Great Throng Present At Memorial Services At Auriesville Shrine

Twenty-Five Thousand Pilgrims Flock to Shrine From All Parts of Country to Attend Services in Celebration Of Canonization of America's First Saints—An Inspiring Occasion.

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE IN ATTENDANCE AND ALSO MANY BISHOPS AND PRIESTS

Auriesville, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Twenty-five thousand pilgrims, coming from many parts of the United States, and from Canada, united here last Sunday in greeting His Excellency, the Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, D.D., Apostolic Delegate to the United States, and united, too, in paying sincere tribute to America's only Saints, the recently canonized St. Isaac Jogues, St. Rene Goupil and St. John de la Lande, Jesuit martyrs to Indian ferocity nearly 300 years ago. It was the greatest crowd that has ever assembled at the Shrine of Our Lady of Martyrs, Auriesville.

Memorial Services Held
The occasion for the assembling of this great congregation was the holding of special services to commemorate the canonization of these three Saints of God on June 29 last. The Rt. Rev. Edmund T. Gibbons, D.D., Bishop of Albany, was celebrant of the solemn pontifical Mass, which opened the services of the day at 11 A. M.—His Excellency, the Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, assisted "in Capite." The deacons of honor to the Apostolic Delegate were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Reilly, Schenectady, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William A. Browne, Amsterdam. The officers of the Mass were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Delaney, V.G., as Arch Priest; the Rev. Louis Lavigne, Cohoes, Deacon, and the Rev. Napoleon La Palme, Schuylerville, subdeacon. The Rev. Edward J. Magin, Albany, was master of ceremonies to Bishop Gibbons; the Rev. Joseph P. Kelly, of Albany, Master of Ceremonies to the officers of the Mass. The Rev. J. Norbert Kelly, Secretary to Bishop Gibbons, was Master of Ceremonies to the Apostolic Delegate.

Sermon by Father Wynn
The Rev. John J. Wynn, S.J., of New York City, postulator of the cause of the martyrs in this country, former director of the shrine and author of a book on the lives of the eight martyrs, preached the sermon and described vividly their meekness, patience, long-suffering, piety, zeal and their unswerving devotion to purpose.

He said in part:
"To appreciate what they accomplished we must first keep in mind

Mexico City Cathedral Reopened on August 15th With Great Congregation

Feast of Assumption Brought Joy to Many Thousands of People—Many Persons Were at the Cathedral Before Dawn, Waiting for Gates to Be Opened

Mexico City, Aug. 22.—The great Catholic Cathedral in this city was reopened officially on the 15th of August, the feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Many thousands of people were present for the opening Mass, and hundreds of these had gathered in front of the Cathedral before dawn, standing many hours while waiting for the great doors of the edifice to be opened. It was a striking manifestation of the joy and the faith of the people.

Thousands Assembled Outside
When the doors of the Cathedral were opened the great church was quickly filled to the doors, and several thousands remained outside, unable to find room within. Many of the worshippers remained constantly on their knees in prayer, while others, fatigued, sought rest on folding chairs.

When the deep notes of the bells of the Cathedral flooded the city with long-attuned melody, the great throng in front of the Cathedral fell upon their knees in prayer, and exclamations of thanksgiving and of rejoicing were heard on every side.

The Sacrament of Confirmation was administered during the day, and hundreds of girls, members of the class, wore white dresses and veils and made a striking appearance of piety and devotion as they marched in procession.

The ceremony was a public manifestation of the end of the crisis between the Catholic Church and the Mexican Government during the administration of General Plutarco Elias Calles, which resulted in the closing of all the churches, on instructions from the Pope, and the withdrawal of all the priests and prelates from the exercise of their customary functions.

Thousands of people who assembled for the reopening of the Cathedral had come long distances on foot, many of them walking during the night. The manifestations of piety and devotion, mingled with the joy and thanksgiving of the people, made a wonderful impression upon all. The Faith of the people of Mexico was evidenced all through the day in ways that are good to know and inspiring to remember. The iron hand of Plutarco Elias Calles had not injured it.

Schools To Open On September 2d For the New Year

On Tuesday, September 2d, the parochial schools of the Diocese will be reopened for the new school year. It is expected that approximately 30,000 students will be registered in the Diocesan schools this year, a great army of children who will be taught to love and serve their country and their God with unflinching devotion all the days of their lives.

Many of the parochial schools have been remodeled and improved during the vacation period, and new equipment has been installed in a large number of the schools.

Several new parochial schools are being built, notably those of Our Lady of Good Counsel, on Brooks Avenue; St. Margaret Mary, on Rogers Parkway, St. Stanislaus, and others.

English Writer's Story of Stuarts Is Best Seller

WASHINGTON—Making history popular is not the easiest thing in the world to do, but J. Desmond Gleeson seems to have succeeded so well that his "Tragedy of the Stuarts," recently published here, is proving a best seller. Gleeson started out selling machinery and writing advertisements. For a number of years he has been one of England's most successful "free lancers." He is a magazine writer of note, and is now associated with Gilbert Chesterton in the publication of the G. K. Weekly.

Made Prelate of the Pope
Vatican City, Aug. 22.—Msgr. Filippo Bozzardi, nephew of Cardinal Pietro Gasparri, and a professor in the Catholic University at Washington, has been appointed domestic prelate of the Pope.

K. of C. Plans to Unveil Cardinal Gibbon's Memorial In Washington, D. C., in 1932

Beautiful Monument to Great Church Leader Will Be Dedicated to People of America—Forty-Eighth Annual Convention of Order in Boston.

Boston, Aug. 22.—The 48th annual convention of the Knights of Columbus Council, held here this week, was featured by action looking to the unveiling and dedication of a beautiful monument to James Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore in Washington, D. C., in 1932; by action for the formation of a League Against Defamation, to help put an end to scurrilous political attacks, and by the carrying out of the greatest installation ceremony ever held by any fraternal society in the world—the installation of more than 2,000 officers of 155 Massachusetts K. of C. Councils in the presence of an audience of 25,000 members of the Order.

A Great Convention
The convention, which opened formally on Sunday, quickly developed into one of the greatest ever held by the Order. The attendance was phenomenal, and the Boston Knights had arranged a program that covered every possible line of action and of entertainment, including baseball games, golf tournaments, social events and fraternal events on a big scale.

Many thousands of delegates and visitors were present from all parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Hundreds of Knights brought their wives and daughters with them.

Sisters in Japan Ready to Help Care for More Than 80,000 Lepers, If Government Will Provide Means Physicians Discuss Deplorable Condition of Victims of Dread Disease, and Means to Care for Them—Segregation Is Asked.

Shikoku, Japan, Aug. 22.—A body of 70 doctors gathered recently at the leper asylum of Sotolima, in the Province of Osaka, to deliberate on the problem of the extermination of leprosy from Japan, where official figures, known to be much below the mark, place the afflicted at between seventy or eighty thousand.

Isolation was the sole remedy, the medical men decided. Dr. Murata, director of the Sotolima asylum, informed the gathering that he would take the responsibility of crushing out the disease if the means were assured to construct an asylum for 10,000 inmates and to provide equipment to treat them according to the latest findings of science. The project would require 10,000,000 yen, or $5,000,000.

The Spanish Dominicans of the Prefecture Apostolic of Shikoku are interested from the fact that the place proposed for this giant asylum is the island of Osima, where a small leper asylum has existed since 1909, a site which falls within the prefecture. The missionaries feel very ready to render any assistance possible in caring for the victims.

Catholic missionaries at present operate two small leper asylums in Japan and render assistance in two others.

Daughter Sells Al Smith's Home In Oliver Street
New York, Aug. 22.—The dwelling at 72 Oliver Street, for many years the home of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, has been sold by Mrs. Emily Smith-Warner, his daughter, to the Wilton Holding Corporation.

The house was a wedding present from Mr. Smith to his daughter in 1926. Mr. Smith's original home on Oliver Street was at 25, but the later residence at 72 was the home of the Smith family for many years. The five-story dwelling lies between Oak and Cherry Streets.

The property was transferred to the new owner subject to a mortgage of $11,500.

The Golf King's Crown

The real crown of Bobby Jones, champion golfer of the world, is his family. His wife and two children are very proud of him, naturally, and very devoted to him, too. They are devout Catholics, and we may be sure they said some fervent prayers for him when he was winning the laurels of the world in the sport he loves.

One Thousand Delegates Attend Annual Convention Catholic Central Verein

Diamond Jubilee of Organization is Celebrated at Great Gathering in Baltimore—Governor Ritchie is Praised—No Politics For Catholic Church

Baltimore, Aug. 22.—The diamond jubilee of the Catholic Central Verein was celebrated here at the 75th annual convention of the organization, which was opened on Sunday. More than 1,000 delegates were present, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed when the convention was opened.

Governor Ritchie was praised at the opening session by the Rev. John M. Belarski, of Sacred Heart Church, Highlandtown, spiritual director of the National Catholic Central Verein's Maryland branch, who told the gathering that Governor Ritchie had done honor to the chair at Annapolis and "it seems to some of us could honor a bigger chair at Washington."

Father Belarski introduced Governor Ritchie to the convention, saying that to be known throughout the length and breadth of the country, as the Governor is, one must either do or say something very good or sensible, or one must do or say something very foolish. "Governor Ritchie," he said, "has not said or done anything foolish." The Governor gave a splendid and inspiring talk.

Praised William J. Bryan
The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Och, president of Pontiac College, Josephine, Columbus, Ohio, praised the late William Jennings Bryan for his opposition to Darwin's theory of evolution. Msgr. Och referred to the Great Commoner as a stalwart apostle giving his all in behalf of his faith.

The Rev. A. J. Muench, rector of St. Francis Seminary, Milwaukee, made a strong attack on prohibitions and issued a warning to the clergy and the church to steer clear of politics.

Lecture Medal Given
The meeting concluded with the presentation to Frederick E. Kugel, Catholic journalist of St. Louis of the Lecture Medal for distinguished lay achievement, reflecting honor upon his faith. Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York, last year received the medal which is awarded annually by the University of Notre Dame, Chicago, descendant of a famous German theatrical family, former librarian of the University of Munich, and a convert to Catholicism.
