An Oil Burner That is Economical, Easy and Safe to Operate, and That Gives Satisfactory Service to Users

The York Oil Burner, distributed by Ray H. Adams, 101 Walnut Street, represents the acme of portability in modern oil burners. Easy to operate, safe, simple and economical, causing little or no trouble to users and always giving the best of satisfaction, the York Oil Burner is a joy to all who have it in their homes. A letter from a user of a York Oil Burner says: "My cost for oil to heat my residence with the York Oil Burner for the winter 1927-28 was $178.24. My average cost to heat with coal over a period of five years previous in the same house was $242 per year. (Hard coal $13.25 per ton, oil nine cents per gallon.)"

Nearly Perfect Combustion
Mr. Adams points out that the local York office is the only Rochester firm devoted exclusively to the sale and service of oil burners. This assures a closer study and application of all the newest ideas in oil heating and a guarantee of concentrated service to every York user.

It is claimed that the York engineering principle, with special installation of refractory materials, starting at the floor level, doubles the combustion space and that even with the cheapest grades of oil the York brick work provides almost perfect combustion. Maximum heat with a minimum of oil is assured, they state.

At the present time the local firm is engaged in a campaign to dispose of a number of used oil burners of various makes and in exchange for York burners. Attractive price inducements are placed at the disposal of Catholic Courier readers who may be interested in Mr. Adams' timely presentation.

Woodcraft Shop Will Supply You With Storm Sash
Now Is the Time to Have Your House Equipped for Winter—Call Glenwood 2017 for Details.

Storm sash make the home snug and tight for winter. No matter how well fitted the windows may be they are bound to let a lot of heat escape on cold days. The cold air rushing against the outside of the glass chills the glass and lowers the temperature in the vicinity of the windows of the room fully 10 to 15 degrees through the effects of radiation alone. Storm Sash form a still air space between two thick panes of glass, which serve as a blanket insulation between the outside cold and the inside warmth of the room. It is surprising how easily the house can be kept warm even in the hardest blizzard and coldest snap when fully equipped with Storm Sash. Storm Sash also tightly and eliminate the countless little drafts which get in around the ordinary window. Persons who own the first year will pay a large part of the total Storm Sash bill, by sides enabling one to have a comfortable home instead of a chilly one.

If you are interested in saving fuel and at the same time keeping your home warm, get in touch today with the Woodcraft Shop, 300 Norton St., and learn how comparatively inexpensive it will be to equip your home with Storm Sash. Their estimator will give you a price on complete service, including painting, hardware and installation. Write to Glenwood 2017 for details. Eighteen years of Specialized Service is Your Guarantee of Satisfaction when you deal with this company.

Auto Accidents And Safeguards Of Importance

Careful Study of Over 100,000 Automobiles Reveals Matters of Interest to Motorists, Says Insurance Agent

Suppose you are a summer tourist, on a clear day, driving carefully, at moderate speed, in a good car, on a good road. Let us say under those favorable circumstances your chances are one in 1,000. Did you ever stop to think how your notions as a driver affect those "odds"?

Clarence A. Vick, Rochester representative for the American Motorists Insurance Company of Chicago, has recently issued some pertinent figures based on the study of over 100,000 automobile accidents made by the Central Automobile Safety Committee of the American Motorists over a period of 15 years.

"The minute you cut out of the line of traffic," says Mr. Vick, "and weave in and out, our statistics say your chances of accident are multiplied by 50—you then have 50 chances in 1,000 of being involved in an accident—you have increased the personal accident hazard 5,000%."

"Some of the other increased hazard percentages are:

- Driving over 40 miles per hour—2500%
- Passing another car on a curve—1000%
- Passing another car going up hill—1000%
- Failure to signal—500%
- Early darkness, rain, fog, snow and mist—all add greatly to the hazards of motoring during the winter season according to a recent survey of 1,143 automobile accidents reported to the American Motorists Insurance Company.

"Automobile owners who drive to and from their places of employment, find it necessary at this time of the year to do an increased amount of driving during the period of twilight or even darkness," said Clarence A. Vick, Rochester representative of the American Motorists in commenting on the survey. "During fall and winter of all last year our company's experience, as shown by the number of accidents reported, is a result of faulty lights, including glaring lights, and in many cases the absence of lights."

"Rain, fog, snow and mist obscure the vision of drivers and are the cause of a high percentage of collisions particularly during December, January and February. Drivers will do well to maintain as clear a view ahead as possible during the winter season by keeping their windshields clean and free of snow and sleet and not to fail to keep your windshield wiper in good condition and when driving keep side window open at least partially to prevent mist formation on windshield."

"Fire chains often help in preventing accidents," continued Mr. Vick, "but a careful driver is the best anti-accident device. Do not throw out the clutch if you start to skid. Keeping power on helps the wheels retain some traction and may stop the skidding. Keep your brakes equalized, drive carefully and you will find you have reduced your motoring to a minimum."

Another hazard to motorists is the increased average age of automobiles and trucks on the road," said Mr. Vick. "This is strikingly evidenced now when fewer new cars are on the roads. Antiquated and defective vehicles constitute a growing menace. The condition will be gradually improved but for many months the hazard will continue to be more than normal. It affords an additional reason for redoubled care in driving at this time."
