300 Hibernians At the Cathedral Sunday Morning

Approximately 300 Hibernians and members of their Ladies' Auxiliaries received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Sunday morning, their annual Communion Sunday.

The Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, celebrated the Mass and he preached a most eloquent sermon on the life and work of St. Patrick. He was heard with sincere appreciation by an unusually large congregation, many of them people of Irish birth or blood.

At Our Mother of Sorrows Church Sunday evening a large number of Hibernians and members of the Auxiliaries attended the special vesper service in honor of St. Patrick, in Our Mother of Sorrows Church, Mt. Read Boulevard. The church was packed to capacity. The Rev. Henry Mooney of Christ the King Church, Buffalo, preached a splendid sermon on "St. Patrick." His talk was an inspiration to the large congregation.

Benediction was given by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart, V.G., assisted by the Rev. Charles J. Brunton of St. Margaret Mary Church. Annual Party Easter Monday

The Hibernians voted not to hold any party this season on St. Patrick's Day, on account of Lent, but to hold their annual Hibernian dance on Easter Monday. Announcement will soon be made of the time and place of this party, and it will be an unusually big event.

Bell Unveiled at Ancient Mission Redlands, Calif., March 21.—People from all over the Southland, interested in the romantic days of California history, gathered here to witness the unveiling of the bell at the old Asistencia of Mission San Gabriel.

The bell, which was presented by the Rev. Juan Caballero, of Barcelona, Spain, formerly of St. Bernard's parish, was unveiled by one of the surviving Indians of the region here a few days ago.

Ground Broken For New School St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick's Day in Holy Cross parish, Charlotte section of the city, this year will not soon be forgotten. It was a great and memorable day in the parish, for the day ground was broken for the new $135,000 parish school—Holy Cross school. Work on the school will be pushed rapidly, and it is hoped to have it completed in time for use on the opening of the new school term next fall.

The first shovelful of earth was turned by the rector of the church, the Rev. Alexander McCabe, a zealous and devoted pastor. A goodly crowd of friends and parishioners assembled for the occasion.

The Hoffman Construction Co., C. W. Hoffman manager, has the general contract. This company has a splendid reputation as efficient and reliable builders, and they are proud of the Holy Cross school. They expect to have a fine school building when the work is completed.

Only Religion Has Answer to Riddle, Says Cardinal

There is no other answer to the meaning of suffering and "evils" than the answer of religion, declares His Eminence, William O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston. The skeptic and the cynic cannot understand the meaning of life, he says. They seem only whims of fate, he says. This is pointed out in a sermon by Cardinal O'Connell, particularly timely in the Lenten season, and reviewed by Rev. Joseph Fort Newton in McCall's Magazine for April.

"Pain, suffering, sorrow come to all, soon or late; to king and beggar alike, there is no escape. Often we feel impelled to cry out, Why is life at best a torture? Have I been created only to meet disappointment, poverty, sickness, pain, bereavement, death? Why am I doomed to all this? Is God merciful? Who allows me to be thus afflicted?"

"Religion alone has an answer to these bitter questions, written from our hearts in spite of ourselves. Of the benefit, the purpose, the necessity of pain, wretchedness, adversity, Christianity alone is eloquent. It alone explains; it alone knows the secret of suffering; it alone knows that what men call evils can be, and are meant to be, blessings from the hands of a merciful Father to enlighten and ennoble and elevate those who in prosperity forget the true end of life.

"The skeptic, the cynic, can understand the suicide who, too cowardly to face misfortune, ends his life with a bullet; but only a Christian can understand the heroism of the man who, seeing naught before him but adversity and sorrow, refuses to turn his back upon it, but meets it calmly.

"Men forget God; we run after baubles; we misread the meaning of life. Without pain, without sorrow we would neither desire nor seek the highest truths, which joy hides from us as sunlight hides the depths of the sky. But pain dignifies the dream and wakes us up. From being almost gods, swollen with vanity, we are brought to our proper place. We are taught humility, a sense of dependence, and the fact that our very breath is a gift of the Creator.

"While we live here below we are called upon to meet all misfortunes with Christian fortitude, not to rebel against life, but to accept it and, like a poor soldier, but in sickness as in health, in adversity as in poverty, in pain as in joy, to stand as Mary did, trusting God."

"Let Us Do Penance"

It is Lent, the time of penance. When on each and every day we should mortify our bodies, curb our passions, fast and pray.

Jesus suffered in the garden, that for sin He might atone. With His Sacred Heart uplifted, There, He suffered all alone.

Thrice the devil tried to tempt Him. Asked Him to make bread of stone. Then the Angels came unto Him; He no longer was alone.

So, we too, throughout this season, On each day should fast and pray. Let us not let Satan tempt us, Let's keep him from our way.

We have sinned, so let's be striving For our sins to now atone. Let us see to it that Jesus Does not fast and pray alone.

—John A. Twamley.

Vestments On Fire, Coolness of Priest Prevents a Panic

Franklin, N. H., March 21.—The vestments of the Rev. John Brophy, rector of St. Paul's Church in this village, caught fire from a lighted candle last week when he was celebrating Mass at a Forty-Hours' devotion.

A number of women caught up their children and started to rush from the church. But Father Brophy turned towards his people and continued to sing the Mass, while an altar boy tore the burning vestments off his back. Another priest quelled the panic, and with the first out, Father Brophy continued the Mass.

The Lay Apostolate

"We greatly appreciate hearing the Sodalist's views and accounts of their accomplishments concerning the 'Liturgy'; we hope we shall receive as vital a response to the other topic, 'Apostolate Work.' Perhaps the greatest team for Catholic action, Apostolate Work, would tend to lead our boys and girls to bigger and better undertakings.

"One big movement to further our accomplishments is Catechetical instruction. The benefit to children in city parishes which do not have parochial schools, and in country parishes, would be prodigious if the Catechetical classes were taught by young people who have the knowledge, ability, and enthusiasm to correctly elucidate the rudiments and principles of our Religion—subject always to the direction of the pastor. Surely the courses which we are pursuing in Religion are more than adequate to insure success to each one of our workers who conscientiously accept the task.

"Some time ago our College added a course to the usual Apologetic curriculum which would give the students the necessary methods for teaching Catechism. However, the opportunity for this work is not restricted to the ordinary Sunday School classes—we must be constantly ready to help the common cause by correctly informing people when they ask questions about Catholic faith and practices. We must also be ready to defend the Church's position against attack on any subject. We must remember always that the principles that are almost second nature to us have not been brought before the minds of these people who ask such questions in good faith. Each one should be prepared to meet these questions with ready and sure knowledge, and be able to give a perfectly clear explanation of the point. If we are not sure of our own knowledge on the matter, we must honestly say so and assure the party that we will be glad to look up the matter and talk to him or her again. Our attitude should invite questions of this sort from associates in our social groups, or those with whom we have business relations.

Andrew J. Staley, Vaudeville Actor, Buried on Tuesday

An old-time and very popular vaudeville actor—Andrew J. Staley—was buried from Holy Redeemer Church on Tuesday morning. He died in Strong Memorial Hospital on Sunday morning.

Mr. Staley was born here 57 years ago, was educated in Holy Redeemer School, joined his brother, Cass Staley, in a vaudeville act, "The Musical Blacksmiths," a skit that was a headliner for years. The brothers toured all European countries with this act, went to parts of Africa, and then Cass came back to America and Andrew put on a new musical act in Europe, "The Musical Coopers." He was in England when the World War broke out, and he had to remain there until its close. He then came to America and appeared in vaudeville in the principal theaters in the West. Finally, he came back to Rochester, and for the past two years had been an inspector in the City Bureau of Buildings.

Mr. Staley is survived by his widow, Beatrice Minges-Staley; one sister, Mrs. George Minges, 33 Alexander Street, from whose home the funeral was held; two brothers, Cass and Richard F. Staley of Rochester. Many friends were present at his funeral, and sincere tribute was paid to him.

Lecture Society Planned

"Nazareth College is forming a lecture society which is to prepare students to speak on important topics before meetings of Catholic men and women. Since we will be applying for membership to Catholic men's and women's clubs in the future, it seems most fitting that our college students be prepared to participate efficiently in the work of such clubs.

"May we not look to each member of the S. S. C. to conduct himself and herself in a way that is characteristic of a cultured, refined, intelligent, Catholic student? No one ever helps to elevate the ideals of a community any higher than his own standards. If we are to, and we must, establish and promote commendable lines of conduct, let each of us be a true example of these principles. I believe every one will agree that a certain amount of recreational activities is necessary for young people. These activities that are of our own planning, and in which we ourselves participate, should bear the stamp of the principles of life that we recognize as right. This will not lessen our pleasures, but will add to the real enjoyment of them, for the right kind of recreation brings the approval of our judgment, of our taste and of our conscience, and adds to the sum total of our happiness. While our very example in this matter will have an influence upon the social conduct of others, we can establish good models in every phase of life.

The Rosary Campaign
"No doubt every one here is interested in the Rosary Campaign. Last year it was proposed that students secure as many promises as possible from families that they would say the Rosary daily in a body. Some 4,000 promises were secured to say it for half a year, and 60,000 individuals pledged to say it daily for a whole year. Shall we continue the work of that campaign? Why not?

"The reports from the Mission Societies were most encouraging at the last convention—we trust that the splendid work and interest are continuing.

"I am sure we will appreciate any suggestions that may be offered on any of the various topics under Apostolate Work."

St. Ann's Home Will Soon Have A New Infirmary

Ground was broken on Wednesday this week for a new $100,000 annex to St. Ann's Home, on Lake Avenue. The building, 43 by 116 feet, will be used as an infirmary. It will have 46 beds, a service room and sun porch for convalescents, and offices for physicians and nurses.

The Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, broke ground for the new building, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Emmett M. Walsh, D.D., Bishop of Charleston, S. C.; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart, V.G.; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Andrew B. Meehan, of St. Bernard's Seminary; Rev. John P. Hogan, Chaplain at the home, and Rev. Charles R. Reynolds, vice chancellor. It was a happy feature of the first anniversary of the consecration of Bishop O'Hern.

Rev. P. J. Gaffney Named Chaplain Of State School

The Rev. Paul J. Gaffney, assistant priest at Holy Rosary Church, has been appointed Catholic Chaplain at the State Industrial and Agricultural School, at Industry, N. Y., by the Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester. He succeeds the Rev. Dennis V. Lane, who has been granted a leave of absence because of ill health.

Father Gaffney is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Gaffney of 1340 St. Paul Street. He has been at Holy Rosary Church for some time, and is beloved by the people of that parish. He entered upon his new work on Tuesday this week.

Father Lane has been Chaplain at Industry for several years, and he has many friends who will hope for the restoration of his health.
