Six Thousand Policemen Attend Annual Mass Sunday In St. Patrick's Cathedral

New York, April 11.—Six thousand New York City policemen attended the annual Communion Mass of the Police Department Holy Name Society in St. Patrick's Cathedral Sunday morning. Cardinal Hayes was celebrant of the Mass, and the entire body of police received Holy Communion in a body. The service was followed by a Communion Breakfast in the Hotel Astor.

In going to the Cathedral for the Mass the 8,000 policemen paraded from Madison Avenue and 51st Street, headed by the highest ranking officers of the department. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of the Cathedral, preached the sermon of the Mass, praised the work and the fidelity of the officers and said their presence in a body at a service of this kind was "an inspiration of the sort that leads to better things."

The Rev. Joseph A. McCaffrey, chaplain of the Police Holy Name Society, presided at the Communion Breakfast. He said the moral development of the men was the most important element of the department.

Other speakers included Commissioner Whalen of the Police Department, Aldermanic President Mc Kee, Rev. John F. White and Very Rev. John H. Healy. All paid fine tribute to the police department.

Commissioner Whalen reviewed the work of the department during the past year and called upon those present to stand in silent tribute to the memory of twelve patrolmen and one probationary patrolman who lost their lives in the line of duty.

"These men," he said, "have demonstrated the fact that every man in the department stands prepared to make the supreme sacrifice if need be."

"His Cross and My Cross"

My Savior bore a heavy cross, As Calvary's way He trod. Oh! what a shameful way to treat My kind and loving God!

My sins upon His shoulders placed That heavy cross of wood; Perhaps I could have saved Him this.

In fact, I know I could And here and now I do resolve, For His death to atone; Each day I'll bear my cross for Him, And bear it all alone.

My cross is very light, indeed, Compared with what He bore, When on His way up Calvary's hill, While a crown of thorns He wore.

Lord, grant me strength to bear each day My cross, nor lay it down; But may I bear it until death— Then change it for a crown.

—John A. Twamley

Walked 106 Miles To Get Needed Relief From Missionaries

"We thank you for your kind interest in our work in sending us the bandages. They will be most useful to our missionaries in primitive countries, where there are no hospitals, doctors or drug stores for very great distances. We received a letter from a Sister in China saying that the natives will walk a hundred miles, when they are able, to get relief from their sufferings. Another Sister, baptized thirty-six days before in this country, in some of their dispensaries, they have to wash and re-wash the bandages many times because of the shortage, and what you have sent will be a great help.

Through their medical ministrations the missionaries can save the lives of thousands and bring them into the Church and you will have a share in their grateful prayers for all who help the Medical Missions."

From a letter received by the Catholic Women's Club, acknowledging the receipt of bandages made by the St. Elizabeth Sewing Circle and sent to the Catholic Medical Mission Board.

Thousands Visit Father Power's Grave In Malden Cemetery

a crowd congregated at the site of the old grave of Father Power and began scooping up the dirt, was it necessary for the officers to interfere.

Crutches and Braces Removed
Last fall the mortuary chapel in the cemetery contained a large number of crutches and braces left at the grave of Father Power by persons reputed to have been miraculously cured of injuries or ailments. All of these have been removed.

The excellent publicity given to reports cured by the newspapers last fall brought about a flood of pilgrimages to the grave of Father Power, causing much suffering to many cripples and invalids. Cardinal O'Connell is anxious that this be avoided in the future, and special care will be taken to prevent it.

A Solemn Procession
The solemn procession of sick and crippled, which began anew Sunday past the newly-erected tomb of the Rev. Patrick Power in Holy Cross Cemetery, was continued Monday with the arrival of a party of pilgrims from Pennsylvania.

The visitors refused to reveal their identity, but admitted that they had brought a 13-year-old girl by automobile from the Keystone State to the Power grave in the hope that the visit might effect a cure of a nervous disease.

Marie Cairns, 14 years old, of Providence, who said that her paralyzed leg was helped at her grave in November, returned to make a grateful thank-offering at the grave.

Warning by Cardinal
His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell has issued the following public statement to the priests and people of the Archdiocese:

"The faithful are warned that medals of the Rev. Patrick J. Power and reliquaries purporting to contain earth from Father Power's grave are being distributed for sale. This has received no official sanction, and the faithful are hereby requested to discourage such commercialism which is offensive to Catholic sentiment and which will serve only to hurt the cause."
