Well, this nocturnal sport fad may be great for the summer when the cool nights offer a better atmosphere for the lans, but we'll have to walt and see whether the cold Fail nights will be so attractive to local and Bullalo gridiron fans. --

At this stage of the baseball sea on, the National League is still furnishing a torrid race for the pennant. The Brooklyn Dodgers had commanding lead until now, but the Chicago Cubs have killed this advantage and are now neck and neck with Uncle Robbie's boys. The Giants seem to be partly out of it, signs of cracking. In the American, the Athletics seem almost certain of another flag and perhaps a second world a cham pionship. The Yankees appear to be dislodging the Washington Nats, and will probably wind up in second place. That is, unless Connic Mack s boys run into a disastrous slump.

In the International everything rests between the Rochester Red Wings and the Baltimore Orioles, Wings are sporting a four-game lead over the Birds, and at their present pace ought to come out ahead. However, the second place team is a fighting ball nine, and if the locals faller for even a rew games Baltimore will jump into first place.
