Tschatter were the best men. The ushers were Edward Wurzer, brother of the bride, and Arthur Hild.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, covers being laid for 20 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Fischer left on a motor trip to Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit. After Oct. 1, they will live at 619 Maple Street.

(Additional Weddings will be found of Page Eight)

Little News Items About Our People

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Gottry of Seneca Parkway are home from a trip to Atlantic City.

Miss Catherine Christal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Christal of Beverly Street, has left for Trinity College, Washington, D. C.

Miss Mary R. Hone of Mt. Pleasant, who has been the guest of Mrs. Vincent Murphy of New York at her summer home at Elbow, N. J., will return home tomorrow.

John De Clerck of Mercedith Street has returned to St. Bonaventura College to resume his studies. F. Emil De Clerck has left to attend the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sammons and daughter Ruth, and the Misses Mary and Margaret Sammons, of Ithaca, N. Y., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Sammons and family, 314 Woodbine Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pedeville have the sympathy of their friends in the death last Friday morning of their infant daughter, Marlow Ann, who was buried from the home of her grandfather, William Ernst, 11 Adams Street, Monday morning.

Miss Cecelia M. Yawman of Council Rock Avenue, and Mrs. Frank E. Deavenport of 148 Vassar Street, attended the annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women at the Hotel Mayflower, Washington, D. C., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Value of 90 Main Street have the sympathy of many friends in the death of their son, Donald, aged three years, who passed away Saturday from injuries received when struck by an automobile, and whose funeral was held on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marice W. Jarvis of Toronto, Can., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Freda Margaret Jarvis, to Curtin Duggan of Rochester, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Duggan of Moravia. The marriage will take place the latter part of October.

Get-Together Party By St. Francis Club On Saturday Evening
A get-together party, the first of the new season, will be held in the rooms of the St. Francis Xavier Club Saturday evening this week, and an entertaining program will be given. All Catholic men are welcome to attend. The proceeds of the party will be used for charitable purposes.

Fresh Home Meats
ANDREWS MARKET
73 FRONT ST.

TRUSSES
Large pads and stiff springs are a thing of the past. The FRAME METHOD with a small, properly proportioned pad gives best results. Consult Our Experts. No obligation.
GEORGE R. FULLER CO.
230 ANDREWS STREET

Safe Clean Economical
D. & H. Lackawanna Anthracite
Makes Warm Friends
Anthracite Coal
Edelman Coal Company
88 PORTLAND AVENUE
STONE 576

Superior Sand Blast & Waterproofing Company
GENERAL CONTRACTORS
Specializing in Cleaning and Waterproofing Stone and Brick Structures
WHIGELTH PROCESS WATERPROOFING
PIONEER BUILDING CLEANERS
Sand Blast Cleaning—Old Buildings Sand Blast, Cleaned and Restored to New and Original Finish.
Stone Renovating, Washing, Rubbing, Repointing Kasen Stone, Lime Stone, Marble, Brick and Tile
LOCAL OFFICE
43 EAST AVENUE
Rochester, N. Y.
NEW YORK—116 BROAD
SCHANTON, PA.—426 COAL EXCHANGE BLDG.

ARE YOU PREPARED?
Are you building a cash reserve which will provide an income or enable you to grasp opportunities when they arrive?
Deposits Received on or before October 3rd Receive Dividends, (Interest) from October the 1st.
SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES rent for $3.00 a year and upward according to the size.
OUR LOCATION
In the Center of the Shopping District
The EAST SIDE SAVINGS BANK
OF ROCHESTER
Corner Main & Clinton Streets