Now is the time to put away for winter use many delicious tomato dishes. Tomatoes are filled with vitamins and the sugar used is a quick energy fuel that will be greatly appreciated during the cold weather months to come. Try these two unusual recipes:

- Tomato Chutney
1 dozen ripe tomatoes, medium size, chopped
2 onions, medium size, chopped
1/2 cup vinegar, seeded and chopped
1 dozen tart apples, peeled and chopped
1 pound seedless raisins
1 cup celery, cut fine
1 quart vinegar
1 cup sugar
1 salt
1 teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves

Combine the ingredients, and cook in a preserving kettle until the chutney is thick and clear. Stir frequently to prevent burning. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

Tomato-Raisin Conserve

- 1 quart, ripe tomatoes
1/2 cup raisins, seeded, sorted and washed
1 lemon, cubed
2 pounds sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 small piece of mace
(Use spices in cheese cloth bag.)

Boil all ingredients, except sugar, until a thick mass is obtained. Add sugar slowly and boil about 15 minutes or until jelly stage is reached. When all the mass is done, stir in the mace and raisins. One cup of nut meats may be added to this just before removing from the fire. Pour into glasses and seal.

Food Orange Appetizer

- 3 tablespoons gelatin
4 tablespoons cold water
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 cup orange slices free of membranes
mint sprigs

Combine gelatin and cold water. Stand 5 minutes. Heat 1 cup of the orange juice over hot water. Add gelatin and sugar. Stir until dissolved. Cool. Add rest of ingredients. Add orange slices. Stir occasionally. Add orange slices. Serve hot, cold or at room temperature. May garnish with mint sprigs.

Hollandaise Sauce

- 3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon mustard
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 egg yolk

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter, add salt, pepper and mustard, mix well, add water and lemon juice. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Add remaining butter with slightly beaten egg yolk and cook 2 minutes longer.

We do very wrong and grossly deceive ourselves when we are not resigned to all that God has ordained for us, since He knows better than we what we need.

SLEEVES ACQUIRE SOME IMPORTANCE

Sleeves are interesting and important enough to write volumes about these days. Every couturier not only has his or her own idea about them but the word idea is in the plural where a lot of them are concerned, says an authority.

They have no one length or type this summer—that is certain. The long and the short of it, according to Factors, goes something like this: Printed silk or crepe from the elbow to the cuffs, fitting the arm rather snugly. The fullness in the tucking is released after an inch and the ruffle falls to midway between the elbow and the wrist.

This short sleeve is simplicity itself. It strikes the arm when finished halfway between the shoulder and the elbow and has only a three-inch cuff part on very much like a man's shirt cuff, but instead of cuff links the ends that come together are made into tiny pleats.

Mary Rouff has made a "dancing" sleeve that is delightful. It has a run of six parallel tucks just above the elbow and from there on the under side it falls in cascades almost to the wrist. At the inside of the elbow it is silk and lined with white. The white extends further than the outer layer and when the arms are lifted in dancing the effect is everything to be desired.

Cautious Hold Their Own With Silks and Satins

If you ever had an idea that cotton materials were in any way inferior to silks and satins, you will have to revise your opinion this summer. Silks fabrics such as organdis, plain or embroidered, batiste, and dotted swiss are used not only for informal evening dresses but for those of the more formal sort. June bridesmaids will wear pasted-on organdis dresses, and brides will wear the embroidered batiste. Usually these lighter, sheer cotton materials are worn over taffeta or silk crepe slips, infats being the smartest choice for evening; but you may prefer a slip or petticoat of tulle or batiste trimmed with lace edging and insertion.

Desserts in a Twinkling

Here are two desserts that may be made in a twinkling—for the children's party, or when father telephoned that he is bringing company home for dinner. Try them and see how delicious they are:

Coconut Trumble

- 3 bananas, sliced
1/2 cup coconut
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup currants
1/2 cup walnuts
1/2 cup almonds
1/2 cup pecans
1/2 cup cashews
1/2 cup hazelnuts
1/2 cup pineapples
1/2 cup strawberries
1/2 cup raspberries
1/2 cup blueberries

Peaches Marguerite

- 4 peaches, finely chopped
1/2 cup coconut, southern style, finely chopped
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup currants
1/2 cup walnuts
1/2 cup almonds
1/2 cup pecans
1/2 cup hazelnuts
1/2 cup pineapples
1/2 cup strawberries
1/2 cup raspberries
1/2 cup blueberries

Dotted Net Is Charming and Chic

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT with the program of party frocks for the last several summers being mostly a matter of one printed chiffon frock after another, the idea of printed or embroidered cotton net suggests a most intriguing diversion.

The beauty about these very charming new quality kind cotton nets which are now so smartly in fashion for evening wear is that they can be safely and successfully washed—no danger of colors "running" as heretofore. Then, too, these nets drop over so charmingly, of the same time having enough body in them to stay crisp and fresh looking on the warmest evening.

Very newest printed nets carry the message that dots have appeared on fashion's horizon for midsummer evenings. For the slender woman the dress pictured is ideal. It is a very "young" frock for slim and svelter youth, and later providing you're the type.

A particularly summery and actually washable during cotton net fashions this lovely gown. Of course, you will be interested in the deep collet collar which reminds us that shoulders are generally covered this summer if only with a wisp of a scarf, or a tiny drapey which looks as if it might have started to be a sleeve and decided to "just pretend." We most forgot to tell you that the dots which pattern this particular dress are in "English Officer" red, from which striking color the hand-made silk apples, which form the corsage take their cue. A slightly stiffened peplum is featured, its hemline following the contour of the skirt-hemline with considerable artistry.

Quite as effective, although not so unusual and new as the big coin dots are the charming nets which are patterned with colorful floral. These too in every key from flamboyant rose motifs to demure Dolly Varden flowerettes.

You may have quite a time deciding whether to buy a printed or an embroidered net for your next evening or garden-party frock. Choose either and you will play safe. The inspiring thought in this connection is that through perfected processes these fine quality doted nets no matter how delicate their tones and tints may be or how bold, they may be relied on as being fast color. This means they are not only appealing from an esthetic point of view, but they are also thoroughly practical.

VACATION LUNCHEONS

By BETTY BARCLAY

Have you ever realized the wonderful opportunity mothers have during vacation time to prepare nourishing luncheons for their children?

No matter how much we dislike the idea, it is true that a large percentage of our children are undernourished. School authorities realize this and attempt to serve nutritious lunches in many of the large city schools. In hoping that these lunches will turn undernourished children into the healthy little animals they are intended to be in the country and smaller towns the mothers are entirely responsible for the diet of their children, and during the months of the year the mid-day meal far too often consists of a packed lunch that is none too well balanced.

During vacation, mothers have a wonderful opportunity to prepare tasteful little mid-day meals that will put roses into the cheeks that are unaccustomed to them.

They do not have to be elaborate meals. They do not have to be meals that require a great deal of work over a hot stove or range. On the contrary, the average child most requires in hot weather, foods that are very easily prepared. Milk, fruit salads, novel sandwiches, lemonade, oranges and cool desserts are the kinds of food that children like, and they are also the kinds of food that children most need in the middle of a hot summer day.

Fruits and vegetables are almost all decidedly alkaline in their reaction when taken into the system. Milk is the alkali in its reaction. The cool drinks and desserts reduce the temperature of over-heated little bodies, and as the lunch as a whole is far from heavy, play may be resumed with very little delay.

The prelates from the farming states to the westward—the Rt. Rev. Edward Kelly, Bishop of Winona; the Rt. Rev. Edmund Heelan, Bishop of St. Cloud; the Rt. Rev. Henry J. Bohman, Bishop of Davenport; and the Rt. Rev. Francis J. Tier, Bishop of Concordia, gave accounts of conditions which were far from encouraging.

Race, Religion, Age and Other Prejudices Harmful to Teachers

Mr. Miller decries this discrimination on the basis of age and religion as being unfair and depriving both "educational and business institutions of the experience and wisdom which youth, by reason of being youth, seldom possesses." He urges that schools and colleges employ competent persons whether "young or of middle age and beyond."

Evening

I stood on the crest of the mountain at twilight, As the slow-setting sun put its glories to rest, And I caught me a glimpse of the towers of Heaven And jewel-lighted domes, through the Gates of the West.

I was lost in the dreams and the glories it offered, Nor saw when it faded, as beauty must do; When I woke to the season the brightness had vanished Save one silver star in the deepening blue.

And the night breezes whispered: "Some lives are like sunset, A glory, a flame and a fading away, While some are designed to be stars in the darkness Fair beacons to guide 'till the dawn of the day."

Seven Factors Negative or Disagreeable Personalities Do Not Make Good School Teachers

Students of definitely negative or disagreeable personalities do not make good school teachers and should not be recommended for positions in education, Mr. Miller declares, in listing "seven factors" that determine whether or not the applicant may expect to obtain a position as a teacher.

He who is so great an infidel that he could fill a thousand words, designed to be enclosed in the most pure womb of the Blessed Virgin.

He who has more humility will longer retain the Son of God with him; and he who has less will enjoy less of His divine company.

He dies peacefully and without fear who during his life has sincerely loved God, and despised all the things of this world.

SPORTS CLOTHES HOLD POPULARITY

Practical Appeal and Charm Is Cause.

The popularity of the sports frock continues unabated. Somehow it seems that the trig lines of such a frock suggest the business-like, trim, neat woman that one sees everywhere.

That every important designer and every small house include a whole section of sports clothes in each and every collection is proof that such frocks have come to stay. For most women prefer to spend the day in simple, well-tailored frocks of practical appeal and charm, rather than wear the fussy, dressy clothes that used to signify smartness.

It seems difficult to believe that we will ever return to such clothes. We are far too proud of our svelter figure, and want to wear clothes that are expressive of our slim proportions.

What better choice could be made than the frock that we have dubbed "sports" frock for want of a better name to characterize its utility, verve and chic?

The new sports frocks would make even the most languid woman ambitious to get out each day for a brisk constitutional.

Formal Pajama Costumes

Now that formal pajama costumes are making their presence known at moonlight dances and summer opera, designers are seeing to it that they are styled with all the subtle elegance which add a glamorous beauty to the evening mode.

Let us bless God that we are children of His Mother; let us imitate her and consider our great happiness in having her as patron.
