Sports Tid-Bits

By JOHN LARMEK

"Stretch" Murphy vs. "Stretch" Murphy. This was the basketball delicacy dished up before collegiate fans last week when the undefeated five of Chicago stacked up against the Purdue Boilermakers.

And talk about your eternal triangles... they have nothing on the three-way muddle stirred up by the result of this game. Purdue nosed out the Loyola five in an extra-period contest by five points. Here is the present situation: Purdue lost to Montana State, Loyola trounced Montana State, and now they lose to Purdue.

Check—it's up to you to figure out Who's Who?

The squared circle, with all of its cauliflower ears and hazy mentalities, has been sadly neglected in this column. Although we do not place it upon the same level with the diamond, gridiron and basketball court for wholesome sport news we do admit that it has its good points.

Almost in our midst, as it were, a world's championship bout will be staged Monday. On that night Jimmy Slattery and Lou Scozza, the two outstanding light-heavyweights in the country and both from Buffalo, will meet in the Windy City for the crown.

Although many experts claim that the Irish lad is on the down grade, and that he will not be able to stand the gaff, this column is strongly pro-Slattery. The writer would predict that Scozza will be jabbed to ribbons and perhaps polished off in about the ninth round.

Several new faces were observed in the Aquinas line-up on its two-day trip last week. Although the newcomers dropped two half-line decisions to St. Joe's of Buffalo and Assumption Academy of Utica, they displayed some things which have been making news in their last few days.

With Dan Deakin, and several of his squad taking from him by intelligibility, Matt Leary drafted (and by and by) from the Assumption squad. They were injected into a regular forward and guard berth respectively. Unfamiliar with each other's play the makeshift line up failed by a close margin.

The high light of both games was the play of Bernie Hyman. He formed brilliantly in both tilts and led the scoring in each. Bernie has been the most consistent player on the squad this year, and in no way can the Maroon's miserable showing of late be traced to him.

Tonight, on the Armory court, the Irish come face to face with their bitter rival—Christian Brother Academy of Syracuse. The Purple and Gold have enjoyed a successful season this far and the Maroon will be the under dogs in tonight's fray.

No matter what the outcome, let the team remember that the friends of Aquinas would always prefer to see a fighting team in a loss than a weak-spirited team in a victory. We are sure that the present youngsters will battle every second of tonight's contest and we are behind them from the opening whistle.

St. Bonaventure's court five recently took the measure of a cadet of Buffalo. The dazzling passwork of the Brown and White was too much for the Jesuit quint and the Dean boys gained a seven-point victory. St. Bonaventure dropped an almost one-sided tilt to St. John's of Brooklyn's championship club. The Brooklyn five is still peeling back with Loyola of Chicago for the National Catholic championship and the records of each for the entire season will be necessary before a decision can be made.

Among the other colleges Butler has almost been conceded the crown. They have a snafu working and a clever shouting outfit and deserve the mythical collegiate title.

Montana State's powerful quint, which had an average of over 20 points a game last season, was definitely eliminated by Loyola.

The "pen may be mightier than the sword," but it proved only a weakling when confronted by the wrench and hammer. Members of the institute fought an up-hill battle to win over R. B. L.'s Varsity club on the K. of C. floor last Saturday. The Pen Pushers at one time in the contest held a two-point lead, but the Plymouth Avenue boys tied things up just before the whistle and left the extra period carried them to a victory by a four-point margin.

This game is an annual affair in this city and carries with it all the usual displays of student fervor and heated rivalry. The teams meet again a week from Tuesday in the second game of the series. If R. B. L. evens up matters a "rubber" game will be played on a neutral court.

CATHOLIC BOWLING LEAGUE

The Catholic Bowling League race is tightening up; that is, at the top. The St. Boniface team was only two games behind the Holy Redeemer Athletic Association team when the schedule was made up on February 2. C. Y. M. A. is five games behind St. Boniface. Two games separate St. Ambrose from St. Francis, and the Knights of St. George are only one game behind St. Francis. The schedule on February 2:

	W.	L.	P.C.
H. R. A. A.	40	14	.741
St. Boniface	38	16	.704
St. M. A.	33	21	.611
St. Ambrose	28	26	.519
St. Francis	28	28	.481
Kts. of St. Geo.	25	29	.463
St. Andrew	16	38	.296
St. Salome	10	44	.185

used to obtain fair working conditions and fair prices.

"We hold to the right of private legislation. It is sufficient to private action; and as the Encyclical of Pope Leo on the condition of labor says: 'Whenever the general interest or that of any particular class suffers or is threatened by mischief which can in no way be met or prevented, the public authorities must step in to deal with it. Under a representative government like ours, it is our duty to see to it, so far as we may, that public authority takes the action its function requires of it.'

Seek Higher Status for Workers

"We seek, too, a higher status for men and women in their occupations. We wish to see their worthiness as human beings and workers recognized in industry so that they will no longer be considered mere hands. We wish to see them share most justly their equities and to have a decision of the conscience in which they are a part. We wish to see them share in the increased productivity of our country and of the continent in which they work.

"In doing this, they should not forget living wages nor the freedom to organize to obtain fair wages and conditions of work. But, once these are obtained, the next step should be to a growing responsibility and a growing brotherhood which will form a society based in its work and its trade upon conditions that correspond to our worthiness as partners of the universe God created.

"We urge all this," continues the report, "not solely because of love for abstract charity, but because we must justify our existence and the rule of every day life. We can then better use material things as a ladder to the kingdom of God on earth and in Heaven.

"In all of its activities, the committee has been guided by Pope Leo's Encyclical on the Condition of Labor, the Bishops' Program, and the Pastoral Letter of the American Hierarchy, and has had special help from the Social Action Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

"The Committee feels, however, in order to make its work more effective, that it must have the support and interest of the entire body of Catholic women. This can come through the appointment of a member in every organized diocese in the country, which action we recommend to the National Council of Catholic Women. We also recommend the printing and distribution of this report.

The report is signed by Elizabeth Morrissey, Professor of Economics at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland, at Baltimore, as chairman, and by Linn E. Brissett, Field Secretary of the Department of Social Action, N. C. W. C., as secretary. The committee is set forth, was established as a result of action taken at the 1927 convention of the National Council of Catholic Women in Washington.

Endorsement of Child-care Refused by Bishop Gibbons

Women methods of birth control. On the contrary, she was willing that my statement should contain a condemnation of birth control. She thought, however, that this very attitude of the Catholic Church placed me and the Church strongly on the side of the woman who bears children. Consequently, she wanted the forces of the Churches behind the movement for pre-natal and post-natal care. She even stated that she needed our approval. I further proposed to place at our service competent nurses or doctors to address groups of women and to the extent that we preferred to assist on the work ourselves, she wished to see all success.

Bishop Gibbons then tells how the Brady Maternity Hospital (City) courses have been given to prospective mothers in the Albany Diocese for the past 13 years, and that other means are taken to do what is necessary in such cases. He charges the Women League of Voters with being "utterly oblivious of the highest spiritual nature with which the Creator has endowed mankind" and asserts that "the League is advocating principles pagan in nature and degrading to woman and to society."

Bishop takes severely to task the Catholic members of the League, and he says no self-respecting, religious Catholic woman can rightly approve the tactics and ideas of the League. A zeal amounting to fanaticism, these birth-controlists, Bishop Gibbons says, and he says "Save" on Catholic women who, in the face of it all, still align themselves with the League of Women Voters.
