A Spring Party By the Cathedral Societies, 13th

A Spring Party and Dance, to be held on April 13 at Assembly Hall, Edgerton Park, is being sponsored by the Cathedral Commandery and Ladies' Auxiliary of the Knights of St. John for the benefit of the Cathedral parish.

Plans are being made under the direction of William P. Ryan, as general chairman, and Mrs. John T. Herby, as general chairlady. Cards will be played, beginning at 8:30, on the lower floor. The upper floor will be devoted to dancing from 9 to 12. Paul Brown and his Original Silver Moon Serenaders will furnish the dancers with snappy and popular rhythms. Worthy prizes will be awarded the winners at cards, and a valuable door prize will be won by some lucky visitor.

Committee assisting the chairman and chairlady are: Finance: Joseph J. Keller; prizes: Thomas F. Herby; Mrs. Mabel Hall; Mrs. Stella Kohler; floor: Andrew B. O'Brien; refreshments: Edward Flank; checking: William P. Stock and Peter J. Peasey; tickets: C. J. Keller; music: Francis Bott.

All friends of the Cathedral Parish Commandery 106 and Auxiliary 262, are cordially invited. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee.

EASTER
New grief, blind with weeping,
Sees no resurrection day;
Old grief smiles, and lets the angels
Roll the stone away.

Three Sisters of St. Joseph Celebrate Golden Jubilee Of Entrance Into the Order

Sister Madeline Powers, Sister Anna Marie Hynes and Sister Mary Joseph Connor Honored by Bishop and Friends.

Three Sisters of St. Joseph celebrated the golden jubilee of their reception into the order on last Saturday, at the Nazareth Motherhouse in Pittsford. The jubilarians are Sister Madeline Powers, Sister Anna Marie Hynes and Sister Mary Joseph Connor. The Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester; the Most Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, D.D., Archbishop of Viminacium; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George V. Burns, rector of Sacred Heart Church; the Rev. Thomas Powers of Seton Hall College, Orange, N. J., a cousin of Sister Madeline, and a number of other priests, and many relatives and friends, united in making the day a blessed and happy one for these devoted Sisters.

The jubilee day was featured by the celebration of a solemn jubilee Mass in the convent chapel by the Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, who afterward delivered an eloquent sermon in which he paid tribute to the three Sisters, their lives, their work and their sacrifices. He said their 50 years of labor provided a beautiful and impressive example to the entire community, and he asked God to bless them and keep well and happy in this world, and reward them fittingly for their labors in the next.

The jubilee day was also marked by the celebration of a solemn jubilee Mass in the convent chapel by the Rt. Rev. He said their 50 years of labor provided a beautiful and impressive example to the entire community, and he asked God to bless them and keep well and happy in this world, and reward them fittingly for their labors in the next.

Many relatives and friends of the three jubilarians were present at the Mass, also Sisters of several religious orders among whom were Sister Mary Paulina Powers of St. Elizabeth's, Colgate, N. Y., and Sister Miriam Andrew of Summit, N. J.

Following the Mass a jubilee dinner was served in the convent at which Bishop O'Hern, Archbishop Hickey, Father Powers and other members of the clergy, members of the religious community, and friends were present.

The dinner was a very happy occasion, featured by tributes to the three jubilarians, and with songs and reminiscences in good keeping with the occasion. The three Sisters received many congratulations, good wishes and prayers for continued years of happy and blessed life.

OBITUARY

A fine Christian gentleman, Alphonse Klem, aged 83 years, died last Friday morning at his home, 75 Kenilworth Terrace, and was buried on Monday morning from St. Joseph's Church, of which he had been a devoted member for many years. The Rev. Michael Kleeman, C.S.S.R., was celebrant of the solemn requiem Mass, with Rev. Louis Volmer, C.S.S.R., as deacon, and Rev. Thomas Kelly, C.S.S.R., sub-deacon. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The bearers were Neil and Robert Gallagher, Gerard Hall, Albert and Theodore Klem and Thomas Farrell. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, where the funeral blessing was pronounced by Father Kleeman.

Mr. Klem was a well liked and highly respected citizen, and he was held in good regard by all his friends. Home, upright, devoted to his church, and a good neighbor at all times, he will be kept in enduring memory by all who knew his worth as a man and a citizen. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Knope Klem; three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Hall, Mrs. Joseph Gallagher, Miss Bertha Klem; two sons, Alphonse J. Urban Klem; six brothers, John, Anthony, Henry, Albert, Peter, Edward Klem; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Oberlies, Mrs. William Burkhardt; five grandchildren; 3 great-grandchildren.

Three Novices From Rochester In Sisterhood

Miss Helen R. Sweeney, Miss Mary Ranney and Miss Ruth Richardson are received into the Sacred Heart Order.

Three young women from Rochester were received last week into the novitiate of the religious order of the Sacred Heart. The reception took place at motherhouse, at Kenwood, N. Y., near Albany, and the following received the white veil:

Miss Helen R. Sweeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Sweeney, 69 Southern Parkway; Miss Mary Ranney, niece of Mrs. and Mr. William H. Reynolds, 27 Corcoran Street; and Miss Ruth Richardson, Coaster Street.

Miss Sweeney and Miss Ranney are from Blessed Sacrament Parish, and Miss Richardson from St. Catherine's Parish.

The Rev. Thomas F. Connor, pastor of Blessed Sacrament Church, assisted at the Mass which preceded the ceremony.

Miss Sweeney and Miss Ranney are recent graduates of Sacred Heart Academy in Prince Street. Miss Richardson was secretary to Arthur O. Parker, director of the Rochester Municipal Museum of Arts and Sciences.

All three of the young novices are well known, and their friends will unite in wishing them lives rich in spiritual wealth, happiness and worthwhile achievement for God.

her husband, Peter; four sons, Samuel, Chas. J., Michael and Joseph Lombardo; and five daughters, the Misses Alice, May, Anastasia and Lucy Lombardo and Rose Trobia.

St. Patrick's Eve

It was on the eve of last Saint Patrick's Day,
The birds in the bushes were carolling gay,
And the shamrocks, God bless them, were shining with green,
When I met my sweet Molly, my Irish colleen.

Her eyes were as blue as the plates which herself
Keeps next to the clock on the sitting-room shelf.
Her glossy black tresses, a tumbling down,
Shone like the silk of a lady's church gown.

"The top o' the morning, sweet Molly," says I,
"Sure here's a fair sight for an Irish lad's eye!
May I carry your basket?" Says she, "Ay, you may,
And God's blessing be with you for Saint Patrick's Day!"

We walked on together beneath the blue sky
And, "To-day I'm sure puzzled, sweet Molly," says I,
"Last night in my sleep a strange vision befell,
I can't guess its meaning, perhaps you can tell."

"I saw our Saint Patrick in emerald green gown,
Like the statue in front of the church in the town.
He smiled with a wonderful smile as he spoke,
And his eyes were a' twinkle with some little joke."

"Here's a shamrock, my liddle, whose little green leaf
Is not for a sermon in Christiana belled,
But a lesson in love which I hope that you may Recite to perfection on my special day."

"Now this first leaf, I see, is a brave Irish boy,
And this one a maiden who's pretty and coy,
And this last little leaf, I'm not sure what 'twill be,
But I hope you'll be happy, God bless you," says he."

My Molly looked down and no word could she speak,
With a blush like a sweet little rose on her cheek,
But I saw in her eye a shy twinkle of fun
Which told me for sure that my colleen was won.

Then, "Sure Molly," says I, "I'll plently I see
That the good Saint of Erin has sent you to me,
It will vex him for sure, if we longer delay,
And we pledged our troth on the Saint Patrick's Day."
