

Ground Broken for New Home of Sisters Mercy

The morning of the Fourth of July was broken for the new house of the Sisters of Mercy Blossom road, adjoining the site of Mercy High School. Present ceremonies were the Rt. Rev. Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop Rochester; the Most Rev. Thomas Hickey, D.D., Archbishop of New York; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James M. Hays, vicar general of the diocese; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael J. O'Hara, chancellor; Rev. John J. O'Connell, pastor of the church; Rev. John Sullivan, Rev. D. Rev. Alexander J. McCabe, Rev. John Muehle, Rev. George J. James Keenan, Rev. John J. Rev. Walter A. Feery, and William E. Brice, Sisters of Mercy and some of the laity.

The new building will form the unit of a group of buildings constructed later, to include a school and novices' quarters. The building will have 100 feet frontage, 83 feet in depth and will have a two-story main floor, a first floor for music rooms, guests and chaplain's quarters will be on the first floor of the building, the second floor will be the Sisters' community room, an infirmary, sewing and music rooms. The third floor will be on the second floor, with the fourth floor reserved for the novices. A large room is planned for the convent.

The new building will accommodate about 200 sisters and is expected to be ready for occupancy in a year. The present motherhouse of the order in St. John's is inadequate for the needs of the order.

Woman's Voice New Magazine For the C. D. A.

New York, July 11.—"Woman's Voice," the new national monthly magazine of the Catholic Daughters of America, has made its first appearance. The publication seems destined to take its place among recognized standard women's magazines of the country. "Woman's Voice" succeeds the old "Monthly Bulletin" of the Catholic Daughters, and combines many new and active features in art, literary, religious, educational, economic, scientific and recreational.

The new publication is edited under the direction of a Board of Right Rev. Bishop William J. Dwyer, D.D., of Raleigh, N. C.; Mr. Miss Mary C. Duffy, of Ark. N. J. Supreme Regent of Catholic Daughters of America; Edith M. O'Connell, Mrs. Mary F. O'Connell, New York City, Editor; Mrs. Helen P. Magner of Chicago, Associate Editor; Mrs. Helen P. Magner of Chicago, Associate Editor; Mrs. Helen P. Magner of Chicago, Associate Editor; Mrs. Helen P. Magner of Chicago, Associate Editor.

The magazine is the National Monthly magazine for American womanhood, Catholic and non-Catholic. That this is true for a National magazine is the consensus of literary critics who touch the pulse of the national needs and opportunities. "Woman's Voice" will reach the 100 members of the Catholic Daughters of America, and 35,000 members of the order, and will also bring a general subscription subscription, subscription and advertising offices have been established at the Catholic Daughters' national headquarters building, 10 West 71st Street, New York City. The Special Agents Departments are in charge of the magazine. Associate Editor Mrs. Helen P. Magner, P. O. Box No. 1223, Chicago, Ill.

$10,000 Bequest Will Be Received By Archbishop

The $10,000 bequest, provided in the will of the late John C. Caruana of this city, will be paid to the Most Rev. George J. Caruana of this city, Apostolic Delegate to the United States. This decision has been made down by Surrogate Joseph J. Caruana, before whom the matter was brought for a determination. Archbishop Caruana signed a receipt for the bequest some time ago from a consent right to another bequest in will, one of $1,000 to the College of the Holy Cross, and in so doing he unwittingly signed a receipt for his own bequest. Execution of the estate discovered this bequest. The bequest was made by Eugene J. Dwyer represented by bishop Caruana, and Frederick W. Mix, Charles J. Monda, and the Agnew interests. The estate of Judge Feely settles the matter now, and in favor of Archbishop Caruana.

Shrine of Tolerance Will Be Erected Where Klan Burned Fiery Cross

Crucifixion Towers, One Hundred Feet High, Will Dominate Shrine of Unusual Beauty and Significance.

Royal Oak, Mich., July 11.—Here, on the very spot where not long ago the Ku Klux Klan burned a fiery cross in protest against the erection of a small Catholic Church at Royal Oak, there is being erected now one of the most beautiful and significant shrines in the world—a Shrine of Tolerance.

The burning of the Klan Cross, carrying with it the implication of bigotry, intolerance and lawlessness, inspired the pastor of the small Catholic Church, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, to erect the Shrine of Tolerance. The funds for the shrine are made possible by the widespread donations which are being sent to Father Coughlin in appreciation of his splendid radio talks on tolerance and on the beauty and truth of the Catholic Faith.

Erected Near Detroit

The shrine is being erected just outside of Detroit on Woodward Avenue, a 400-foot highway that connects Detroit with Flint and Pontiac. The tower will be flood-lighted at night and from its top a million-watt beacon will shine into the sky, making the shrine visible within a radius of many miles. The tower will be about 100 feet high, and is being constructed of carved limestone. It will cost about $250,000 and probably will be completed in September. Henry J. McGill of 415 Lexington Avenue, New York, is the architect. He was assisted in developing his ideas by Talbot F. Hamlin.

Little Flower Shrine

The shrine is being erected by the first parish formed in the name of St. Theresa of Lisieux, "The Little Flower," since her canonization in 1925. The original church, a small frame structure, seating about 400 persons, has been moved to the rear of the tower, to be preserved as a shrine of the Little Flower. Father Coughlin is the head of the National League of the Little Flower.

Soon after the erection of the church three years ago, Father Coughlin began to broadcast from local radio stations. His invisible audience grew rapidly. Today he broadcasts over a nation-wide radio network. Although only thirty-two families are in his parish, it is estimated that he now has an invisible radio parish of 7,000,000 persons. He receives about 14,000 letters from his radio auditors each week.

Generous Donations

To answer this mail, he employs a staff of secretaries and stenographers, uses mailing and mimeograph machines and prints thousands of copies of his own magazine. Although he never solicits contributions over the radio, the contributions that pour in—more than paid the cost of broadcasting and made possible the building of the tower.

Cull China Fixtures Are Marked as Such

With the increasing use in the home of plumbing fixtures made of vitreous china, the grading rules which have been adopted by the industry in conjunction with the Bureau of Standards of the United States Department of Commerce should be of interest to builders.

All vitreous china plumbing fixtures such as water closet bowls, water closet tanks, lavatories, drinking fountains, dental lavatories, bidets, etc., are classified into two grades—regular selection and culls.

Ware which grades below regular selection is a cull and the rules of the industry provide that every cull shall be plainly marked with two parallel lines cut through the glaze into the body of the ware, and that these cuts shall be filled with a bright red enamel or coloring.

The cull marks for water closet bowls will be found on the back of the bowl near the top. The cull marks for lavatories are marked on the inside near the top. The cull marks for bidets are marked on the side of the bowl.

Further to prevent any possibility of deception, every manufacturer places two splashes of red in a conspicuous place on the crate containing the cull. These marks do not mean that the ware is insanitary or defective, but indicate a difference in grading based on the number of unavoidable defects.

Galvanized Iron Needs Coating of Red Lead

If the galvanized iron has been exposed to the weather six months or more it needs no previous treatment before painting. New galvanized iron, however, should be given a good wash before applying any paint. The first coat of paint should be red lead, which is said to be the best iron protective material for all exposed iron surfaces. Over this coat of red lead paint, a white lead paint may be applied in sufficient number of coats to cover the bright red color. Generally, two coats of white lead paint will do this. The white lead can be tinted to any color desired.

Father Hanna To Celebrate Mass Sunday

The Rev. Clark B. Hanna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Hanna of 59 Wellington Avenue, will celebrate his first solemn high Mass in St. Augustine's Church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, June 13, and a cordial invitation is extended to all friends, as well as to all members of the parish, to attend.

Sunday afternoon a reception will be held at the Hanna home from 3 to 5 P. M. Friends are invited to call. Father Hanna will arrive home from Europe on Saturday evening. He was ordained in the private chapel of the North American College, Vatican City, on February 15 last by his uncle the Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, Archbishop of San Francisco. He will be assigned to duty in the Diocese of Rochester. He has been a student at the North American College, Vatican City, for the past six years, going there after he completed a preparatory course in St. Andrew's Seminary here.

At the Mass Sunday a number of priests will be present, and the members of his immediate family, his parents; his sister, Margaret M., and five brothers, Edward L., Thomas F., Frank J. and Austin B., just graduated from St. Andrew's Preparatory Seminary, and Adrian M. Hanna.

Humidity Is Important in Preserving Health

From one to more than sixteen gallons of water a day should be vaporized and circulated in the home to make the atmosphere humid enough for health and comfort.

This conclusion is drawn from a study of scientific literature on humidity written by climatologists, physicians and engineers. Unlike numerous other authoritative works on the subject, the information is couched in a technical form so that it may be read with interest by every member of the family.

Scientists in these articles say the atmosphere in most American homes is as dry as that over deserts. The effect of this condition, they say, is causing many of the colds and other forms of sickness, and that the death rate in the "dried-out" homes is comparatively high. They also say that the American young lady is spending large amounts for cosmetics in an attempt to correct in her beauty the wrong that the dry air has done.

Restricted Immigration

According to telegraphic reports said to have been recently received at London, England, from Melbourne, Australia, the Commonwealth Government of that country has decided to restrict, from the beginning of next year, the immigration of foreigners, who are already subject to a quota system, to 50 per cent of the present totals.

Recent Convert Sails for Rome To Become Priest

New York, July 11.—"It is not every one who can start over again as a student at the age of 56. I am sorry to leave my American friends for so long a time. But I am looking forward to new and interesting adventures of the mind and spirit. I am happy to be settled in my spirit and convictions. I feel that I have reached port after a long, storm-tossed voyage. I feel that I have reached a position where I am thoroughly in accord with my surroundings. I am happy to face the future."

With these words the Rev. Dr. Selden P. Delany, for 34 years an Episcopal minister, sailed from New York a few days ago to travel and then to study for a year or two at Beda College, Rome, to prepare himself for the priesthood.

Dr. Delany resigned as rector of the Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin on June 13, and on June 24 he was baptized and confirmed in the Catholic Church.

A few close friends saw him sail. He was sailing alone. He hoped to take a long rest for the first time in 30 years, he said, touring through Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany and England until the Fall.

He will debark at Naples, and after a short stay will take another ship to Genoa. From there he will go to Switzerland and then stop to see the Passolo Play at Oberammergau. He will visit several monasteries, where he hopes to steep himself in the spirit of Catholicism "where it runs purest." In the Fall he will go to Rome to spend a year or two in study at Beda College. He will return to this country then to be ordained a Catholic priest in the Archdiocese of New York.

Dr. Delany said he expected to write a book during his trip through Europe. None of this work, he said, would deal with his conversion.

Rev. Paul Breagy Celebrated Mass At St. Augustine's

The Rev. Paul Breagy, ordained on June 9th in Paterson, N. J., celebrated the 11 o'clock Mass in St. Augustine's Church here last Sunday. He was ordained a priest of the Franciscan Order, and will go to the Holy Land as a missionary.

While in Rochester Father Breagy was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McGrath and family of Post Avenue. He was a classmate of New McGrath in St. Bonaventure's, and he completed his course in that seminary, going to Paterson for ordination after the disastrous fire at St. Bonaventure's. He has many friends in Rochester, and all will unite in wishing him a fruitful and happy life in the priesthood.
