Marble Altar Dedicated, Silver Jubilee Celebrated, St. Mary's, Canandaigua

dedicated by Dr. Cheney and a Mr. Drake. The early congregation consisted of only about 20 or 24 families, and a few young people took part in the religious services.

Rectory and School Built

In 1847 Rev. Edmund O'Connor took charge of St. Mary's and remained for nine years. He doubled the church in size, building a rectory and school, and purchased the old part of St. Mary's Cemetery. The cost of the land for the first church was $550, and for the rectory $500. A third plot, consisting of 26 feet, and donated to Patrick Barry, was then transferred to the church. This deed shows record of October 16, 1849, to Rev. Bernard O'Reilly.

Rev. Charles D. McMillen succeeded Father O'Connor, and was pastor from January 17, 1858, to May 22, 1859. He, in turn, was succeeded by Rev. Michael Purcell, who came in 1859 and remained about two years. Rev. James M. Early next came, and also remained about two years, during which time he enlarged the church by building on a transept. This priest was appointed rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Rochester, and later St. Ann's Church in Hornell, where he died.

From 1862 to 1868, Rev. Joseph McKenna was in charge. He met with an accident during a sick call in which his knee was seriously injured, and which necessitated the sending of an assistant pastor, Rev. D. O'Brien.

Pastor for 32 Years

In 1869, the year after Bishop McQuaid's coming to Rochester, Rev. Dennis English was appointed pastor, and he remained for 32 years, dying in 1901. In 1873 he bought the Granger property at a cost of $20,000, and in 1880 built the school at a cost of $9,000. He celebrated the 40th anniversary of his ordination on June 28, 1898. On the occasion Rev. Edward J. Hanney, D.D., preached the sermon, and he is the only one alive who was present at this celebration 32 years ago. On the following day Father English had a celebration of the cent in his own home, and of the priests who were present Father Clancy, Father Nelligan and Father O'Leachin are the only ones surviving.

The Present Church Built

On the death of Father English in 1901, Rev. James T. Dougherty, pastor of St. James' Church, won, was appointed as pastor, and in a very short time he began to plan for a new church. That church is the one in which we are gathered today, the cornerstone of which was laid October 18, 1903. The beautiful new St. Mary's was dedicated on December 17, 1905; so that we are now actually celebrating its silver jubilee.

marked the diamond jubilee of the entrance of the Sisters of St. Joseph to the Diocese of Rochester when they took up their residence at St. Mary's Convent, Canandaigua, after coming from the Middle West.

"Such, in brief, is the history covering the parish of St. Mary's of Canandaigua from its foundation to the erection of the new church by the Rev. James T. Dougherty, the late lamented pastor.

New Altar a Memorial One

Today we are not only celebrating this silver jubilee, but also the consecration of the new altar, a memorial one erected to the memory of beloved Father Dougherty, and also the rededication and refiguring of this House of God by your beloved pastor, Father Michael Wall, who has succeeded the late Father William Davey of happy memory. As soon as Father Davey had been appointed the successor of Father Dougherty he set about providing a suitable memorial for his predecessor, and decided with his congregation that it should be a memorial high altar. He died before he realized the accomplishment of his plans, but left the money and the plans to be worked out by his successor. This memorial is both fitting and beautiful, and in keeping with this Temple of God, as is evident to everyone who is worshipping in this church today.

"The new altar is made of the finest marble, and of a design both rich and elegant. Its architecture and proportions are in keeping with the design of the church and blend themselves harmoniously to the beautiful sanctuary which it adorns.

Rochesterians Planning To Sail For Europe On 14th of May; Will Visit Several Countries And Oberammergau

Sunday afternoon, May 11, 1930 will witness a farewell celebration at the American Bazaar, 114 W. 4th Street, when a party of members of the club and Catholic parishioners of Holy Family Church will tender a farewell reception to their friends and relatives. Under the chairmanship of Michael Hemmerich, assisted by other members, a social time will be enjoyed. The First Regiment Band, under the direction of William C. Schwab, who have their headquarters and hold rehearsals at the club, will play a concert during the afternoon. Mr. Hemmerich, who is one of what of a musician himself, has promised to entertain with several popular horn solos. It is also expected that Mr. Hemmerich will participate on the trip with some of his favorite selections.

Joseph Hermann, manager of the club, has promised other forms of entertainment. He expects to play several accordion selections, and Mr. Miller has consented to render several tenor solos, reminiscent of the old days and the Budapest era.

The party leaving for Europe is composed of the following: Michael Hemmerich and daughter, Frances; George Miller, Frank Schmitz, Joseph Hoffmann, Francis Hoffman, Joseph Pich, and others.

The party will leave New York on Wednesday, May 14, and make a tour of five countries of Europe, taking in the principal scenes of interest and also the Passion Play at Oberammergau. They expect to be gone for about two months or longer.

St. Bonaventure Loses Three Buildings and Rare Treasures in Serious Fire

St. Bonaventure, May 9. On Monday afternoon this week fire destroyed three fine buildings at St. Bonaventure's College here and consumed famous paintings, centuries old, and rare books and parchments of the early and Middle Ages—treasures that can never be replaced. The damage is estimated at two million dollars, of which half a million is for the buildings. It is only partially covered by insurance. A short circuit on the fourth floor of the monastery is believed to have caused the fire, which was fanned into a fierce holocaust by a high wind.

The buildings destroyed were the monastery, the seminary and St. Bonaventure's Church. A new and costly marble altar had just been placed in the church, and the church was being decorated by a New York firm. The three buildings composed the central group on the campus, being arranged in the form of an open quadrangle, with the church in the center, the monastery at the west and the seminary at the east, all facing north on the state road, running west from Olean to Allegany. The structures were of brick, about 80 years old, the monastery and seminary being four stories in height.

The Very Rev. Thomas Plassmann, O.F.M., President of the college and seminary, said efforts will be made to rebuild the burned buildings as soon as possible. Father Plassmann was absent at the time of the fire. Students playing ball on the McCracken-Jennings field of the college discovered the flames and made heroic efforts to save the books, parchments and art treasures. These succeeded in saving vestments, chalices, etc. from the church, and many personal belongings of priests and seminarians.

Many Firemen Help

Salamanca and Olean fire fighting equipment was on the scene in a short time, but the water pressure was so low that the firemen fought under great handicap. The fire companies from the nearby villages of Bolivar, Cuba, Little Valley, Limestone, Portville, Allegany, Duke Center and Genes joined the battle when it was discovered apparatus from the two cities would be inadequate to cope with the situation.

No one was injured, although it was feared for a time that some of the students intent in saving belongings of the priests might be caught in the flames.

More than 10,000 people flocked to the scene from the countryside, some 2,000 cars being parked in the highway at one time. The fire was the largest in years in the vicinity of Olean.

The residence halls for collegians, Lunch and Doreux, were both untouched by the flames. Neither the classrooms nor laboratories were damaged.

St. Bonaventure's founded by the Order of Franciscans, has a registration of about 1,100 students.

There are many graduates of the college in Rochester and vicinity, and a number of students from this Diocese at the college. The fire burned from 3:30 to 6:30 P. M., before it was subdued.

All students have been sent home except those who are to receive their degrees, and the college closed for the year. Summer school sessions, however, will start soon after commencement.

The offices of Father Plassmann were in the burned structure and his personal effects as well as records of the institution dating back more than 80 years were a total loss. Father Plassmann said he lost manuscripts on which he had been working for more than 30 years.
