Mulligan Stew Helped a Priest Convert Indians

Former Creighton University Student Recalls How Belgian Missionary Tempted Indians to Rock Around Him.

Cody, Wyo., Nov. 7.—Cody, Wyoming, was a wild place in the good old days—full of gamblers, gun men and other typical western characters. W. W. Yager, a student in Creighton University, Omaha, in 1892, went there after being in school a year. He says he found the country undeveloped and "just as wild as it is painted in movies and story books."

The country was still missionary territory then, and the Catholic residents were visited by a priest once a week. After a few years the visits were increased to once a year, and finally enough missionaries were secured to minister to the needs of Cody once a week.

Yager recalls the method used by Father Andre, a Belgian missionary, to gather the Indians to the station. He says: "Father Andre used to ride into the country on his tepee in a prominent position. He had a big pot of Mulligan Stew in the center of it. The smoke would go out through a hole in the top of the tepee, and soon the Indians would come down from the reservation and stand around, sniffing the air. When the stew was cooked, Father Andre would invite them to gather around, and he would feed them little by little, dragging the process out as much as possible, and instructing them while they were eating. He had to talk fast, because as soon as the pot was empty the Indians would disappear. But he made a lot of Christians that way."

Supreme Officers Come to Rochester for the Event—Bishop Celebrates Pontifical Mass

The 40th anniversary of the founding of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association was celebrated in this city in a fitting manner on Wednesday this week...

A procession of members from Lady Chapel to the Cathedral, previous to the Pontifical Mass, was headed by Miss Kate Mahoney of Troy, Supreme President, and Mrs. Cora McParlin of Rochester, Supreme Trustee. Other supreme officers present included Vice-president, Mrs. Mary C. Connolly, Syracuse; recorder, Mrs. Johanna B. Boyer, Erie, Pa.; treasurer, Mrs. Mary S. Costelloe, Brooklyn; marshal, Mrs. Anna Koehner, Syracuse; and trustee, Mrs. Julia Ward Clingen, Oak Park, Ill. Many members also attended.

Bishop O'Hara, welcoming the visitors and members, told of the purposes of the organization, and commended them. "We firmly believe," he said, "and we hope and pray that the L. C. B. A. will grow in the future as it has in the past, especially through the junior membership and that this fortieth anniversary is only a new milestone of greater undertakings and greater endeavor. We wish you to know that Bishop and priests of the Rochester diocese are behind you, and stand ready to do everything they can to help the supreme officers of this locality in making your jubilee year a year of growth and record in the history of the organization."

Officers of the Mass assisting Bishop O'Hara were as follows: Assistant priest, Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart; deacon, Rev. John H. Sullivan; subdeacon, Rev. F. William Stauder; deacons of honor, Rev. John P. Brophy and Rev. Louis Vollmer, C. S. B., master of ceremonies, Rev. William Bergen.

A splendid banquet Nearly 1,000 women attended the banquet in the evening in the Columbus Club Center, Caterer Lane served an excellent dinner, an appealing and entertaining program was carried out, and the celebration was climaxed in a way that gave happiness and inspiration to all who attended. Mrs. Cora McParlin, who had charge of local arrangements for the celebration, was highly complimented on the results of her work as well as upon the splendid condition of the various L. C. B. A. branches in this city, all of them reflecting the capability of her leadership and the enthusiasm of the work.

There are 26 branches of the Association in Rochester, all of them flourishing. Mrs. McParlin is the only Supreme officer in this section of the State. Assisting her in making arrangements for the celebration were Mrs. L. C. Connolly, Mrs. T. J. Gallagher, Mrs. William A. Fisher, Mrs. Louis George Frey, Mrs. Mar. Stoltz, Miss Gertrude Hobart and Mrs. William Dwyer.

Msgr. McAleese, Brooklyn Priest, Buried Thursday

Native of Antrim, Ireland, He Was Ordained in Maynooth, and Was Oldest Priest in Brooklyn Diocese.

Brooklyn, Nov. 7.—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. McAleese, rector of the Church of St. Rose of Lima in this city, died at the rectory here on Monday and was buried on Thursday. The Rt. Rev. Thomas E. Molloy, D. D., Bishop of Brooklyn, many priests and a capacity congregation of the laity attended the funeral.

Msgr. McAleese was the oldest priest in the Brooklyn diocese. He was born in Antrim, Ireland, in 1847, ordained at Maynooth in 1874, came to America eight years later, was pastor of a parish 40 miles square in Iowa for two years, then came to Brooklyn. He had been pastor of the Church of St. Rose of Lima for many years, and twice rebuilt the church. The present church, dedicated in 1924, is valued at $1,000,000. Pope Pius XI in 1927 made the rector a Domestic Prelate, with the title of the Right Reverend Monsignor.

Msgr. McAleese is survived by a sister, Miss Mary Jane McAleese, who made her home at the rectory.

Football Flashes

The Notre Dame football team is like Pat O'Callahan of Hollywood...

There were some interesting ties in the games Saturday, notably Dartmouth-Yale, O. Syracuse-Brown, Princeton-Chicago, Pitt-Nebraska, O. Georgia Tech-N. Carolina, S. Manhattan-C. N. Y. 6.

Columbia's "beating" Cornell was enough to make one's hair fall out but when a guy kicks a 23 yard field goal, what chance has a team Hewitt of Columbia did that, and he also ran 39 yards for a touchdown.

Talking about kicking held-roots Myrtle Grady of Marquette isolated two of them from placement to beat the strong Boston College team Saturday.

Detroit University, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers, had a lovely clean record until last Saturday when an Iowa streak, filled with when a corn-and-ambition-Jack-Warrenton hit 53 yards for a touchdown and smashed a perfectly good record for Detroit.

One minute is a mighty short space of time. Frank Curtiss of Brown made a 35-yard field goal that time at Syracuse Saturday, tying Syracuse at 16-16.

A mammoth crowd will see Notre Dame play Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday. Columbia will have a chance to see a game with Cornell's neighbor, Columbia, at New York. Rochester will meet Union on its home field. Pitt-Syracuse will battle at the grounds of the former team.

Fordham University has selected Notre Dame as its rival for a game. Knute Rockne says "Notre Dame's 'Navy' goes Knute so his team has a hard schedule when it's done it's done. Some say Knute had the famous 'Fry Horemen' on his Notre Dame team and he learned never to overlook a yearbook that is good extra sense as it were. But a Notre Dame-Fordham game would draw a mammoth crowd, for Fordham has fine record and has been continuing in great shape these few years, past as a national contender for top rung on the football ladder.

The He of Auburn's football team is tinning out. The first catch not scored upon is due to a spatch outfit who have not defeated this season are Alabama Army, Dartmouth, Fordham, Georgia, Michigan, Notre Dame Northwestern, Oregon, Wake Forest.

Fordham and Dartmouth have two points each walked against them. The Army, Dartmouth, Georgia and Michigan have been tied, Yale doing the trick on the Army and Dartmouth, Florida of Georgia, and Michigan State on Michigan. On November 22, Notre Dame will play Northwestern at Evanston, and on Nov. 29, the Army, at Chicago. Then we shall see what we shall see. Likewise who's who.
