The Mass in Pictures

The outstanding feature, not only of the final session, but of the whole

Convention, was the newly-made-film, "The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass," with the Rev. William J. Brien as celebrant. These pictures were given a private showing at the Eastman Laboratory at noon. They were shown in the evening under the supervision of Thomas J. Craig, de-partmental manager of the Eastman

Co., and introduced by Bishop O'Hern

as one of the men "closest and near-est and dearest to the heart of George Eastman."

The pictures are superb. Clear, impressive, carefully and beautifully filmed, with every last detail of the Mass brought out in a perfect way, they go straight to the heart. They carry a dramatic touch that is impressive, and no one can see them and not be moved to the very soul.

Health—Happiness and Hot Water

"I know of no better foundation for a child's success in later life than to build in his mind a proper respect for hot water," remarked a physician, himself the father of two sturdy boys and a rosy-cheeked little daughter.

The child that has been properly trained grows up regarding acrupulous personal cleanliness as the natural thing. This cleanliness expresses itself first in greater resistance to disease, in better health. Without perfect cleanliness no boy or girl, man or woman can be truly healthy or attractive. ys and girls who have formed the "hot water habit" from childhood become the healthy skinned, well-groumed men and women to whom the doors of business and social opportunity with open most eften."
