Longer Skirt in Fashion Picture

Society Women of New York Favor Street-Length, Writer Says.

Every now and then we hear people say that the new long skirts are to be worn in the daytime. But the world of fashionable New York society has decreed otherwise. Their decision was demonstrated conclusively a few days ago at the gathering of smart women who attended the season's first Thursday morning musicale at the Hotel Plaza.

In spite of the fact that the occasion was a very formal one, followed by many important luncheon parties, writes Ethel Holland Little, fashion editor of Women's Home Companion, I observed that in the entire audience there was only one ankle-length skirt. All the elegantly dressed women favored regulation street-length skirts, about 9 to 13 inches from the floor.

The only really charming long-skirted dress shown was worn by the societe, Madame Lucrezia Bori. As usual, she was beautifully attired for the occasion. Her gown was of royal beige transparent velvet reaching almost to the floor. The long bell-shaped sleeves of creamy lace, the litte turban of half brown and half velvet, the pearl earrings and long pearl necklace, the beige chiffon handkerchiefs, all contributed to give a pleasingly romantic impression.

The majority of the women in the audience wore black. Most of the long black cloth coats were trimmed in black Persian lamb, although there were a distinctive few with blue fox or silver fox.

Tiny black felt hats were set at various angles to show as much hair as possible, sometimes with a little nose veil. But I saw five or six attractive

Monk-Architect Dies At Age of 77 In Latrobe, Penn.

Latrobe, Pa., Jan. 30.—Brother Wolfgang Traxler, aged 77 years, died here last Friday. In his death the St. Vincent Archabbey has lost the architect who designed and built most of the buildings that house the members of the Order of St. Benedict and students at St. Vincent College here.

Brother Wolfgang Traxler had labored in the building of 16 structures near here. Most of them were built of bricks made in the monastery brickyard by the brothers. All are modeled generally in the architectural style of the mother house of the Benedictine order, located at Merten, Bavaria.

Summitville, William Kunz, Thomas O'Connor, Frank J. Smith, William J. Hauser, Patrick A. Dwyer and Joseph Tierney, president of the Notre Dame Club of Rochester.

Provision for men who haven't "sons" to get some for this dinner will be arranged by Knights who will bring boys from both St. Joseph's and St. Mary's Orphan Asylums. Excellent entertainment will be furnished. Men prominent in football in this section of the state will be invited to the dinner, and an excellent meal will be served at an unusually low price.

THE GLEANER

The January number of "The Gleaner," published at Nazareth College, has reached our desk. It is an excellent number, well printed, neatly arranged, and with a variety of interesting articles for the students and friends of the college. The magazine is a credit to the school, and the editing of it is no doubt helpful and interesting work for the members of the staff. Its editorials are well written, and there is a wide diversity in the subject and character of its articles.

Economical Desserts

By BETTY BARCLAY

Here are two recipes for delightful dishes that may be made quickly and at slight cost, from ingredients that should be on hand always:

Cocconut Apples

1 cup sugar
1 cup hot water
3 tablespoons raisins, chopped
3 tablespoons dates, chopped
4 pared and cored apples
1/2 cup cocconut, southern style

Combine sugar and water in casserole and heat in hot oven (450 d. F.) until sugar is dissolved, stirring occasionally. Gumboise raisins, dates and nuts, and add apple centers with mixture. Brush apples with melted butter. Place in casserole, cover closely, and bake 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 d. F.), cover and bake 45 minutes longer, basting apples occasionally with syrup. Sprinkle tops of apples with cocconut and continue baking until cocconut browns. Serve hot with cream. Serves four.

Snowflake Pudding

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
dash of salt
1/3 cup sugar
2 cups milk, scalded
1 envelope gelatine (1 tablespoon)
1 can (1 1/2 cups) cocconut, southern style
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

1 1/2 cups fruit (canned grated pineapple, berries or any fruit in season)

Combine egg yolks, salt, and sugar. Add a small amount of milk, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Pour a small amount of hot mixture over gelatine, stir until dissolved, and add to remainder of mixture. Cool. Fold in 2-3 cup cocconut, flavoring, and egg whites. Pour over fruit. Sprinkle with remaining cocconut. Chill until firm. Serves 8.

Caramel Pudding

1 junket tablet
1 tablespoon cold water
1 pint milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Put junket tablet in cold water, crushing with spoon to be sure it all dissolves. Put sugar in a small saucepan and stir constantly, until melted and golden brown. Add water and dissolve sugar in it. Add milk to caramel syrup and warm until lukewarm—NOT HOT. Remove from stove. Add dissolved junket tablet and vanilla and run at once into individual dessert glasses. Let stand in warm room until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill. A topping of whipped cream and nuts may be added if desired.

Botted Salad Dressing

1/2 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
few grains cayenne
1 tablespoon flour
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 tablespoons butter or oil
3/4 cup milk (sweet or sour)
3/4 cup lemon juice

Mix and sift dry ingredients; add egg yolks, slightly beaten, and milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring until thick. Add butter and lemon juice, strain, and cool.

Orange Tapioca Pudding

1/2 cup quick cooking tapioca
2 cups milk
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 oranges

Put milk and tapioca in double boiler; cook 15 minutes; then add eggs beaten with salt and one-half cup sugar. Pare oranges; remove sections from membrane; put in bottom of baking dish; sprinkle with two tablespoons sugar; pour tapioca mixture over oranges; add bake at moderate oven until custard is firm.

Two Dainty Play-Frocks for Very Small Misses

Two picturesque and dainty designs in play-frocks for the very young daughter offer a choice between a smocked dress in voile or dimity, and a slip-on apron in dotted cotton cunningly appliqued with animals of linen. The finishing touch of the latter consists of edges bound in ready-made blue binding. However, it is quite permissible to decorate the collar with a little handwork—cross-stitching, feather-stitching or hand-buttonholing.

The Fur-Trimmed Dress Suitable for All Occasions.

women wearing little white velvet hats or black-and-white velvet berets with their black coats. In each case these women had chosen white gloves and a white satin blouse or ample white trimming on a black dress.

Aside from these black or black-and-white costumes, there were a number of fur-trimmed suits, the coats varying in length from jacket to seven-eighths. These were in color—green trimmed with blue fox, beaver or black lamb—red trimmed with black or brown flat furs—brown trimmed with blue fox or brown or beaver. The hats in every case were of the suit color, and the shoes were either the same color or in a hue which matched the fur tone.

The fur-trimmed dress shown here is a Molyneux model of checked black-and-white velvet, giving a grayed effect so that gray astrakhan was chosen for the trimming. This formal afternoon style is composed of a one-piece dress and a matching jacket, a combination that seems to be accepted for all occasions.

Solid Colors Are Used in Milady's New Scarfs

In place of the usual prints which lend color contrast, a new scarf of solid color is bordered at both ends in contrasting bands of self-fabric with fringed edges and in one, two or three colors.

Striped wooleens and silks in bold colorings make interesting scarfs to be looped at the throat in the cravat manner.

Instead of the many modernistic patterns that reigned for so long in silk scarfs, solid color scarves to be worn folded in triangular fashion have appliqued bands of deeper tone or in other colors. A light green square, for example, will have one corner appliqued in blocks or similar squared patterns of darker green.

Flowers of Felt

Among the most satisfactory of poles for the edge of the V-neck and also for the coat lapel is the flower of felt. In just plain, soft felt in whatever color you like. The dabble of felt is particularly successful. Life size, it was placed a little to the left of the V-neck on a creamy satin blouse. The dabble was done red.

Insatiation is the supreme gift of the gods, and the degree of its possession is the measure of any man's advantage over circumstances—the measure of his clutch on success.

—James Howard Robber.
