Chicken Dinner
Harvest Festival
At St. Theodore's

A chicken dinner and harvest festival will be held at St. Theodore's school hall, Spencerport Road, from 5:30 to 8 P. M., on November 22d and 23d. A fine lot of live poultry will be offered the patrons at barnards that will be hard to find, and a dinner that will satisfy every patron will be served. No one will be kept waiting, for arrangements have been made to serve 100 persons at one time.

Mrs. Theodore Statt is in charge of the dinner, and this means it will be a good one. She will be assisted by a number of ladies of the parish, and a six-piece orchestra will play during the dinner. The price for adults is 75 cents, and 50 cents for children.

This will be a good time and place to get your turkeys for Thanksgiving, or chickens, ducks or geese. All young fowl, and reasonable.

Nearly Two Thousand Members Celebrate Re-Financing of Columbus Civic Center—Communion Breakfast, December 7th

Nearly 2,000 members flocked to the big auditorium of the Columbus Civic Center Monday evening to enjoy a smoker, and to celebrate in a happy way the re-financing of the building of which they are all so proud. It was a humdrum of a meeting. It was like old times, only better. It showed that the old "Pop" is still effervescent. It showed that the members are interested in the fate of the building on Chestnut Street, and are anxious to give it the right kind of support and interest to make it a great success. The night was what Land Admiral Charles R.
Barnes would call "a bully night." Announcement was made of an informal Thanksgiving eve dance, to be held by the K. of C. in the Columbus Civic Center ballroom on Wednesday evening, November 26.

Two little girls, Marjorie Derbert and Betty Derbert did tap dancing.
Walt Collins was master of ceremonies. George J. Law, lecturer of Rochester Council, under whose direction the show was staged, presided. Grand Knight John A. Doyle, shook so many hands he almost had the palsy. A lot of the old-timers were there, and a big lot of the new ones. All officers of the Council were delighted with the size of the crowd, with its spirit, and with the evident determination of the members to stand soundly behind the building and keep it safe financially.
Announcement was made of an informal Thanksgiving eve dance, to be held by the K. of C. in the Columbus
Civic Center ballroom on Wednesday
evening, November 26.

'Twas a Fine Evening
The Rev. Dr. W. E. Cowen of St.
Bernard's Seminary, Chaplain of the Council, welcomed the big crowd in a happy way, and announced that the annual Communion Breakfast of the Council will be held on Sunday morning, December 7th. Details will be announced later.

Financial Secretary Raymond J.
Curran announced the details of the re-financing of the Columbus Civic Center and explained the financial status of the building at the present time.

Charles R. Barnes, past Grand Knight of Rochester Council, and one of the outstanding pioneers of the Order in the United States, gave the boys a rousing talk and received a rousing reception.

Hughie Barrett, premier musician, gave the crowd a delightful specialty act, and was greatly enjoyed.

Harry P. Somerville, manager of the Sagamore, staged several boxing and wrestling bouts. Every one of them had a kick, and lots of life, and all of them were enjoyed.

David J. Nolan, manager of Lee's Rochester Theater, brought some mighty clever entertainers to the stage, including Phillip Van Tassel, Miss Jane Bernbaum, Miss Louise Schmad, Miss Mildred Winston. An accompaniment was furnished by Miss Helen Anker and William Rogers.

Twenty-Seven Missionaries Martyred in China In The Past Seven Years

Missions Sorely Tried
The wholesale capture in Kianfu was not entirely unexpected. A recent report by a local correspondent says:

"During the past two years this vicariate has been sorely tried by brigandage and communists. The bandits roam from one prefecture to another, capturing the rich, demanding enormous ransoms, pillaging and sacking little villages. Their communist counterparts force the people to embrace communism, employing as persuasive measures the cruellest and most violent methods. Confiscation of goods, pillage and death is the most atrocious and barbarous means resorted to those who refuse to join their ranks."

There-Not Is Certain
"We allow ourselves no illusion," continues the correspondent. "The danger is great, and if in the struggle which we daily witness, victory comes to the communists, our lot is certain. It will include loss of all our churches, schools, and residences, and death for all foreign missionaries and Sisters."

Kianfu Vicariate, confided to the Lazarists, counted in June, 1927, a personnel of 11 foreign and 20 Chinese priests, three foreign and seven Chinese Daughters of Charity, and 23 Chinese Daughters of St. Ann.

Bishop Mignani Bishop Mignani is known for his ability in the education of students for the priesthood, his priestly life previous to his elevation to the epis-copacy have been spent in missionary work. He was born at Castellfranco, province of Bologna, Italy, 1822, and studied at the diocesan seminary.
Entering the Congregation of the Missionaries (Lazarists) as a priest, he fulfilled successively the offices of spiritual director of the Regional Seminary at Chieti (Abruzzi), rector of the Diocesan Seminary of Palestrina (Rome), rector of the Alberoni College (Rome) and rector of the Seminary of the Vicariate of Kianfu in China.

When he was named Coadjutor Bishop to Bishop Nicholas Cleffi, C.
M., Vicar Apostolic of Kianfu in July 10, 1928, the Cathedral of Kan was occupied by soldiers. They evacuated in October, however, and the ceremony of consecration took place in comparative peace on February 17, 1929.

Archb. Stritch
Given Farewell
In His Old Home

Six Thousand Persons Crowd Hall in Civic Reception to Him Before He Leaves Toledo For Milwaukee.

Toledo, O., Nov. 21—American loyalty and American ideals are always safe when they are centered in the arms of religion. The Milwaukee, Wis., Archbishop-elect, the Rev. Samuel Alphonsus Stritch, Archbishop-elect of Milwaukee, told 6,000 Toledans who crowded the Civic Hall here Sunday night at the civic farewell reception given in his honor. The archbishop-elect left Toledo for Milwaukee, Wis., last Tuesday for Milwaukee, Wis., where he was enthroned Wednesday.
"The shallow teachings and ugly theories of today," he told them, "would banish God from the world.
Man craves God today and God is more necessary now not only to the individual but to society as well."

Attacks Modern Trends Attacking the "modern pseudophilosophies" which he said are threatening the country, the archbishop declared:

"The secular philosophies of the schools of yesterday have become the rules of living for many today. The result has been a philosophy of life built on the principles of naturalism and humanism on naturalism which is hopelessly inadequate, and on humanism which is nothing more than intellectual politeness."

Pleading for the return of the Christian home, he said: "Our modern schools of marble and extravagant curricula can never produce the teachers that God produces when He provides us with a father and a mother."

Speaking of his nine years in Toledo, Archbishop-elect Stritch said: "It has been my privilege to have consecrated what most men consider the best years of my life to the religious advancement of this community. In what I consider the highest calling in society."

Leaves with Regret
"Now, as I leave you with the deepest regret, I shall take Toledo with me in my heart."

Congratulating the bishop's work in Toledo and expressions of regret by Mayor William T. Jackson, Harold C. Place, editor of the Toledo News-Bee; Grover Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade; the Rev.
Stephen K. Mahon, Rabbi Michael Lichtenstein and the Rev. B. F. Mc-Williams.

One hundred seventy-five clergymen of the Toledo diocese farewelled to Archbishop-elect Stritch at a luncheon Monday noon in Central Catholic High School. A postlun-cheon was presented the Archbishop by Msgr. John T. O'Connell.

ings, Nov. 24 and 25, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of Blessed Sacrament Church in the school auditorium in Oxford Street.

U. V. Davis and Helen Dugan ing roles are Dorothy Northrup, Alice Harvey, Kathleen Griffin, Mary Clare O'Shea, Raymond Mason,

Kolb, Bernard O'Brien, Herbert Haley, and Richard Reddington.

The comedy will provide an excellent entertainment for all people, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Lady of Mercy
High School One
Of Prize Winners

Seven students and two faculty members of Our Lady of Mercy High School attended the Sodality Convention at D'Youville College, Buffalo, Wednesday, November 18, presided over by Rev. Father Lord, S.J.

"At this meeting the prizes for the Rosary contest conducted by the Western New York Sodality during the month of October were awarded.
There were 24 schools competing in this contest, and the Sodality of Our Lady of Mercy High School took fourth place, showing that the Sodality plays a very important part in the school life of the students.

Thanksgiving Eve
K. of C. Party
To Be Big Event

Lecturer George J. Law of Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus, is planning a delightful event for the Knights and their friends, ladies and gentlemen. This is in the nature of an informal dance, to be held on Thanksgiving eve, November 26, in the ballroom of the Columbus Civic Center. Excellent music will be provided for this party, and it is hoped to have a fine crowd in attendance. This will be the first party of the kind held by Rochester Knights in many months, and it is part of the revival of interest and of activities among the members.

Lecturer Law and Grand Knight John J. Doyle are planning a number of other worth while events for the Knights, and also for the Knights and their ladies. The Columbus Civic Center, re-financed, will be a busy place this winter.

Medical Mission
Pioneer Worker
Dies In India

Prefect Apostolic of Kashmir and Kafiristan Have Worked For Forty Years
In Mission Fields.

Brookland, D. C., Nov. 21. The news of the death of Right Reverend Msgr. R. Winkley, Prefect Apostolic of Kashmir and Kafiristan, reached the Society of Catholic Medical Missionaries by cable on All Souls' Day.
Msgr. Winkley belonged to St. Joseph's Foreign Mission Society of Mill Hill, and was assigned to the north of India as a young priest over 40 years ago. He was the first Catholic missionary to penetrate and to work in Kashmir. He returned home for the first time in 19 years.
He possessed a very useful accomplishment for a missionary—he understood the art of building. He personally designed the plans, and supervised the erection of several churches, schools, and also of the Holy Family Hospital, thereby saving much money and securing proper workmanship. For the last 15 years, as Prefect Apostolic, he was constantly engaged in developing his Mission.

Thanks to his own generosity, and that of American Catholics, the Holy Family Hospital became a reality and was built under his personal supervision four years ago. He heartily approved the foundation of the Society of Catholic Medical Missionaries, and fostered its small beginnings in a truly fatherly way. His last plan was to build a house for the Medical Mission Sisters and the native nurse, but God called him to his reward before it could be realized.

In him the Prefecture lost a tra-shepherd and father. His gentleness, humility, untiring work and unflinching solicitude for everybody's well-being will always remain an inspiring memory for those who have to continue what he so well started and developed during his long missionary career.
