Men of Inventive Mind Belong to All Nations

Answering an inquiry as to the names and nationalities of the inventors or discoverers of the steamship, locomotive, telephone, printing press, automobile, radio, airplane, airship, electricity, electric light, television, the Detroit News says: As many of these inventions are the results of years of development by numerous workers rather than of one inventor, we can give only the name of the inventor of the first practical device. Steamship, Robert Fulton, United States; locomotive, George Stephenson, English; telephone, Alexander Graham Bell, Scottish inventor living in America; printing press, attributed to Johann Gutenberg, German, though printing presses were probably used first in China centuries before; automobile, Carl Benz and Gottlieb Daimler, Germans; radio, Guglielmo Marconi, Italian (wireless telegraphy); Valdemar Poulsen, Danish, Dr. Lee De Forest, United States, and others; airplane, Orville and Wilbur Wright, United States; airship, Henri Giffard, French, A. Santos-Dumont, Brazilian, and Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, German; electric light (incandescent), Thomas A. Edison, United States, and Joseph W. Swan, English; television, John L. Baird, Scottish.

Wonderful Organ

Before the completion of the Morkens tubercule, in the early 60s, the organ began to supersede the building of an organ for the temple. The first organ was built in the hills around Parowan, Utah, in 1855. The pipes were made of buffalo horns and buffalo skins. In 1885 the first pipe organ was built in 1885 by Kimball & Co. It now is a masterpiece of art and science.

Even the Humblest Can Make the World Brighter

As I sit writing in my study, the radio downstairs is bringing a splendid concert through the air from more than 1,000 miles away. I hear the sound of an airplane overhead. It is carrying the mail 100 miles an hour across the continent. An automobile dashes up to the door and delivers the purchase made from a store less than an hour ago. Today was clean-up day in the home; the vacuum cleaner was going and the dirt disappeared as if by magic. The telephone bell rings; it may be a friend nearby or a long distance call from clear across the nation. The shadows lengthen; I press a button and the room is flooded with light. What are you and I doing to deserve all this? Frank G. Moorhead asks, in the Farm Journal. Do something for somebody else, and find out how honest and useful you are, after all. If nothing else, try saying "Good morning" cheerfully to everybody you meet. That's a long way from flying an airplane with the night mail. But it may do somebody a world of good. The best way you could possibly repay Thomas A. Edison, or Lee de Forest, or the Wright boys, or Alexander Graham Bell, or Cyrus McCormick, would be to be kind to somebody else, to give him a lift in life, to make things easier and better and brighter for everybody else. Reduced to essentials, that's all they did!

Fishermen Use Electricity

Electrocuting hooked fish too big to be readily pulled into the boat is a new system used by fishermen along the 100-pound and larger tuna fish of the Mexican coast. The boat is equipped with a 110-volt direct electric current. At one side of the circuit is a small steel plate, which is thrown into the water. The other side of the circuit is carried to the steel hook through a small insulated wire. Once the fish is hooked, a switch is closed, sending sufficient current to stun it. The catch ceases struggling and is easily pulled into the boat.—Capper's Weekly.

Seemingly, Citizens of New Orleans Live Well

But in New Orleans! Here you find no one dish, but an array that finds years of varied delight. The oysters of Bayou Cook and Four Bayous. The lake shrimp and the river shrimp, those last they ones boiled with the pepper. The pompano, the Spanish mackerel, the redfish, the green trout. The flounder, the court-broiled and the jambalaya. The beausine, served au bord du lac. The penitence, served chasseur. The carand, either with boiled turnips or roasted rare so the blood runs as you cut the breast. The tender, delicate creole lettuce; the blushing, gentle tomato. Chives and shallots; romaine and endive. Frog legs that thrill you as never the legs of the chorus could thrill. More ways of cooking a chicken than there are chickens. And coffee such as Petronius and Lucullus and Epicurus would have drunk had they known how to drip it.
