Two Sisters Struck by Auto; One Badly Hurt

Sister Mary Adelaide in Critical Condition at Hospital, and Sister Mary Magdalene Painfully Injured—Aquinas Boy Killed

On Thursday night last week two Sisters of Mercy, Sister Mary Adelaide and Sister Mary Magdalene, teachers in Our Lady of Mercy High School on Blossom Road, were struck by an automobile driven by William H. Burns of Klink Road, Brighton.

Sister Mary Adelaide received a bad fracture of the skull, and it was necessary to give her blood transfusions in St. Mary's Hospital. Sister Mary Magdalene suffered cuts about the head, and painful bruises. Both were taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

Sister Mary Adelaide, close to death for several days, was slightly improved on Thursday afternoon this week, and hopes for her recovery are entertained. Sister Mary Magdalene was able to return to the convent.

The accident occurred at dusk, and the young man who drove the car was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and unable to see the Sisters in their black garments ahead of him. He is a former student of one of the Sisters and was greatly shocked by the accident.

Aquinas Student Killed
On the same day the Sisters were injured, Edmund Hebeling, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hebeling of 140 Bedford Street, was fatally injured by an F. B. Rao Oil Co. truck, at Lake Avenue and Armstrong Street. He was riding his bicycle when he was struck by the truck, when he was thrown beneath the wheels. He died six hours later in the Lake Avenue Hospital, and his funeral was held Saturday morning in St. Ambrose's Church, with many friends and acquaintances.

Besides his parents, Edmund was survived by four brothers, Paul, John, George and David. Edward was a bright boy, greatly beloved, and his untimely death is sincerely mourned.

separation that the National Diversified concern would film a motion picture, reverently plotted and staged and approved by the hierarchy of the Catholic Church entitled, "Mary the Virgin."

The corporation was organized in December, July 15, 1929, with 10,000 shares of preferred stock at $50 par value and 30,000 shares of common stock without par value. Later the authorized capitalization was increased to 100,000 shares at $50 par and 100,000 common without par value.

"Dividends" Are Paid
When stock sales fell off it is alleged that the promoters hoodwinked them by paying "dividends" out of the proceeds of the picture during the two-year period they are accused of having put up the price of the stock from $30 to $50 a share.

The indictment charges that the defendants promised to enter a contract with Associated Arts Corporation, which had a picture made up of all rights in the proposed picture would be purchased for $1,033,000. It is charged they caused large sums to be paid to the Associated Arts Corporation, their subsidiary.

Among allegedly false representations made by the defendants are the following, according to the statements:
"That Alfred E. Smith, John J. Backus and Michael J. McManus were financially interested in the National Diversified Corporation; that the corporation had purchased a large plot of land on Lexington Avenue and was about to erect a $1,000,000 building; that Cardinal Hayes, Cardinal O'Connell, Cardinal Mundelein, Archbishop Curley and Bishop Shehan were financially interested in the corporation; that the corporation had a membership of its advisory board John A. DeLaird, president of the Trenton Board of Education and librarian for the State of New Jersey; Justice McAlpine, president of the Master Builders' Association and vice-president of the Newark Diocesan Holy Name Union; James P. Flaherty, K. S. G. Supreme, Councilor of the Knights of Columbus, Philadelphia; Edward A. Dowling, Secretary of the Archdiocesan Holy Name Federation; John H. Lynch, United States Trustee; and Thomas J. Flanagan, New Jersey State President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians."

Notre Dame University To Build Two New Dormitories, With Rooms For Five Hundred More Students

Work Will Be Started at Once, and Buildings Will Be Ready For Occupancy in September—Part of Big Program

Notre Dame, March 6.—The Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, C.S.C., President of the University of Notre Dame, today announced additional plans for the University building program. Two new dormitories for students will be begun within the next week. The new buildings will be located west of Notre Dame Avenue in the direction of the Dining Halls, facing a private drive maintained by the University, and will furnish living quarters for over 500 students. The approximate cost of the dormitories will be $450,000. Maginnis and Walsh, Architects, of Boston, designed the two structures.

In appearance the new halls will carry out the Gothic style of the other buildings erected on the campus during the past few years. They will be built of brick with limestone trimmings. The construction contract has been awarded Ralph Sollitt and Sons Construction Co., of South Bend, Ind.

Part of Big Program
These plans are part of the extensive building program inaugurated five years ago. At that time three new dormitories were built—Lyons, Howard, and Morrissey Halls, designed by Kerkvick and Pagan, South Bend. In 1926 an addition was made to Lyons Hall. Early in 1927 the Rectory was started and finished in time to be used when school began the following Fall. It is said to be the largest building of its kind in America. Cram and Ferguson of Boston with Kerkvick and Pagan of South Bend, associate architects, designed the building plans.

In 1929 plans were made for the erection of a law building. In the Spring of 1930 foundations were laid for this structure at the same time excavations were started for the Notre Dame stadium. Last Fall the plan for the erection of the Edward N. Hurly Commerce school were announced and at the present time arrangements are nearing completion for laying the foundations of this school. The building was designed by Graham, Anderson, Probst, and White, Chicago.

The two new dormitories, in addition to the 12 other residence halls at Notre Dame, will expand the facilities for student residence on the campus to a great extent. Since the new buildings will be ready in time for occupancy in September of 1931, it is hoped by the University officials that there will be rooms for at least 2,400 students on the campus at the beginning of the next scholastic year.

Method Yet Found Of Squaring the Circle

The problem of squaring the circle is not a problem of drawing a square about a circle. The latter is easily done by making the side of the square the same length as the diameter of the circle. As stated by all recognized authorities, the problem is to describe a square which shall be exactly equal in area to a given circle. Since the area of a circle is a little over 3.14 (pi) times the square of its radius, and since the length of side of an equal square is the square root of this area, it will be seen that the only problem of squaring the circle is to get the exact value of this fraction "pi." It has been worked out by various mathematical methods, which are far more exact than is required for most practical purposes, though theoretically it is impossible to determine it exactly. A geometric solution of the problem; that is to describe a square equal in area to a given circle, by means of ruler and compasses alone, has also been shown to be impossible, though approximate results can be obtained by various methods.—Detroit News.

Marathon Contest
A marathon race is run over a distance of 26 miles and 385 yards. The marathon race of 1908 was one of the most memorable. It was run from Windsor castle to the Olympic stadium at Shepherds Bush, London, England. Donato Pietri, the chief representative of Italy, was forced to abort his race when, approaching the stadium and collapsed, for the first time, at the entrance of the track. First aid was rendered, and he was able to finish around the arena. They were together he went down again, and was again helped up. He fell a third time and was then carried past the winning post. Compliments were lodged by J. J. Hickey of the United States and C. H. Kelly of South Africa, who had finished second and third, respectively. They claimed that Pietri could not have reached the tape alone and he was demoralized. Captain Alexander, however, presented the speedy little Italian with a gold cup.

One Popular Man
The fallacies of life are around and complain; the gods haven't treated them white; they've lost their interest whenever it rains; and they haven't their languor at night; men live of failures who are with their teeth the air of their neighborhoods; there's a man who is greeted with low-lighted eyes; he's the man who delivers the goods.—Farm Market Sayings.

10,000 Attend Bishop Fallon's Funeral Friday

High Civil and Military Authorities Join in Mourning the Death of Fifth Bishop of London, Canada

London, Canada, March 6.—The funeral of the Rt. Rev. Michael Fallon, D.D., fifth Bishop of London, was held here last Friday, and it was attended by more than 10,000 people. A capacity congregation crowded into the Cathedral, and several thousands knelt and stood outside during the service. Archbishop Andrea Cassulo, Papal Delegate, told the people of the sorrow felt by Pope Pius XI over the death of Bishop Fallon, and paid tribute to his life and work.

The gospel side of the cathedral was a solid bank of white, as almost 400 priests occupied the pews. To the left were high military officers, sergeants and their representatives of civil power, and of education. In the choir loft seminarians sang the Mass.

During the Mass the police had difficulty keeping the vast crowd under control. As the procession moved a squadron of motorcycle police cleared the way to the seminary. Eight priests, as pallbearers, carried the coffin to the crypt in the Chapel of St. Peter's Seminary. There Archbishop Nell McNeil chanted the "De Profundis," which was taken up by the choir. The mourners then retired and the heavy marble slab was moved over the crypt.

The two new dormitories, in addition to the 12 other residence halls at Notre Dame, will expand the facilities for student residence on the campus to a great extent.
