Club Installs Its Officers Monday Night
Final Card Party on Tuesday, and Public Speech Class Thursday—Dinner to Bishop O'Hern on May 26th.

The week at the Catholic Women's Club will open Monday night with the regular monthly business meeting, followed by the installation of the officers and directors who were elected at the annual meeting last month. The officers and directors to take office are: Miss Alice F. Kirk, President; Mrs. Leo F. Simpson, First Vice-President; Mrs. George W. O'Grady, Second Vice-President; Miss Mary I. Clark, Recording Secretary; Miss Anna Breen, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. James F. Sprout, Treasurer; Mrs. William J. McDade, Assistant Treasurer; Directors, Mrs. P. D. Kane, Mrs. Joseph Stait, Mrs. Charles W. Mayor, Mrs. John M. Foley.

On Tuesday evening the season of cards at the Club will be closed with a large party, at which incoming and outgoing members of the Board of Directors will act as honorees. The party is open to the public, and men and women are invited.

The Public Speech Class will have for its subject on Tuesday afternoon next week "The Secret of Concentration." The class will close its season with a social evening on Thursday evening to which the public is invited. Mrs. John J. Sobie who has been in charge of the classes will give an informal talk and a program of unusual interest will follow.

The "Missionary Group" will have its monthly meeting on Friday evening. The Annual Dinner, to honor Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D. D., the spiritual advisor of the Club, and the new officers and directors, is announced for Tuesday evening, May 26th, at the Powers Hotel.

Priest, Attacked by Tiger, And Torn by Teeth and Claws, Tells About It in Rochester

Rev. Christopher F. Brooks, C.S.C., Graduate of Notre Dame, Describes How Enraged Bengal Tiger Leaped Upon Him in India Rice Field.

The Rev. Christopher F. Brooks, C.S.C., for 10 years a missionary priest in India, was in Rochester this week. Sunday night he gave a talk to the students of St. Bernard's Seminary, Tuesday afternoon he visited the Rev. Leo C. Mooney, Diocesan Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, and in the evening left for Washington, D. C., where he has been resting and recuperating after one of the most terrifying experiences ever endured by any man—seized and held in the claws and teeth of an enraged Bengal tiger, borne to the earth beneath the animal, which clawed his breast as he held it in a frenzied grip by the lower jaw to prevent it from burying its teeth in his throat—held it until a comrade shot and killed the beast and saved his life.

Father Brooks is a man of medium build, about 35 years of age, and of quiet, unassuming nature. He was born in Watertown, Wis., and he has a brother, the Rev. Peter A. Brooks, S.J., at St. Louis University.

Ten years ago Father Brooks went to India, where the Congregation of the Holy Cross has extensive mission fields. He was stationed at Ballukara in the Diocese of Dacca, and he founded a mission station there and built a little church with his own hands. He was a member of the first group of American priests to go into this field.

The Tiger Hunt

Early in January, 1930, a native walking near a rice field was terrified by the roar of a tiger, which leaped upon him and tore off one ear as it slashed his face with a powerful forepaw. The native ran screaming to the village, and soon a group of natives were on their way to the rice field to kill the tiger. They were armed chiefly with spears and clubs, and they were not far from the tiger when they saw it. One of the natives, a 17-year-old boy discovered the tiger crouched in the rice. He shouted in terror and ran for his life, followed by most of the amateur hunters.

Some of the men ran to Father Brooks, who was working on his little church with Father Anthony Gomez, C.S.C., and Brother Bede, C.S.C., and begged the priests help them kill the tiger. The priests and brother led the hunters back to the rice field. Some one gave Father Brooks a spear, and he went into the field.

The Tiger Leaps Thirty Feet

Thirty feet away the tiger leaped for the group of hunters, covering the distance in three mighty jumps, and so quickly the eye could scarcely follow its movements. It knocked a native unconscious with one blow of its paw, leaped for Father Gomez, who dodged it; then sprang upon an aged Christian native, bore him to the ground and started to claw him. Father Brooks ran towards the tiger with his spear. But the animal made a lightning-like leap upon the priest, seized him by the right shoulder and bore him to the ground.

The natives, terrified, ran for their lives, leaving Father Brooks to his fate. When he fell beneath the tiger, the priest raised his right arm to protect his head from the teeth of the beast. The tiger bit first through his shoulder, then made a grab for his throat, but caught the right forearm. Father Brooks instantly seized the beast by the lower jaw with his left hand, and held his head close to him so that he could not claw him badly. But the tiger tore at his throat. Father Gomez at this instant struck the tiger with a spear. Brother Bede, unarmed, seized a rifle from a fleeing native, ran up to the tiger, and fired, killing him instantly. The animal fell over upon Father Brooks.

"Everyone of us ought to be killed for not knowing better than to get in this mess," Brother Bede cheerfully announced as they pulled Father Brooks from beneath the beast. The tiger was nearly six feet in length, and was a female.

Suffered a Great Deal

Father Brooks suffered a great deal from the bites in his shoulder and his arm swelled badly. They had no medicines, and it was a four-day journey to the nearest doctor. After two very bad nights with frightful pain, Brother Bede placed a relic of the Little Flower—patroness of the missions—upon the arm. The next morning the swelling stopped, was discharged, and the severe pain ended. But it was weeks before

Carnegie Medal For Heroic Boy Who Saved Man

Roderick M. Cunningham, Son of Justice and Mrs. B. B. Cunningham, Receives Coveted Award.

On July 30, 1930, Joseph W. Schwarze, of Walkenburgh, N. Y., fell off a dock into 10 feet of water at Conesus Lake. He could not swim, and was drowning, when Roderick M. Cunningham, 10-year-old son of Justice and Mrs. Benjamin B. Cunningham, of 220 Kilbourne Road, jumped into the lake, seized the drowning man and swam with him to the dock, where others pulled him to safety.

Rev. John P. Schellhorn, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, was a witness of this heroic act, and he recommended the boy to the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for recognition as a hero. Last Friday the Commission, which had made careful investigation of the rescue, awarded Roderick a Carnegie bronze medal, symbol of unusual heroism. This medal will be presented to him formally within a few weeks, and it is certain to be admired by all of Roderick's friends, and by his fellow-students at the Blessed Sacrament School. The boy, modestly, says he did nothing unusual, but that he had saw the rescue say it was a remarkably heroic piece of work.

Friends Honor Pastor at Lima, Rev. J. S. Farrell

Testimonial Dinner Given to Him, Auspices Chamber of Commerce—He Is Going to Hornell Church.

Lima, May 1.—On Wednesday evening last week more than 200 men attended a testimonial dinner in honor of Rev. John S. Farrell, M. R., Pastor of St. Rose's Church, Lima, for the past 12 years, and gone now to Hornell as pastor of St. Ann's Church in that city. The dinner was held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce in the Town Hall, and it was a splendid affair.

The Rt. Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D. D., Bishop of Rochester, was a guest of honor and the principal speaker. All walks of life were represented, and all creeds. Mayor E. M. Gillett welcomed the guests. Joseph McSweeney, Rochester attorney, and a native of Lima, was toastmaster. Besides Bishop O'Hern, speakers included Rev. Cornelius Hogan of St. Andrew's Seminary; Rev. Martin Cluney of Honeyville Park; Rev. James A. Hamilton, minister of the Lima Presbyterian Church; Rev. Charles F. Shear, pastor of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Rochester; Dr. A. T. Schumacher, president of Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, and Rev. G. E. Manning, minister of the Lima Methodist Episcopal Church.

Musical Program

Out-of-town guests included Rev. Samuel Palmer, minister of the Presbyterian Church of Coxsack; Rev. Patrick McArdle of Scottsville; Rev. P. A. Neville, Rev. Charles Reynolds of Rochester, Rev. Paul Gaffney of Industry, Rev. John Napier of Shortsville, Rev. Charles Muckle of Avon, Rev. Allen Quinlan of Rochester.

A musical program was provided under the direction of Charles Cameron Bell, organist of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Rochester.

Eloquent tributes were paid to Father Farrell, his life, his work and his interest in Lima, and his people, and regret expressed over his departure.

He who is truly poor cares so little for temporal things that though for true just reasons he labors to acquire them, yet they cause him no anxiety whatever.
