Registrations Received from Many New Students—Dean of College is in Europe, Planning Improvements

Nazareth College for young women, conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph at 402 Augustine Street, Rochester, N. Y., is receiving registration now for the coming school year. The college is offering a variety of courses, is well equipped to handle an exceptionally large class of Freshmen, and the indications are that the new class will be a bumper one.

The dean of Nazareth College, Sister M. Teresa Marie, is in Europe now in the interests of the college, and she is making plans for the enlargement of the buildings, the faculty and the equipment.

Prospects for next year are excellent. The college has been receiving from students in many localities outside of Rochester which have not heretofore been represented at Nazareth. The sisters in charge are anxious to have new students register as soon as possible, because plans are being made for social and other work for the new class.

The success of graduates of Nazareth College has given it a growing reputation with nearly 100 alumnae now actively engaged in all fields of work, such as teaching, social work, work in industrial and hospital laboratories, and in business.

During the past year Nazareth College has received its final standardization as a recognized college by admitting into the regional standardizing body, the Association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland, and finally into membership in the American Council on Education.

Summer School, conducted at the college for the fourth year, is now in session, with the largest registration since Nazareth College began work in industrial and hospital laboratories, and in business.

The annual picnic of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held on Sunday, July 26th, at the Greyhound racing track on Dewey Avenue. Patrons who do not drive automobiles can take the Dewey Avenue bus to Exillon Road. Motorists will find a good road.

This annual Hibernian picnic is always a big event. It is open to all Hibernians and their friends, ladies and gentlemen, and many patrons bring their families to enjoy the outing. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of Irish blood to attend, and share in the Hibernian spirit that will dominate the day.

There will be a variety of games and other entertainment on the program, with competent committees in charge of the various events. An unusually big crowd is expected.

"Random Thoughts"

We have on our hands an elephant. In the shape of our subway. For which for years, and years, and years we folks must pay and pay. Twelve million bucks, the subway cost.

Which is a heap of dough. Are we folks glad because of that? What's the answer—yes or no?

Do nothing, say nothing until you have examined whether what you are about to say or do is pleasing to God, profitable to yourself, and likely to edify your neighbor.

Our love of God has this above the affections of the world, it impels us to love God, and we are sure He loves us.

The more a man draws near to God the more should he increase in humility; for otherwise his efforts will be fruitless.

The bridegroom was followed by the bride, who was escorted by her father, Mr. Lary, who is a Yankee pitcher, whose own marriage last fall was the result of an accident which sent Mr. Lary to the hospital. Three of the bridegroom's team-mates, including Mr. McPoy, married successively at the hospital while awaiting him. Miss Lawlor was attended by Mrs. Robert B. Law of Greenwich, Conn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward F. Leonard, pastor of St. Malachy's Church, which Miss Lawlor attended.

Bug-Root Houses

The late Seth Euddhimal, wealthy and pious banker of Shiroa, Central India, left $100,000 to build and endow in perpetuity three rest houses into which insects may withdraw from the world. Poor travelers will be allowed to sleep overnight in these bug-rest houses, will even be paid a small sum for doing so, as long as they lie still and kill no bugs. Should a sleeper kill a bug, even by accidentally rolling over, he will be ejected from the bug house by attendants and forfeit his sleep money. No less than 200 insect rest houses of a more or less similar nature are maintained throughout India by pious natives who realize that no bug is too insignificant to contain the reincarnated soul of an ascetic.—The Magazine.

Try Yawning

If you would fortify your willing nerves before walking into the boss' office to ask for that long-delayed raise or for that luscious higher job, just yawn and indulge in a hearty stretch. The procedure is guaranteed by an authority to give renewed courage and vocal tones that will reflect confidence in the crucial interview.

Hein Hathaway, author and contributor to many noted periodicals, says that bodily poise is directly allied with mental balance through correct posture and regular breathing. One way of acquiring the desired quality, he says, is through yawning. (English for Yawning).

Italy's Flag

The royal standard of Italy consists of a square blue field, in which is centered the national coat of arms. When Napoleon made the northern provinces of Italy into a kingdom in 1805 he gave it a flag of three colors—green next to the flagstaff, white in the middle and red at the fly end. This flag disappeared when Napoleon was overthrown, but was revived when Victor Emmanuel, King of Sardinia and a member of the house of Savoy, became King. At the present day Italy's flag consists of the Savoy arms, surrounded by a crown, on the central white stripe a stripe of Napoleon's tricolor and a red stripe.

Divisions of Orient

Japan, China and the other countries on or near the eastern coast of Asia comprise the geographical region known as the Far East. "The Orient" is a more general term and includes all countries in Asia east of the Mediterranean. "Near East" is applied to Turkey in Europe, Asia Minor, Armenia, Georgia, Azerbaijan, Persia, Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Arabia and Egypt. Thus it will be seen that the Near East and the Far East in a general way consist of divisions of the Orient.

Ancient Rhodians Foundry

An ancient iron foundry, buried six feet in a cavern, has been dug up by the Italian expedition which is searching for traces of prehistoric man near the Livingstone rocks in Rhodes. Here 3,000 or 4,000 years ago a superior, intellectual race melted iron by primitive methods, such as are now known to the Hatti people. The discovery indicates the great age of the Zimbabwe and other Rhodian stone ruins, and throws new light on the history of metallurgy.

French Law Official

Waited Long to Strike

"It is a serious thing to fall foul of the law in France," writes a columnist in the Manchester Guardian. "The elephant never forgets, naturalists assure us—nor do most French officers of the law. Whole legions after men escape from Devil's Island or the Foreign Legion they are wont to be tapped on the shoulder in the streets of Marseilles or Bordeaux and told to come along to the police station."

"And recently an elderly peasant woman in a village near Boulogne was tackled for an eight franc fine inflicted on her nine-and-twenty years ago. It appears that on September 15, 1901, three children were seen playing in an outfield before the sheaves had been removed. The garde champetre called on their mother and told her that she would be fined for this heinous delinquency on their part."

"She was a busy woman with eight other small children—continually getting into the sort of mild trouble that befalls their age. She waited for the summons, but it never came along, and presently she forgot all about it. Recently, however, she received that summons with a demand to pay eight centimes. Miffled, she went to the office of the local justice of the peace where they explained what it was all about, and said that they had found the matter outstanding in the books. She paid it to avoid further bother."

Nothing Modern About the Use of Spectacles

Glasses for the aid of our sight are almost as old as the universe. It is not far-fetched to think that the Atlanteans 22,000 years ago knew of lenses. Dr. Fessett Edwards writes in an article on the history of glasses, in Hygein Magazine.

The ruins of Nineveh yielded the oldest known piece of transparent glass, which was dated 2,000 years ago. Pliny has recorded, Doctor Edwards reports, that Nero winked and blinked and brought objects close to his eyes. Nero was wont to gaze on gladiatorial fights through a glass cut from a huge emerald.

The first of our present-day spectacles was produced by Roger Bacon, who in about the year 1280 A. D. made a reading glass to be used in magnifying the smallest letters. Benjamin Franklin was the inventor of the bifocal spectacles.

Action of Roentgen Rays

A German physicist Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, born at Lenep, in Prussia, in 1845, discovered the X-ray, or Roentgen rays in 1895. He was a professor at Wurzburg at that time. The X-rays are known to be vibrations of the ether, similar to but much more rapid than those of light. The wave length is so extremely short that every substance, regardless of color, is more or less transparent to them. A simple explanation of them is that when a high tension electric current is sent through a glass tube from which the air has been highly exhausted, the negative pole or cathode sends out an invisible stream of negatively charged particles called cathode rays. These rays can be brought to a focus like light, and when focused on a metallic target within the tube, the metal becomes intensely hot and gives off these Roentgen rays, or X-rays.

We Are Moved but NOT TO TEARS

On the contrary we're very glad to say good-bye to our old fifth floor accounting and charge account offices which are now on the new seventh floor.

Edwards has so many thousands of charge accounts (growing daily, thank you!) and so many Budget Plan accounts that sometimes it seems as if our offices were a real thoroughfare. Most of our customers come to see us frequently and many as often as once a week, we're happy to say, so we found ourselves getting pretty crowded and uncomfortable. Result: We moved all our offices up to the seventh floor and we're sure you'll like the change, the light and the air. Won't you come in and say "Hello"?
