Chaplain at Ellis Island, Irish Immigration Director, Dies While Visiting in Ireland

The Rev. Anthony J. Grogan Stricken in Dublin While on His Way Back to New York City After Visiting Relatives.

The Rev. Anthony J. Grogan, Catholic Chaplain at Ellis Island, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary and director of Irish immigration in New York, died in Dublin, Ireland, after a brief illness. Father Grogan had known thousands of transatlantic travelers and had just completed arrangements in connection with visitors from the United States to Dublin for the Eucharistic Congress of 1932.

He had been making a short visit with his brother, Jeremiah Grogan, at Seagann, Tullamore, and had arranged to return to New York this week.

Father Grogan was well known for more than 30 years to immigration and customs officials. Since 1909 he had been known as "the first thing an immigrant looked for after the Statue of Liberty." In addition to his duties as pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary in State Street, he found time to devote to his office as pastor of the Catholic refuge for Irish immigrants at the Battery and as head of the House for Irish Immigrant Girls. For many years he was the Catholic chaplain at Ellis Island, and in that capacity met nearly every ship which landed from foreign ports.

Native of Tullamore
Father Grogan had visited Europe three times before the trip on which he died. In 1921 he had an audience with the Pope before returning to America by way of Ireland and in 1927 and 1928 he went back for a short time to his old home at Tullamore, Ireland, where his survivors, three married sisters and a brother, live.

In his long experience with the immigration, public health and customs services, Father Grogan was noted for his staunch defense of the prevalent policies at Ellis Island, and on many occasions, he defended the practices of the station against its current critics.

He was honored by his friends and associates on many occasions. Once he received a present of $500 in gold as an offering from his colleagues in immigration activities, and in December, 1927, he received an auto mobile and more than $1,500 which had been raised by popular subscription as a testimonial from his many friends.

Regulations For Parish Schools Sent to Pastors

Programs For All Grades Are to be Uniform—At Least One Hour Per Week To be Given to Vocal Music and to Drawing.

General regulations for the parochial schools in the Diocese of Rochester are given in a letter sent to all pastors in the Diocese by the Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester.

The elementary and high schools will open for the Fall term on Tuesday, Sept. 2, the letter directs.

In part the letter reads: In the following particulars, the program for all grades in every school should be uniform. The first morning subject be Christian doctrine; every subject will have its relative proportion of time; no subject will be omitted for the purpose of giving drill in something else.

Music and Drawing
At least one hour a week will be given to the teaching of vocal music in every grade, and one hour a week to teaching drawing. No written examination will be given in January, or in the next four grades, to the end that greater stress in tone production and in voice building shall be placed on the work at this period.

The Palmer penmanship method being the required system in the schools, it must receive the earnest daily attention of the teachers who are to make use of it in all work which comes under the observation of their pupils. To insure more lasting good results in penmanship, Eighth Grade pupils will be required to earn the writing certificate.

The bi-monthly fire drill is required in every school. Principals will strictly enforce this important regulation. Even in Winter, classes are to be taken as far as the exits.
