

League Crown For First Half To Holy Family

Sunday afternoon a crowd of more than 1,000 watched the Holy Family team win the first half championship of the Catholic League by defeating O. L. P. H. by a 4-to-1 score at Yawman & Erbe Field yesterday.

umped over the O. L. P. H. speed ace, Mason allowed but two hits, while Reberman litized the champs to three.

Bad support ruined Reberman's chances for victory, as his team erred five times. Mason was accorded perfect support, and fanned 10 batsmen while Reberman whiffed six. Each pitcher walked three men.

At Young was the batting star of the game, garnering two of his team's three hits. His brother, Chuck Young, got the other. Barney Evans and Carney got hits for O. L. P. H. Mason held the east side's hitless in the last six innings.

Monday night Paul Brescia, president of the League, met the managers of the eight teams in the League and discussed plans for the opening of the second half of the league schedule next Sunday afternoon. Teams were represented as follows: Bleier, O. L. P. H.; Young, Holy Family; Morgan, St. Andrew's; Gall, St. Margaret Mary's; Collins, St. George's; Sanger, E. R. A. A.; Murphy, St. Bridget's, and Legler of St. Ambrose.

A hotter race is expected for the second half than the first, although the first had lots of thrills.

Alhambra Boys Had Fine Time At Big Outing

Wednesday this week was a big day for Musa Caravan, Order of the Alhambra—the annual outing of the Caravan. The event was held at DuBois Flats, Pittsford, where woodchucks climb the butternut trees in the fall, and where the air is serene and congenial. Some 300 Alhambrians motored in, like Knights of old, worried a little last it rain, but worried more lest it be too dry. They had a good day of it, albeit there was tragedy when the Germans walloped the Irish in a baseball game, with "Billy" Bauer as their captain, and the redoubtable "Andy" Kavanaugh, chief of police, trying to keep the Irish as active as the Fenians of old.

Exiled Kulaks in Russia Have Terrible Existence

At night they pry the city streets rummaging in garbage cans, fighting for the contents with dogs. They are not guarded. A sentry stands at the doorway of the church, but they are permitted to wander about, as they cannot escape. The frozen stretches of ice and snow in the pill-less Arctic keep them safer prisoners than bayonets, cell or locks. The townspeople cannot and will not take them in or give them shelter. The native populace watches and moved as the hungry men tramp the streets, mutely appealing for food—they dare not beg or ask for anything.

Odd Pledges Accepted by Spanish Pawnshop

Pawnshops are often amazingly interesting places—especially when you happen to be hard up. And the most curious of all of them is probably one in Barcelona, Spain, where birds and animals are accepted as pledges. Bears, camels, horses and dogs are accepted by this unique "uncle" as a matter of course. The chief patroness are circus proprietors. One polar bear who was handed, so to speak, over the counter by his needy owner proved to have an appetite more remarkable than that of any small boy at a Christmas party. His owner could not redeem him and other circus proprietors who visited the shop in search of four-footed "turns" were apparently aware of his fame as an eater, for no purchaser could be found for him. At last he had to be killed, but his food bill ran the business. A woman snake charmer recently gave into the care of "uncle" a collection of "poisoning snakes!" She headed money to return to her native country. A few months later, however, she succeeded in redeeming her pets from their temporary home.

Easy to See Differences

A writer in the Detroit News is responsible for the following story, showing a characteristic viewpoint of the fair sex: "A man took a girl friend of his out to lunch one day. He said nothing to her wife about it. Why so? There was no harm in the luncheon. "Of course gossip is a few days brought the thing to the poor woman's ears, and she raised hell. "But look here, Joe, I'm not out now and then with Billy Snyder or Jane Holyrod, and I don't make the least objection. What's the difference between your case and mine? "The difference," she said, "is that the price is the difference. In the one case you pay for it, in the other case I do."

Solemn Novena Will Be Held At St. Anne's

The Solemn Novena or nine-day prayer in honor of St. Anne, the Patron Saint of St. Anne's Church on Brighton Park, off Mt. The Solemn Novena will be conducted by Father Seidel, a Redemptorist missionary Father who will give a short instruction every evening in connection with the Novena services. Owing to the many people who came quite a distance last year to make this novena, the service will begin this year at 8 P. M. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, veneration of the holy relic, and blessing of religious articles by the missionary Father will close the services every evening.

Generous Allowance of Wives for Royal Infants

The 1922 milk was not considered an important item in the diet of the royal children. It was not until the reign of King George V that milk became an important part of the diet. The royal children were supplied with 25 pints of red wine and a similar quantity of white wine, while for their attendants of gentle with a further 25 pints of a cheaper red wine was provided. Their staff had to be content with 15 pints of cheap beer. The daily amount also shows that 75 down leaves of bread were sold for. Pike, roach, carp, gudgeon, cyprin, minnow, turtle, vitreous, sole, red, white and red berries also are listed, including, oddly enough, four vipers. What the vipers were used for is not stated.—London Mail.

Putting Off Inevitable

Decent of Life's Hill There comes a moment to all of us when we realize we have not only reached the crest of the hill, but that we are going down the other side. Or, at least, we think so. For, if we are strong enough, we need not really go down that hill. Physically speaking, there has been a decent in our life since the moment we were born. Life comes, and immediately begins to go. But that is the least important side of us. If we have the vision, the movement of our mind and soul should be both up and wider. We only go downhill if we decide that we are going so. Why always should be our watchword—the real determination. Catch the idea that we are going downhill means that we are definitely and surely. Once it gets into our mind, life takes on a drab, dull, unpleasant view. You can go on going up the hill if you make up your mind to do so. Going down is a miserable, slippery business, bringing with it no end of sorrow and regret. And lots of stoness tumbling after us. It need not be. Make up your mind to go up—and go up you will.—G. H. G. in London Times.
