Father Dan's Column

Fritz Mahaney

(A Chapter by Rosemary Lander)
 The celebrated writer Fritz Mahaney has the mumps. We are not particularly sorry, as the mumps is the only thing that can stop his bragging. Besides, it gives somebody else a chance to be heard. This week I have taken over the burden of writing a story for the readers of Father Dan's column; and it is going to be a high-class mission story. So listen to my gentle readers, and if you have any lemon juice or anything else that is good for mumps, please forward without delay to the Honorable Fritz Mahaney, leading citizen of Danville, N. Y.

The recitation of her Rosary. "Now what will be my intention to-day?" she thought, as she squeezed the well-worn beads in her fingers. Presently there was a crash—the sound of a baseball bat meeting a baseball squarely "on the nose". This was followed almost instantly by another crash—the sound made by the same baseball passing through the plate glass in the back door of the school. Sister was conscious of a red head moving rapidly past her window, and everybody is invited to help, whether by purchasing articles, or donating them.

A Small Boy in Trouble
 "Ah," she exclaimed, "I know what my intention will be. Dear Blessed Mother I offer this first decade for a small boy in serious trouble." Good Sister Joseph did not specify the unlucky Master Killy, nor any other small boy in particular. We know she loves the missions, and we wonder if her prayers were heard far off in circumstances very much like these.

Francis Lan, 14-year-old Chinese boy, squatted in blue pajamas at the doorway of a mud hut, not far from the hut that was occupied by the aged missionary, Father Stephen himself. It was just as well that his pitiful legs were bent crosswise, and that a kindly plantain leaf shaded his face, as he was not a whole boy, or as healthy as boys go. He was leper, suffering from that dreadful disease which means certain death, and death on the installment plan.

Five years ago he had been a happy, dark-eyed, pigtailed server at Father Andrew's Mass back in the big city of Canton, and deep down in the clear well of his heart there had been bubbling desires that some day he also might have pigtailed altar boys serving him. He had whispered these secrets to bent old Father Andrew, to his mother, and to God's Mother. Father Andrew had encouraged him and promised to send him to the seminary at Maryknoll in far-off America. Then the dreadful thing happened. In one of the narrow alley-ways of swarming Canton a leper had touched him. Then had come the first, faint flush in his yellow cheek, and Father Andrew had broken down more than the boy himself when the dear old missionary had to take him to the hospital town, the town where everybody was sick, and leave him in the company of other boys doomed to pay the penalty of slow death.

The Lovely Hills of America
 Thoughts of Maryknoll, and the lovely hills of America, and what might have been were brimming his shamed eyes as he squatted there in the dust and the hot shade—a useless, malingering creature. Then, suddenly, like the sun out of the East

An appeal for books suitable for St. Andrew's Seminary library, or for money with which to purchase the books, has just been made by the Rev. Francis Luddy, president of the Seminary. Father Luddy will be glad to talk with prospective donors about the books, if they will call him at the Seminary, Main 1244. The library is badly in need of new books, and it is hoped that many donations will be received.

Women Workers Have New Hotel With Low Rates

New York, March 28.—The new City Federation Hotel, erected by the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, to provide a home for working women of limited means, at 442-445 West 22d Street, has just been dedicated here. The hotel, which has seventy rooms, will provide room and board for 100 women at the rate of $7.50 a week. To symbolize the spirit of unity in which the hotel is to be conducted, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish ministers were invited to bless the project.

Mrs. John P. Chidwick, pastor of St. Agnes's Church, declared that in giving shelter to young women, regardless of their religion, beliefs and occupations, the women of the federation have lived up to the true American spirit.

Dr. Edward H. Emmett, pastor of the Manhattan Congregational Church, expressed a hope that other groups soon would follow the example set by the federation and provide more such homes for workers.

Dr. Nathan Stein, rabbi of the West End Synagogue, lauded the spirit and perseverance of the women who worked for twenty-five years to make their vision a reality.

Mrs. William Dick Spörberg, who presided, paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Clarence Burns who started the hotel project twenty-five years ago after she found a young woman crying upon a bench in a city park because she could not earn money enough for decent lodging, food and clothing.

PERSONALS
 The Rev. Edward Dwyer, pastor of St. Ann's Church, Palmyra, is seriously ill at the home of his brother, Patrick Dwyer, 45 Lake View Park.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Zimmer, of 262 Birr Street, in the death last week of their daughter, Dorothy Frances, aged five years and eight months. The funeral was held Friday morning in Holy Rosary Church, and many friends were present. Besides the parents, one brother survives, Harold E., Jr.

Police Stop Film On Birth Control In Elizabeth, N. J.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 28.—The police dispersed a crowd of 500, mostly women and girls, in front of the State Theatre here last Friday and prohibited the theatre management from showing "No More Children," a birth control picture.

City Attorney James R. Nugent served notice on the management several hours before the picture was scheduled to be shown that the police patrol would be called and arrests made if the picture was presented. About an hour before the doors were scheduled to open, a large crowd gathered in front of the theatre. The police, dispersing the crowd, told the prospective patrons that the picture would not be shown. A police detail was then stationed at the theatre.

The theatre management announced that an injunction would be sought to restrain the police from interfering with the showing of the picture.

Fine New Auto Given to Bishop By His Friends

A fine new seven-passenger Packard automobile, equipped to the latest modern detail, was presented to the Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hara, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, by a group of friends on the occasion of the first anniversary of his consecration, celebrated last week. The presentation was made by Frank J. Smith, who, with Bishop O'Hara, had contributed for the car were made by men and women of the city of every race and creed.

In expressing his appreciation of the splendid gift, Bishop O'Hara said: "A little over a year ago on receipt of the cablegram from Rome, announcing the appointment of a new Bishop for Rochester, I stated that among all the cities and municipalities of our great country I felt that Rochester came first as a city of homes, education, and culture, of religious activity and of industrial and civic enterprise. Consequently, it is a city in which one is glad to live, and in which happiness is found in working for and with our fellow men. It is a city in which the community spirit is found to a greater degree, perhaps, than in many cities of its size, or even larger, throughout the land. On that occasion the new Bishop hoped and prayed that a genuine spirit of brotherhood, good-fellowship, co-operation and charity would exist and grow stronger with the coming years between Catholic and non-Catholic and the splendid body of Jewish people with which Rochester is blessed."

Friendly Spirit Realized
 "Now, after a period of 12 months, I can honestly say that these predictions, this wish, has been fully realized in my own case, and I wish to take this occasion publicly to thank the hosts of friends of all nationalities and of all creeds for the many evidences of kindness and good will manifested towards me personally within the past 48 hours, as also within the past 12 months. As it would be quite impossible to reach so many well-wishers by personal note, I am glad to make use of the press of Rochester to express my gratitude and thanks not only to the splendid body of men represented by this committee today and their magnificent gift of a motor car, but also to my neighbors and friends on East Avenue to the members of the various civic and welfare boards of which was made on the eventful Catholic and Jewish public, as well as to the clergy and laity of the Catholic Church.

"Finally, I repeat the pledge which was made on the eventful 19th of March a year ago, and renewed in the solemn services of last Wednesday, namely, to serve the clergy and laity of the diocese and all my brethren, non-Catholic, Jewish, and Catholic, poor and rich, young and old, particularly the aged, the sick, and the dying. With these thoughts, and in this spirit I thank God for the past year and enter upon the second one with courage, hope and enthusiasm."

Elinor Smith Wins World's Altitude Record for Women

Freeport, L. I., March 28.—Miss Elinor Smith, who on March 10 was credited with establishing an unofficial altitude record for women of between 30,000 and 32,000 feet at Roosevelt Field, was notified by the Bureau of Standards in Washington this week that her actual height, as recorded on the barograph was 27,413 feet.
