Sister's Experience With Picture Of Priest Told Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—The Tidings prints a letter from Sister Mary Rose of the Sacred Heart, Monastery of the Poor Clares, Santa Barbara, mentioning her experience with a picture of the Rev. Patrick Power, priest whose grave at Maiden, Mass., gained nation-wide fame a month ago as a shrine. Sister Mary Rose's letter explained how she suffered from an inflammation of the eyes, and at the suggestion of her Superior applied the picture, published in The Tidings, to the ailing member. Her letter concludes: "That night when I retired to our cell, I found that I had neglected to bring upstairs the picture I used for the treatment of my eyes. Then I remembered my Superior's suggestion and applied Father Power's picture to my eye, asking him to cure it. If it were God's Holy Will. That night, at Maiden, my eye felt perfectly normal, there was no pain in it, and I rejected the Divine Office without glasses, a thing I had not been able to do for several weeks. "It is now over a week since I invoked Father Power's aid and my eye has been, and still is, perfectly normal. "I am writing this, at my Superior's suggestion, in thanksgiving for the favor I received."
