K. C. Singers To Give Concert On May 19th

The Knights of Columbus Choral Society will give its 11th annual concert in the auditorium of the Columbus Civic Center on Monday evening, May 19, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. An excellent program, well varied, will be presented, and it will embrace numbers that will appeal in a particular manner to lovers of good music properly interpreted.

The members of the society began rehearsals in November, and they have been conducted faithfully every week since that time, under the direction of Prof. Frederick C. Pohl, who will direct the concert.

The program will include both popular and classical pieces. Several a capella numbers will be presented.

A handsome souvenir program will be distributed. After the concert a reception and social hour, including dancing, will be conducted to which all who attend the concert are invited.

The K. of C. Choral Society long ago won a well-established place for itself in music circles in Rochester. Its concerts are always open to the general public, and all music lovers are invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained at the Columbus Building in advance of the concert, or at the box-office on the evening of the concert. The price is a moderate one.

Definite Suggestions Given for Schools to Teach Religion During Vacation

Washington, D. C., May 9. At the annual meeting, held here recently, of the Superintendents' Section of the National Catholic Educational Association, the Rev. Dr. Edwin V. O'Hara, Director of the N. C. W. C. Rural Life Bureau, gave the following definite suggestions to the superintendents in conducting religious vacation schools.

First, the Catholic children who are attending the public schools can be assembled for intensive religious work during the forenoon for a month during the summer.

Second, the Diocesan Superintendent should report the systematic religious education work of the Diocese, giving the number of pupils and teachers engaged and the location of the school.

Third, that the Diocesan Superintendent prepare the program and course of study in his Diocese.

Fourth, the certification of teachers for the Vacation School should be in the hands of the Diocesan Superintendent's office.

Fifth, the burden of organizing Vacation Schools cannot be borne permanently by the office of the Diocesan Superintendent. Responsibility for this work must, of course, rest finally upon the local Pastor.

Religion in the Home

Rev. Richard J. Quinn, Diocesan Superintendent of Boston, in his paper "Religion in the Home," said:

"Religious education in the home does not consist merely in teaching a child to repeat his prayers, to commit to memory the question of the catechism and occasionally to approach the sacraments. These things are indeed necessary, but religious teaching means far more than this. Genuine religious education means to form in the child those habits of mind, heart and will which will induce him to lead the life of one who appreciates his surpassing dignity as a child of God and an heir of Heaven."

The Rev. Richard J. Quinn, Diocesan Superintendent of Schools in the Archdiocese of Boston, was elected Chairman of the Superintendents' Section.

The Rev. D. F. Cunningham, Superintendent of Schools in the Archdiocese of Chicago, was elected secretary, and the Rev. J. H. Ostwick, Superintendent of Schools in the Diocese of Omaha, was chosen editor.

Resolutions adopted by the meeting pledged "our loyalty and adhesion" to Pope Pius XI's Encyclical on the Christian Education of Youth. The Encyclical was described as commendable and important, and the Section further pledged its efforts to the realization of its principles "in the spheres of our respective responsibilities" and resolved to "impress the desirability of a still greater familiarity with its contents."

Major Problem Stated

In another resolution the Section reaffirmed the Catholic position that correct religious instruction is "the soul of genuine education," and noting that modern trends have tended to obscure this fact, declared that the Superintendents' Section go on record as formally exploring any tendency which would regard religious instruction as merely another subject added to the curriculum.

The Section further resolved that it "advocate a view of Catholic education which coordinates the natural and supernatural orders, and assures the correct education of the heart together with the mind by a scientific application of those principles which will make religion in practice pervade the entire school curriculum and all life."

This resolution concluded with the declaration that the Section "regard the discovery of the correct application of these principles to efficient character building through more intensive attention to methods, texts and effective correlation as the major problem of Catholic Education in America today."

Summer Course In Parish Work At Notre Dame U.

Notre Dame, May 9.—Pastoral Sociology, a program of courses in parish activities inaugurated at the University of Notre Dame last year, will be repeated in the Summer Session this year. This six-week program, which is believed to be the only one of its kind offered by any Catholic educational institution, is designed to supplement the training which candidates for the priesthood receive in the seminaries. It is open only to priests and advanced seminarists.

The four courses, along with the instructors, are as follows: "Parish Recreation," Raymond Hoyer, A.M., Knight of Columbus Professor of Boy Guidance at Notre Dame; "The Country Parish," Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara, L.L.D., Director of the N. C. W. C. Rural Life Bureau; "Charity, Social Problems, and Social Work," Rev. Francis P. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., Ph.D., Department of Sociology, Notre Dame; "The Catholic Director of schools," to be announced.

Club President Makes a Report Of Year's Work

Mrs. Frank T. Martin, retiring President of the Catholic Women's Club, in her annual report to that club reviews the work of the past year. Outstanding events of the year included the opening of the beautiful new home of the club at 215 Alexander Street, the formation of Girl Scout Troop, splendid work at Camp Madonna, the summer camp conducted by the club for Catholic girls, the presentation of $10,000 to the club by Mr. Thomas W. Fumane and the contributing of $3,200 by the members toward the fund for the new home.

Social events included a monthly annual dinner, a successful lawn party, a well-attended excursion to Colonus, a number of popular card parties, a Christmas party, etc.

Educational and welfare work included four supper meetings, with talks by the Rev. James M. Galis, C.S.P., and Mrs. Josephine McGowan. Five lectures on "Current Topics and Book Reviews" by the Rev. Eugene Golding, Mrs. M. S. McMahon and Miss Mary McCarthy, a successful study club, under the direction of Mrs. G. W. O'Grady, with talks by Rev. Eugene Golding, Rev. Charles Reynolds and Mrs. John J. Sobie; the presentation of three one-act plays by the author, Mrs. John Reagan; a public speaking class organized by Mrs. Gracie Hughes-Furlong, with Mrs. John J. Sobie as teacher; classes in French, with Miss Anne T. Cummins as teacher; caring for girl immigrants, in co-operation with the St. Francis Charitable Society; and a great deal of charitable work under the direction of Miss Cecelia M. Yawman; a splendid concert by the Club Chorus, with Mrs. Joseph H. Eilers as chairman and Mr. Theodore Elch of the Eastman School of Music as director, and a great deal of good work for the children at Julia.

The club house was completely redecorated under the direction of a committee headed by Mrs. A. B. Herbert, assisted by Mrs. M. H. Keogh, Mrs. T. F. McNamara, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mrs. J. F. Sprout, Mrs. E. J. Forristal.

The fourth annual retreat of the club, with Miss Katherine Wilson, born and Miss Mary Busite in charge, was a great success. Splendid work was done by the Big Sisters, with Mrs. H. G. Faulkner as chairman; the Mission Group, with Miss Mary Louise Galligan as chairman; the volunteer Motor Service, with Miss Cecelia M. Yawman as chairman; the Bowling Club, with Miss Josephine Bonner as chairman.

An outstanding event was the bringing of the pictures "The Sacred Love Story of the Mass" to the Columbus Civic Center Auditorium. These pictures attracted the largest crowd ever assembled in the Auditorium.

All in all, the year was one of unusual activity, rich in good work, and with splendid results obtained in all departments. The Catholic Women's Club is notable for outstanding worth-while accomplishments, and its membership should be and is proud of its stability, its energy and its undertakings. Miss Martin retires from the Presidency of the Club with the good will and good wishes of all officers and members, happy in the fact that her year of hard labor and of many sacrifices was fruitful of good results. She is succeeded by Miss Alice Kier, who begins her administration with auspicious conditions in every department of the Club.

More Money Is Spent For Education Than Ever Before In the History of Man

Washington, May 9. A stirring talk on "The Papal Encyclical on Education" was given before the regular meeting of the National Catholic Educational Federation in this city by the Rev. Dr. Coleman Nevils, S. J., President of Georgetown University.

According to "more money is spent and more said and done in the name of education than ever before in the history of man," Father Nevils said that "it is no wonder then that the Holy Father should turn to this living problem and with all authority give warnings of danger and explain the one true and only education that means success in its highest sense."

A Beacon Light

"In an epoch-making document," he continued, "a beacon light in the course of civilization, he has embodied the fundamental principles of all education earthward, with an explicit purpose of its nature, its importance, its excellence. Herein too are defined with all practicality means whereby harmony may be established between the rights of the Church, the rights of the family, the rights of the State."

"Some of our institutions offer so-called 'orientation' courses for entrants into college or high school; we should regard this encyclical as an orientation course for masters, administrators and commoners. It aims at complete education for man as a whole, for body and soul, for work as well as intellect, for morality as well as intelligence."

THE KITCHEN CABINET (Ch. 1929, Western Newspaper Union.) An easy thing, O Power Divine To thank thee for these gifts of thine: For summer's sunshine, winter's snow, For hearts that kindle, thoughts that glow, But when shall I attain to this— To thank thee for the things I miss! —Thomas Wentworth Higginson. GOOD THINGS Rhubarb is one of our good spring fruits—as it is generally termed a fruit and treated as such. A simple pudding which is very easy to prepare may be made with a cupful or less of stewed rhubarb as follows: Rhubarb Pudding.—Take one cupful of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder, a pinch of salt and add enough milk to make a batter not too soft. Grease cups with butter and drop a spoonful of the batter into each, add a generous amount of the stewed rhubarb and cover with more batter, leaving plenty of room for the mixture to rise. Place the cups in boiling water not too deep to boil over into them, cover closely and steam 15 minutes. This recipe will make four to six puddings depending upon the size of the pudding cup used. The pudding may be served with cream and sugar or with: Foamy Sauce.—Take two-thirds of a cupful of rhubarb juice, two egg whites, one cupful of sugar. Boil the sugar and the juice until it spins a thread, then pour over the stiffly beaten whites and beat until smooth and thick. Rhubarb Sponge.—Scald one cupful of milk with one-third of a cupful of sugar, add two tablespoonfuls of gelatin which has been softened in one-fourth cupful of water. Stir until the gelatin is well dissolved, then set away to stiffen. Beat well when it begins to thicken and fold in one cupful of rhubarb sauce and two stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a mold and set away to chill. Serve with cream. Rhubarb unpeeled, baked with sugar, makes a most delicious sauce. Used in place of apples for Brown Betty, it is also good. A rhubarb shortcake makes a fine dessert, so use it freely while it is fresh and tender.
