

Elderly People Can't Risk COUGHS and COLDS

People who have passed the fifty mark realize that coughs and colds weaken the system and may easily lead to serious disease. They start taking Father John's Medicine at the first sneeze. They never dope a cold, because that merely leads to a false sense of security. They know that Father John's Medicine not only helps to break a cold right up, but that it is a simple food medicine that promotes health and strength. It contains vitamins that increase resistance to disease. If you have a cough or cold now, or if you catch cold easily, start with Father John's Medicine to-day. Take it regularly and colds will be few and far between. Just ask your druggist. You can obtain Father John's Medicine at the nearest drug store, or send $1.20 to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., for a large family size bottle, all charges prepaid.

Society Also Has Mass Celebrated for Deceased Members, Including the Parents of George M. Cohan.

New York, Nov. 28.—The Catholic Actors' Guild of the City formally opened its new headquarters and clubrooms last Friday in the Knights of Columbus Hotel, Eighth Avenue and Fifty-first Street. The opening was formally marked by the presentation of a gold key to Donald Brann, president of the Guild, by Eva Condon.

Among those on hand to congratulate the Guild upon its new quarters were Daniel Frohman, president of the Actors' Fund, A. G. Brown, shepherd of the Lambs Club, and Frank Gilmore, president of the Actors' Equity Association. Others were the Rev. Randolph Ray, of the Episcopal Actors' Guild, William Morris and Rabbi A. Timmer of the Jewish Theatrical Guild, Hugh O'Connell, Broadway, Texan, Milton Lackaye and Henry Christfried.

Annual Memorial Mass.
Earlier in the day the Guild held its 17th annual memorial Mass at St. Malachy's Church in West Forty-ninth Street. The Rev. Edward P. Leonard, chaplain of the Guild, was the celebrant.

The Mass was offered in memory of the dead members of the Guild and the theatrical profession generally. Among those remembered in the prayers were James J. (Jimmy) Hussey, who died Thursday, M. and Mrs. Jere Cohan, parents of George M. Cohan; Tom Lewis, Bernice Gordon, Tommy Gray, James Lackaye, James O'Neil, Marie Wainwright and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Pastor.

Editor Urges Lake Be Named St. Isaac Jogues

St. Johnsville Man Writes State Department of History, Urging That State Honor Jesuit Martyr.

St. Johnsville, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Lou D. MacWethy, a non-Catholic, editor of the St. Johnsville Enterprise and News, has written the State Department of History, urging that the new lake at Conklinville, N. Y., be named St. Isaac Jogues, in honor of the great Jesuit martyr who died for the Faith at Auriesville nearly 300 years ago. Mr. MacWethy's suggestion is meeting with widespread favor.

Mr. MacWethy's letter follows: "The creation of a new body of water in Northern New York for a name. Inasmuch as several have been suggested, the writer begs leave to offer the name of Lake St. Jogues."

In 1643 the first Catholic missionary was brought to Lake George as a prisoner of war. He suffered torture in company with his companions. His torture continued at the Mohawk village where he was exhibited as a curiosity, because he was the first priest (black robe) the Indians had ever beheld. After terrible torture and mutilation, the Dutch finally rescued him and he went back to France. Two years later he returned to Montreal and was sent into the valley as an ambassador of peace. This effected, he again, in 1646, returned to the Mohawk nation as a missionary.

Lake St. Sacrament.
"Passing Lake George, he remembered the terrible sufferings of himself and companions and named the lake St. Sacrament, which name it bore on the French maps, but was later changed to Lake George, in honor of the British King."
"This was Father Jogues' last pilgrimage to the Mohawk country, as he was shortly afterwards killed by the Bear clan of the Mohawks."
"Anyone who will read the life of this Christ-like character must be impressed. He brought the first light of truth into the wilderness and his writings, done with his poor maimed hands, gives us the first picture of the Mohawk valley."

Owe Him a Place on Map
"This year, 1930, the Roman Church has canonized Father Jogues. At Auriesville, where he met his death, a beautiful shrine has been erected. The Church has given special recognition to the service he rendered. Geographers could well emulate the Church inasmuch as the name he bestowed on Lake George has been erased by geographers and, talking contemptuously of the fact that a new lake has been created in the very year in which Father Jogues was canonized, and further taking note of the fact that in spite of the tremendous influence in behalf of the Mohawk valley and that no geographic locality bears his name, and in the belief that we owe to this kindly man a place on the map, as well as in the Church, I respectfully submit that the state of New York can pay no higher honor to the memory of its first martyr than to call this new body of water Lake St. Jogues, in lieu of the lake he christened by blood and suffering in 1646."

100,000 Nickels Are Given Weekly To New York Poor

New York, Nov. 28.—An average of over 3,000 persons daily come to the Church of St. Francis of Assisi here, where the Franciscan Fathers, with the Order's traditional Franciscan charity, have been distributing food, clothing and money to the needy of the city applying for such aid.
Brother Gabriel, who is in charge of the distribution, has been dispensing nickels, in addition to food and clothing, and he says the number of men and women has been increasing daily since the Fathers inaugurated this method of ministering to the poor and destitute.
The distribution was begun on September 28, on which day, according to Brother Gabriel, only 186 persons appeared. The number grew rapidly until one Sunday 4,000 men and women received the money and other benefits. Dinners are distributed on Sundays instead of nickels. Brother Gabriel estimated that more than 100,000 nickels have been distributed by the church.

The gift was made in person to His Eminence by Jacob A. Mueller, Grand Knight, and the Rev. J. Zelezinski, pastor of St. Fidelis, Chaplain of Lafayette Council. Sacred Heart Convent Had Successful Campaign For Proposed Gymnasium

More Than $18,000 Subscribed Locally, and Other Returns Will Make Up Quota—Will Build In the Spring.

The Sacred Heart Alumnae Association campaign to raise a fund of $20,000 for a new gymnasium was brought to a successful close last Friday night. A total of $17,615 was reported pledged at the closing meeting, close to $1,000 additional came within a day or two, and returns are yet to be received from several out-of-town branches of the Alumnae. The Committee in charge of the campaign will meet on December 8th to make a final canvass of the campaign, and it is expected that on that night announcement will be made that the fund has exceeded the quota fixed. The new gymnasium will be built early in the Spring, and it will be a joy and a blessing to all girls at the Convent and Academy on Prince Street.

A Wonderful Campaign
The campaign for the $20,000 was a wonderful success. The finest kind of spirit, the best kind of enthusiasm, the most loyal devotion to the cause, a keen anxiety to help in every possible way, warm-hearted friends, not identified in any way with the Convent and Academy, some of them generous non-Catholics, giving unstintingly towards the cause, these, and other things, were great inspiration to the workers and to the committee.
All of the 10 teams worked zealously and devotedly, and in spite of the unusually hard times the cause was an appealing one, and its success seemed assured right from the start. The finest kind of friendship was met everywhere, the workers sought a donation, and all were inspired by the interest in the Convent and Academy, and by the love and appreciation felt everywhere for the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, and for the splendid work they are doing.

Will Build In the Spring
Miss Helen Little, chairman of the campaign, says efforts will be made to begin construction as early as possible in the Spring to facilitate community efforts to aid the idle. The gymnasium will be built as a memorial to Rev. Mother de Roquesneville, for 17 years superior of the convent. The gymnasium will be connected with the main building by a covered passageway.
Under present plans, University of Rochester instructors will conduct classes for convent pupils.
The officers of the Campaign Committee were: Miss Helen Little, general chairman; Mrs. David F. Lawrence, treasurer; and Mrs. Louis A. Langie, assistant treasurer. On the Executive Committee the officers and members were:
President, Mrs. W. Douglas Ward; vice-president, Mrs. Martin S. McMahon, recording secretary, Miss Mary Florence, corresponding secretary, Miss Katherine Alkinson, treasurer, Mrs. T. Joseph O'Connell; Miss Anne Bassett, Miss Marie Connolly, Miss Alice Curtin, Mrs. Eugene J. Dwyer, Miss Helen Little, Miss Elizabeth S. Whalen.
All of these ladies and their co-workers were delighted with the results of the campaign, and were especially delighted with the fine feeling of good will, friendship and interest they found wherever they asked for help for the cause in which they were interested.

Cardinal Hayes Talks to Vatican By Telephone On His 63d Birthday Over Phone System Just Installed

Carried On First Telephone Conversation Ever Held Between America and The Vatican.

New York, Nov. 28.—On Wednesday last week Pope blessed and inaugurated the new telephone system of the Vatican, and presented to him by the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation of New York. After the ceremony he delivered a short address thanking the president of the company, Cardinal Hayes of New York, for the "princely gift." On the following day Cardinal Hayes of New York celebrated his 63d birthday carrying on the first telephone conversation ever held in this country and the Vatican City.

A Message of Friendship
Cardinal Hayes transmitted to the Pope through Archbishop Pizzardo, Italian secretary of state at the Vatican, an address of friendship and added his congratulations to the new telephone system.
Cardinal Hayes also congratulated Archbishop Pizzardo, his personal friend, his congratulations on the latter's recent elevation to the rank of archbishop. He spoke first in English, then in Italian, and then in French. Archbishop Pizzardo answered him in each language, thanking him for his kind wishes and promising to repeat his message to the Pope.

Connection Excellent
The connection was established by Rev. Francis A. McIntyre, assistant secretary to the Cardinal, and by the cables were carried over more than 3,000 miles of land and water districts. Cardinal Hayes spoke from the study of his secretary, Mr. Stephen J. Dwyer, on the second floor of the Cardinal's residence at 452 Madison Avenue, and Archbishop Pizzardo is believed to have received the call in his study quarters at the Vatican.
The call was placed by P. P. N. by George McDonald, a Papal Marquis and close friend of Cardinal Hayes, who was paying a birthday visit to the prelate, Mr. McDonald's secretary to Archbishop Pizzardo, with whom he is well acquainted. He put in the call after receiving a message from Cardinal Hayes, president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, to this effect: "I am the secretary of the new telephone system in the Vatican."
An Up-To-Date System
Vatican City now boasts the most up-to-date telephone system in the world. Not only is the apparatus the latest word in telephonic science, but this tiny State also has the highest quality of telephone service.

The Beauty of God's Church
"She was beautiful when her children went to suffering and death, and a spiritual smile on their faces, and a source of their life. She was beautiful when the Christian Empire took possession of Rome and replaced the old government with basilicas in honor of God's great dominion over man and the world, and they have stood there since, and will stand there till the end of time to tell the story of the power of God's Church. She was beautiful when her ministers, the Apostles, bearing the emblem of Christian Faith across land and sea, told the story of the love of God to those barbarians. She was beautiful in our own fair land of America when her discoverer planted the cross and named the first place of our fair country after the Saviour of the world. She is beautiful today, when the Vicar of Christ, in the great basilica of Rome, chants the Holy Sacrifice in honor of the Great God. She is beautiful when her missionaries in the valley or on the hillside, in the humble cabin or in Cathedral Church stand and offer up to God the same great Sacrifice."
"And let us remember that as the dawn of dawn at the coming of the summer time give their beauty and their fragrance, so does the Bride of Christ continue to sprout out into the world in external beauty, explaining that which the world cannot understand, but which speaks of the beauty and perfection of God Himself."
