Bishop Van de Ven of Alexandria, Louisiana.

Says of Church Extension:

"This wonderful Missionary Society, reaching out to the remotest quarters of our neglected sections in the South and West, has brought new life to these struggling missions by the building of churches, chapels and schools, and giving aid to poor missionary priests. Words alone are inadequate to express our feelings of gratitude to the Extension Society for all its benefactions to this diocese during the past twenty-four years."

Bishop Van de Ven is only one of the many bishops of the southern missions who is willing to testify to the work of Church Extension in our Southland. Extension will cooperate with you in placing your charity in any southern diocese that you have at heart.

If you wish to build a Mission Church;

If you wish to support a student for the Missionary Priesthood;

If you wish to make a donation to the Home Missions;

If you wish to take an Annuity with the Society;

If you wish to remember the Society in your Will;

then send us for Extension literature.

Keep the home fires burning by reading Extension Magazine.

Edward's Store To Be Enlarged In a Fine Way

The mammoth department store of E. W. Edwards & Son, Inc., is to be enlarged in a fine way in the near future. The company owns the Cornwall, Burke and Central Buildings, in addition to the Edwards store building, and it has decided to remodel and use for store purposes the entire Central Building, the upper floors of which are now used for office purposes.

Tenants of the Central Building have been notified that they must vacate by July 1 to make alterations of that structure possible to meet the requirements of the department store.

The Edwards store now occupies the basement and ground floor of the Central Building.

Alterations to the Central Building, when completed, will mean a substantial addition to the floor area of the Edwards store, Mr. Perse declared. He said that when the changes are completed the Edwards store will occupy fifteen acres of floor space, with the main frontage in the center of the 100 per cent. block in Rochester's shopping area.

Fred B. Perse, vice-president of the Edwards company, in charge of the Rochester interests, declared that the business of the Edwards Company is increasing steadily and the alterations when completed will put it in excellent position to serve Rochester's needs in a better way than ever before.

THORNS AND ROSES

Money pulls Life's many strings. Ne'er stops to reckon the take; Then reaches for the final pull. When death stalks in the wake.

Money can bloom the desert. But that's not in the game; Want ever feeds vain-glory. Which laughs at ridicule and shame.

Money prouds the callous flesh. To hush the spirit's anxious call; From the deep and narrow rut. That leads to grab it all.

Money craves for regeneration. When the body has no say. But the Soul spurs the proffer. Having had its fill of clay.

Money stalls Old Father Time. Who shares not the delusion; Coming back to earth again. Is a fancy-bright illusion.

Money scores and wins triumphant. When God the trowel wields; At the base of its contentions. Then His two-fold purpose yields.

Note—God's two-fold purpose. Money, god honestly. Money spent honestly, yields Peace in this world. Eternal Happiness in the next.

—Michael Woulfe O'Scaulain.

Music of Ireland Recital In Columbus Civic Center Ballroom on January 20th

The lecture-recital on Irish music, which was to have been given at Nazareth Academy on January 20th, will be held in the ballroom of the Columbus Civic Center the same evening.

When the executives of the Columbus Civic Center learned that Agnes Clune-Quinlan was to give a recital in Rochester, they were anxious to have the recital in their building. Realizing what an outstanding artist Miss Quinlan is, they wished to have her visit associated with the Columbus Civic Center, and donated the ballroom to the Nazareth Alumnae for that evening.

Miss Quinlan, an Irish lady, not only is a gifted pianist, but she possesses unusual charm of manner. In fact, she instantly seems to have the sympathy of her audience. Nazareth Alumnae is to be congratulated for offering such an unusual program to the citizens of Rochester.

Those who have not yet secured tickets, may procure them at the Columbus Club the evening of the recital. Tickets are 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for students.

The following young women will act as ushers: The Misses Elizabeth Coughlin, Margaret Devereaux, Helen Desmond, Helen Margrett, Ruth Guinan, Betty Griffin, Mary Grady, Rhea Wahl, Eva Schreiner, Anne Dodge, Mrs. Arch Martin, Mrs. Alfred Hutchinsan.

Catholic Women's Club Presents Three Plays By Mrs. John A. Regan

Three one-act plays, written and directed by Mrs. John A. Regan of 66 Rugby Avenue, were presented in the Auditorium of the Columbus Civic Center on Monday evening this week, auspices the Catholic Women's Club. They were preceded by a splendid dinner, served to more than 400 people by Caterer Lang of the Columbus Dining Rooms. The Dramatic Group of the Catholic Women's Club had charge of the evening.

A special table was reserved for Mrs. Regan and the members of her family, twelve in all, among them the Rev. Father Regan of Buffalo, a son, and Mrs. Marie Regan-Saxer of Cleveland, O.; a daughter, Mrs. Frank T. Curtis, President of the Catholic Women's Club, presided at the dinner. Arrangements for the dinner were made by Mrs. William H. Rosenbach, Chairman, Miss Ella T. Leavy, Vice-Chairman, and a capable committee of members. Grand Knight John A. Doyle, Lecturer George J. Law of Rochester, and many other Knights were guests at the dinner.

The playlets were beautifully staged, and were acted in a manner that won the heartiest approval of the large audience. All of them were rich in dramatic worth, and comedy and pathos were well intermingled, making them most appealing to the audience. Mrs. Regan was called to the stage during the course of the evening and was presented a beautiful bouquet. She received an abundance of congratulations and commendation for the excellence of her work. The plays, and their characters, were as follows:

"A Voice over the Wire"—City Editor—Rufus Maier Assistant City Editor—Marion Popp Reporter—Fehlan FitzPatrick Society Reporter—Mary E. Jennings Head of Press Room—Fred Kraus Royal of Reporter—Albin Lopotzki Office Boy—Virginia Malley "The Promise"—Mountain Woman—Mrs. Edward Berger Her Grandson—Este Lochner 1st Officer—Charles Keller 2nd Officer—Fred Kraus The Prisoner—Leo Hogan "Michael Conroy and the Genii"—Museum Caretaker—Leo Hogan The Genii—Evelyn Regan Wife of Caretaker—Mary Quirk Slaves—John Kelly and John Ernstinger Marie Regan-Saxer was at the piano during the evening, and she played beautifully, with excellent interpretation and unusual skill. Violin numbers were played by Mrs. Katherine S. McMannus and Mrs. Dolores Bixby-Bryant. They played with artistic expression, and their work, as well as that of Mrs. Saxer, added much to the beauty of the program. All three were highly complimented by members of the audience and officers of the club. The program throughout, a most unusual one, as well as a most appealing one, was highly creditable to all who took part and to the club that fostered the delightful entertainment.

Two Statues of Saints Given to Nazareth College By Priest and Physician

A beautiful statue of St. Anthony was given to Nazareth College recently by Rev. P. A. Neville of West Bloomfield, in order to further devotion to the Saint. The Junior Class, which has adopted St. Anthony as its special patron, purchased a magnificent standard of six-vigil lights to place in front of the statue.

A statue of the Little Flower was also given to the college by Dr. and Mrs. John S. Clifford, in thanksgiving for Dr. Clifford's recovery from a recent illness. The college greatly appreciates these gifts which not only add to the beauty of the Chapel, but tend to increase devotion.

Other College Notes

Miss Adelaide Biesenbach, from the Senior Class, is Prefect of the Sodality. Bishop O'Hern has given his official approval of the convention, and plans are now in progress.

A "Family Night" was held by the Mission Unit, January 13. Many friends of the College interested in the Missions were present, including Father Mooney, Father Hughes, Father Kunz, Father Naughton, and Mr. Bonhill. Miss Ida Holmes, President of the Unit, was in charge of the meeting. Two one-act plays were given by the Dramatic Club:
