St. Augustine's Turkey Supper On December 9th
On Tuesday evening, December 9th, the annual turkey supper of St. Augustine's Church will be held in the basement hall of the parish school on Chili Avenue. The supper will be served from 5:30 to 8 o'clock, and it is open to all people. The ladies of the church will be in charge, and they are preparing a menu that will be a joy to every patron.
The annual supper of St. Augustine's Church has become one of the fixed events of the Fall season, and one that is looked forward to with a great deal of pleasant anticipation by many hundreds of people. The ladies of the church are famous for their good cooking, their hospitality and kindness, and each year there is increased attendance at this supper. The price is reasonable for a meal of this kind, for their will be loads of other good things with the turkey.

Vatican To Issue A New Magazine Christmas Time
Vatican City, Nov. 28.—At Christmas time the Vatican will begin publication of a fortnightly magazine entitled Illustrazione Vaticana. The executive committee in charge of this new publication is composed of Count Della Torre, director of Osservatorio Romano, Commendatore Negrati, director of the Vatican museums, and Msgr. Angelo Mercati, prefect of the Vatican archives.

A person is said to begin losing height at the age of fifty.

Values in Social Work Is Subject of an Address By Rev. Dr. Wm. J. Kirby
Catholic University Professor Is Speaker At New York State Conference On Social Work At Elmira

Elmira, Nov. 28.—The Very Rev. Dr. William J. Kirby, Ph.D., of the Catholic University of America, at Washington, D. C., was speaker at the annual meeting of the New York State Conference on Social Work, held in this city last week, ending on Friday. The Rev. Walter A. Fogarty of this city, Diocesan Director of Catholic Charities, was among the delegates at the conference. Dr. Kirby spoke on "Values in Social Work." His talk in part was as follows:

"Values must be balanced between the concentration of the specialists and the broad general culture which relates all parts of social work to the composite movement of life. Concentration upon any special interest leads to many fallacies which are corrected only when the special interest is held in discipline to the larger field of which it is a part. We are told that in the anatomy of the eye there are two sets of muscles. One set narrows and another set resists the narrowing process and provides for expansion. A proper action of both is necessary for the functioning of vision. In the same way the mind is narrowed by specialization and widened by culture. That is by broad inclusive views. Concentration follows without regard to the other leads to a false sense of values. When each is disciplined by the other we approach as nearly as we can to practical wisdom. Emerson said of radicalism and conservatism, that each is a good half but an impossible whole. We may say the same of the cultural and the specialized approach to social work. Each is a good half but an impossible whole.

A Little World of Their Own
"Another difficulty is created when many social workers reinforce one another by cherishing exclusive group interests. They create a little world of their own. General corrections to mistakes convert faults into virtues. And then the particular interest gains an ascendancy and seriously disturbs values in social work as a whole. Specialization by individuals and by groups is imperatively mental hygiene, recreation and needed interests have made their superb contributions to progress. But these groups can become narrow and exclusive though highly competent. They have need of wider vision, of larger knowledge and of tempered judgment quite as much as individuals have need of them.

"I think that none of us would wish to see the health interest in social work so emphasized at the cost of the other interests of the deflated classes. I do not believe that mental hygiene should take a precedence that discounts all other interests. I do not believe that we should be so concentrated upon the heavenly interests of the poor as to make us indifferent to their present anguish, to their distress, hunger and friendlessness. I do not believe that we should so center our solitude upon the moral welfare of the poor as to become indifferent to the terrible energy of the social forces that defeat every aspiration of ideal life.

"Unless the specialized sections of social work keep in mind the larger aspects of life from which all things get their value, the menaces of specialization will operate and the inherent cultural values of social work as a whole will be lost from view. Hence social workers who specialize and the separate interests represented by groups of social workers are called upon jointly to give deliberate care to a wider outlook and to balanced proportions that should tie all of them into one superb harmony.

Bishop Manning
(Editorial, Brooklyn Tablet)

The conflict in the local Protestant Episcopal Church is assuming broader proportions. It will be recalled that the present dispute started on the day when Bishop Gilbert was consecrated as Auxiliary Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York. On that occasion Bishop Manning, preaching before a congregation, a majority of whom belonged to the low church, took as his text: "Upon this rock I will build my church." He then endeavored to show that the Episcopal Church was not Protestant and Catholic, that it owed nothing to the so-called Reformation, but all to Christ, who "founded His church in this world," and that "He Himself appointed a ministry, and that ministry has come down to the present time through the succession of Bishops." He then maintained:

"The Episcopal Church stands, and rejoices to stand in the relation of warm and brotherly fellowship at many points with Protestantism. But her own faith and order, as judged by the standards of the early undivided Church, are fundamentally and definitely Catholic. Her distinctive beliefs are those which have been held and taught by the Catholic Church throughout the world since the Apostolic days."

Minister Makes Protest
Immediately after the consecration an indignation meeting was held. The Protestant Episcopal Church League, and a number of individual churchmen and publications, strongly criticized the Bishop. They maintained that the Protestant Episcopal Church was not exclusive—that it was Protestant as well as Catholic. On Sunday last, eleven churches in Dr. Manning's see denounced his consecration sermon.

The Same As Newman
The situation now presented is almost exactly the same as existed just before Newman came over. His "Apologia" describes the issue just as it exists in New York. The issue is whether a person can be hot and cold, flesh and fish, black and white at the same time. Bishop Manning, and those who think as he does, are out of place in the Protestant Episcopal Church, even though they may try to ride a horse in two different directions.

There is such a divergent opinion, such a contradiction in views between those in authority in the Church and those who belong to it that they cannot exist as a whole. On the one hand, you have a group of intelligent men, maintaining a belief in practically everything Catholic—including Mass and confession—then you have others accepting part of the Catholic heritage and rejecting the rest, and lastly you have men like Mr. Guthrie permitting Mr. Zero and his gaudy dancers to parade in the aisles and Egyptian hula hula artists to perform—and all this under one banner of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

There is one place—and only one place—for Bishop Manning and his sincere followers, who consider themselves Catholics and who want to be Catholic, and that is in the church that is really, truly and solely Catholic. There is no question about the Church of Rome; there are no two sides to the question; it is wholly Catholic, yesterday and today. Why play with Catholicity? Why hold one's self open to attack? Why parade under the title of "Protestant" and with men who maintain your church is Protestant? The doors of the Catholic Church are open to you; it welcomes sincere and intelligent men who want a free and unobscured outlet for their faith.

Charity Ball Is Announced For Dec. 16th
Big Event to Help Poor and Needy Will Be Held in the Hotel Seneca—Proceeds To Charitable Agencies.

A charity ball will be given by a group of Rochester Club Women who last month gave a party at St. Ann's Home and did so much to bring happiness and cheer to residents of other institutions. They will sponsor this party at the Hotel Seneca ball room on Tuesday night, December 16, at 8 o'clock. Proceeds will be given to various charitable agencies, to be used for the relief of the unemployed, in Rochester. This will be the first affair to be given by a group of women, and it deserves the good, wide and hearty support of each and every one anxious to assist the poor in any way.

The decorations will be in charge of Mrs. George H. Heidrich and will be very lovely. Music will be furnished by Rayagan and his orchestra for old and new dances. Mrs. Fred H. Durran, Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harry Wills, vice-chairman, reports 500 tickets already disposed of. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Henry T. McFarlin, Mrs. John Gould, Mrs. J. J. Skelly, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. E. C. Gullbert, Mrs. George Schake, Mrs. Walter Fogarty, Mrs. Elizabeth Lucas, Mrs. J. Milton Ross, Mrs. Ella Edmonds. Committees are as follows:

Decorations—Mrs. George H. Heidrich, Mrs. M. Purcell, Mrs. L. A. Roberts, Mrs. E. A. Eldman, Mrs. Earl Billings, Mrs. W. Cronin.
Reception—Mrs. Herbert Sackett, Mrs. William Sackett, Mrs. George McMillen, Mrs. J. J. Stitt, Mrs. T. A. Knight, Mrs. F. A. Kuhnert, Mrs. A. Miller, Mrs. Minnie Hendrix, Mrs. W. H. Rossonbach, Mrs. H. Muir, Mrs. W. C. Greene, Mrs. J. J. Janes, Mrs. Carl K. Otis, Mrs. S. Martin, Mrs. Dolores Eldridge, Mrs. Frank W. Crouch, Mrs. George Barnes, Mrs. J. Ritz, Mrs. A. G. Zimmerman, Mrs. Daniel Donahue, Mrs. H. M. Ross, Mrs. F. Fogarty, Mrs. G. H. Heidrich, Mrs. Harry Wills, Mrs. Fred H. Durran. The master of ceremonies is Mrs. John Handy of the Shrine Lunch Club. Tickets are 75 cents and they can be obtained from any member of the committee. All patrons will help make Christmas better, brighter and happier for the other fellow by buying tickets. It is hoped to sell at least 2,000.

Floyd L. Christ Specializes In Laying Floors

Every woman loves good floors in her home. So does every man, for that matter. If floors are not properly laid, if they are not attractive, durable and serviceable, no matter what the housewife does to her home there is always something lacking, something that seems to spoil the happy effect of the home.

Good floors are one of the first requisites for a home of any kind, and in order to have good floors it is absolutely necessary to have them laid by one who understands the work. The best floor material in the world is often ruined by inexperienced workmen. Hence, it is a joy to deal with a floor specialist like Floyd L. Christ of 135 Spring Street, one of the most expert and capable builders of floors in this State. Mr. Christ lays oak floors, rubber tile floors, asphalt tile floors, or any other kind of flooring that is required.

Oak floors are laid and finished complete by him in new or old houses, and they transform the appearance of any house, so well does he do his work and so excellent are the materials he uses. Rubber tile floors are resoundingly popular in kitchens, bathrooms, vestibules, etc. Mr. Christ lays them in squares, of many beautiful shades, and they make a very attractive floor. Asphalt tile floors are recommended for recreation rooms, meeting rooms, stores, restaurants, and all other places where beauty is required and hard usage encountered. He also refinishes old floors, and will be glad to give estimates to any person on laying new ones or refinishing old ones. A telephone call, Main 6406 will bring any desired information.

WEDDINGS
CULHANE—BURKE
Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Agnes C. Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burke of Lyell Avenue to Dr. Morris J. Culhane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Culhane of Villa Street, on Saturday, November 15th, in St. Mary's Cathedral, Ogdensburg. Rev. Father Harold J. Martin, assistant rector of the cathedral, officiated, and also celebrated a nuptial Mass.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the members of the bridal party at Rose Manor on Riverside Drive.

Dr. and Mrs. Culhane left on a trip through the Adirondacks, and upon their return will be at home at 531 Lyell Avenue, Rochester.

Edison Will Get Medal From Pope

West Orange, N. J., Nov. 28.—Thomas A. Edison's inventive genius has been officially recognized by Pope Pius, who, it was learned today, has awarded a gold medal to the inventor. It is expected to arrive at the Edison laboratory in West Orange this week.

Last month an Edison dictating device bearing the papal coat of arms, was presented to the Pope.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McShes of Dewey Avenue, Shoremont, are spending some time in Houston, Tex., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dutton.

Miss Kathleen D'Oller of Warwick Avenue, spent last week in Washington as a delegate to the White House Conference on Child Welfare.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brennan, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loftus of Utica, N. Y., were week-end guests of relatives and friends in Rochester, on their way home from a motor trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Shafer of South Goodman Street entertained at dinner at their home Tuesday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alex V. Ackerman who will leave town shortly to spend the Winter in New York City and the South.

One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning.—Lowell.

It is the surmounting of difficulties in the right way that makes heroes.

Thanksgiving
It's great to have one day a year when you make it a real job to be thankful. What a delight is that feast which mother prepares!

Gas and electric service play an important part in the preparation of Thanksgiving dinners. You should ask mother, however, she'd say the products help to make her happier the year around.

Gas and electricity lessen mother's home labor to get the endless 'chores' quickly and efficiently done, and indirectly minister to the welfare of the family.

We wish you all a Happy Thanksgiving
