

Corning Parish Will Build Fine New Church

The church is divided into three parts, sanctuary, nave and narthex. In the sanctuary will be a new altar donated by the founder of the parish, Father Lee, now pastor of St. Francis Church in Geneva and Dean of the Geneva Diocese. The altar and sanctuary, which it will grace, will be the center of attraction to all entering the church and will be visible from all parts of the edifice. The sanctuary will have a floor of terrazzo and will be of good size and extend from wall to wall with two side altars. The narthex will be at the other end of the church, on the Denison Parkway side, and will contain rest rooms, pew rent office, baptistry, and also stairway to the choir loft in which the organ will be placed. It also will be floored with terrazzo.

The seating capacity—The nave will hold about 600 comfortably, seated and the floor will be of maple or birch and sloping from the narthex to the sanctuary, so that all can easily have a view of the sanctuary. The nave is divided into three parts, the central aisle in which will be the pews, and the side aisles which will be separated from the space devoted to pews by seven columns on each side thus forming two side chapels. The Stations of the Cross which have been donated by Mrs. F. Hanley of the parish will be on the walls in this part of the church. Electric lights concealed in the columns will light the Stations for devotion in the evening. The aisles will be of the rubber for quietness and will present the appearance of marble.

Mass Foundations—The Dramatic Club of the parish has held entertainments for the last 15 years to raise the funds for the pews and it will not be long before they will have enough to pay the full bill for them. The League of the Sacred Heart has planned to furnish the altar railing with sets of wrought-iron, artistically worked and decorative. Other donations will be announced as the work progresses.

The church will occupy the lots just west of the rectory. The Rev. Walter Lee of Geneva, former pastor of St. Patrick's, accomplished much for the parish. He bought about 30 years ago, bought the lots for the present church structure, the rectory and convent. All of these and also the lot on which the church will stand were paid for when Father Lee was promoted to the parish in Geneva. From which city he went to Geneva he has left nearly $1,000 in the treasury for the new church fund. That has grown in the last 10 years through the ordinary offerings of the parishioners until it is nearly $50,000 now. Invested in bonds and in the banks. Great credit is due to the good people of St. Patrick's for their continual work for their church and their generous support of an encouragement given the two priests who have worked for the interests of God as pastors.

Arch of Terra Cotta—A striking effect will be produced by the large graceful arch of terra cotta which will front the building. The main entrance will be the lower part, reached by two steps from the side walk. Above the main doors will be terra cotta or bronze statue of St. Patrick, and above that high up in the walls the large rose window. This will be of fluted terra cotta, tan in color, to harmonize with the red of the brick. The ascending about four steps of marble one enters the narthex and passing through will find himself in the church, about two feet higher than the sanctuary floor, thus giving an excellent view of the altar of the Blessed Sacrament. The slope is so gradual that it will hardly be noticed by one entering.

The church will hold in an emergency about 800 people, since the aisles are wide and there is plenty of space between the sanctuary railings.

VICTOR

Mrs. Bert Ketchum—Victor, Feb. 12.—Mayme Crowley Ketchum, wife of Bert Ketchum of Farmington, N. Y., died Sunday at the Genesee Hospital in Rochester. Besides her husband she is survived by her parents, Michael C. and Margaret Crowley; nine brothers, James, Clement, Charles, Francis, John, Albert, Howard, Leo and Arthur; three sisters, Mrs. Julia Tobin, Mrs. Daniel McMillan, Mrs. Earl Brodigan. Her funeral was held Wednesday morning in St. Patrick's Church, Victor, and it was attended by many friends.

Say "Hello"

As down life's great highway you go, And people pass you to and fro, Greet each one with a glad "hello!" What though you do not know each name, Be sure to treat each one the same. The friend as well as foe.

As you treat folks, they will treat you, So, as each one comes into view, Just smile and say "how do you do"— A cheerful word don't cost a cent— So, say it, and be sure it's meant, And let folks know it, too.

Then, when, from earth at last you go, As we all must some time, you know, The angels flying to and fro— Will remember all the words of cheer— You said to folks while you were here, And say to you "hello."

—John A. Twanley.

Mass. Church, Set on Fire, Is Destroyed

Priest Rites Life to Save Sacrament, But Flames Drove Him Back—Parish House Catches Fire, Too

Attleboro, Mass., Feb. 12.—The Catholic Church of St. John the Evangelist, built in 1885 on North Main Street, was destroyed by fire recently with a loss of $75,000. Burial cases set fire to the new parish church under construction, but this building was saved. The fire is believed by officials to have been incendiary. Sparks were carried for blocks and a number of roof fires were started. The church spire, which rises 140 feet, crashed within a short time and for a while adjoining property was threatened. The Rev. Thomas McLean, in charge of the parish during the absence of the pastor, the Rev. James N. Quinn, ran from the rectory to the church and attempted several times to extinguish the flames. He was driven back by the flames, and finally was prevailed upon by firemen not to risk his life again.

MOUNT MORRIS Comedy Is Given In Capable Way

Mount Morris, Feb. 12.—Under the direction of the Rev. Edmund T. Dougherty of Sonoma, a three-act comedy, "The Family Pastime," was presented in St. Patrick's Hall Thursday evening last week. The cast includes Mrs. Landers, Gertrude Donovan, Shannon Long, Warren Kelly, My Miller, Mary Meyers, Jack Keating, Dorothy Sutton and Mary Porter. The comedy was well presented, and it was enjoyed by a large audience. The players were heartily applauded, and well deserved the appreciation shown them.

OWEGO

OWEGO, Feb. 12.—Miss Mary A. Coughlin, a life-long and highly respected citizen of this village, died suddenly at her home, No. 20 Ross Street, at 6 o'clock on the morning of February 2. Miss Coughlin was in the business district on the previous day and had informed her assistant in her millinery store, on Lake Street, that she would not have to report, as she, Miss Coughlin, felt well enough to be in the store. Miss Coughlin was active in business, social and church circles. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Coughlin. She is survived by one niece, Mrs. Alice Corrie, of St. Albans; one nephew, Harry Coughlin, of Elmira; one sister, Miss Bridget Coughlin, of this village. The funeral was held in St. Patrick's Church and burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Tioga. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the funeral.

Good-bye

(In memory of Miss Mary A. Coughlin) To you who hid till dawn, Escaped the grime and soil Of conflict with a world of pain, We say good-bye to you again.

WATERLOO

Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell—Waterloo, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell, aged 70, widow of Edward O'Donnell, Seneca County Court clerk for many years, died Monday at her home in Watkiss Street. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Whitmore, of Watkiss, and Mrs. M. R. Tindell, of Geneva. Her funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Mary's Church, and many friends were present at the service.

Boylan; one brother, George, and four sisters, Helen, Dorothy, Mrs. Harold Hamman and Mrs. Thomas Hamman. His funeral was held in St. Columba's Church, Caledonia, and it was attended by many friends.

BATH

Railroad Employee For Fifty Years—Bath, Feb. 12.—James H. Green, aged 69, died Wednesday last week at Savona, following a long illness. For nearly 50 years he was employed by the D. L. & Y. Railroad, retiring from service several months ago. He leaves his widow; a son, James, and daughters Misses Mary and Katherine Green of Savona, and sons, Frank, George and Edward of Buffalo, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Whitehead of Buffalo. His funeral was held in St. Mary's Church, Bath, at 9:30 a. m. Friday, and it was attended by many friends.

PENN YAN

Mrs. Bridget Cahill—Penn Yan, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Bridget Cahill, aged 83, lifelong resident of the town of Milo and widow of John Cahill, died Sunday at her home, 103 Henry Street. She had been a devoted parishioner of St. Michael's Church for more than 65 years and is believed to be the oldest member of that church. She died shortly after prayers were offered for her at the late Mass Sunday morning. She leaves one daughter, Miss Mary Cahill of Penn Yan; one son, James Cahill of Milo; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Her funeral was held in St. Michael's Church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, and it was attended by many friends.

Bishop O'Hern Dedicates New Organ In St. John's Church at Spencerport

Spencerport, Feb. 12.—The Right Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, visited Spencerport Sunday, Feb. 11, blessing and dedicating the new pipe organ in St. John's Church. The Bishop was assisted by the pastor, Rev. George V. Predmore, Rev. W. J. Brien, Ph. D., Rev. J. F. Goggin, D.D., and the Rev. Charles Reynolds, vice-chancellor and secretary to the Bishop. Mr. Abel Decaux, at the time organist of the Church of the Sacred Heart at Paris, and instructor of organ at the Eastern School of Music, was guest organist. The Rev. W. J. Brien was the celebrant of the High Mass, and the organist of the organ and five men sang the Ordinary and Proper parts. All parts played by the celebrant and the choir were sung in a most beautiful manner, and in perfect accord with the liturgical requirements of the Church. Mr. Decaux is not only an able organist, but also a real church musician. This was shown both in his fine technique as organist and in his reverent manner of accompanying Gregorian chant and other church music. The Bishop spoke at length on the subject of Church music and on the development of the organ. His remarks left no doubt in the minds of his hearers as to his intimate knowledge of Church music. He stressed the sacred character of Church music and its importance and value in the life of the Church. He stressed the fact that the organ is the central and other worldly types of Church music that are so often substituted for the Church's own music, the Gregorian chant and for other forms of acceptable sacred music. He referred to the beautiful tone of the organ which although not a large one, is fine in quality and sufficiently large to sustain the choral parts of the average choir. Both the pastor and the people were highly complimented on the personnel of the choir, the chancel and sanctuary equipment for the choir and singers, and the organist, Mr. Decaux, and the choir which are due to the altar.

Warden Brophy To Give Talk At Moravia Sunday

Moravia, Feb. 12.—Warden Joseph Brophy of Auburn State Prison will be the speaker Sunday at the Communion Breakfast for members of St. Patrick's Church of this village. Mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. F. T. Moffett, and it has been designated as a general communion time for all members of the parish. Following the church service, breakfast will be served by the following committee: Officers of the Altar Society; President, Mrs. Harry Collier; vice-president, Mrs. E. J. Collier; treasurer, Miss Mary J. Ward; secretary, Miss Kathryn Macdonald; members of the Holy Name Society; President, B. B. Murray; vice-president, John Duggan; treasurer, Millard M. Green; secretary, William O'Connell; Miss Ella Nolan, Mrs. P. J. Murray and Mrs. Peter Ward. Waiters will be young men of the parish.

Lecture Course At Seneca Falls For The K. of C.

Seneca Falls, Feb. 12.—On Tuesday evening last week the Rev. L. Quirk, rector of St. Patrick's Church, opened a series of lectures on "The History and Practice of the American Government" for the Seneca Falls Knights of Columbus. There was a large attendance at the lecture, and Father Quirk was applauded with enthusiasm. He was introduced by Grand Knight Andrew T. McArdie. This course of study is highly recommended by the National Welfare Conference of Washington, which was organized for the promotion of education and social welfare among Catholic societies. Mr. McArdie said in introducing Father Quirk. The study clubs will hear additional lectures on Tuesday evenings by Father Quirk on the following topics: "The Development of the Constitution," "The Chief Executive," "Duties and Power of the President," "The Cabinet and Departments," "The United States Senate," "The House of Representatives," "The Federal Courts," "Foreign Relations," and "America and the Americans."

"Penny Arcade" At Auditorium All Next Week

An amusement park's gaudy set, the pavilion, not dog-wagon, penny-plain booths, cheap photograph studios, the looming skeleton structure of a roller coaster—and against this backdrop the drama of a new kind of underworld, the gangsters of the outdoor show. That is "Penny Arcade," the new dramatic play which the Auditorium Permanent Players will present at the Auditorium Theater next week. "Penny Arcade" kept adding once breathless with excitement to the Fulton Theater in New York at last Sunday. Warner Bros. promptly purchased moving picture rights. Prominent in the New York cast were Joan Blondell and James Cagney, who have since become famous on the screen. In the same brand of racketeer story. There is a happy ending in "Penny Arcade," the central figure is the proprietress of the street, a slinky, unscrupulous woman who has fallen in love with one of her mother's employees, an upstanding young ex-convict named Angel. When Harry is accused of murder, the actress prescribes, so she has seen plenty of the kind of thing that goes on in the underworld. Whether she will send her son to the penitentiary or whether she will send her son to the penitentiary, according to whether she tells what she has seen or holds her silence. The play moves swiftly to a climax of suspense and a satisfying conclusion. Maude Richmond, artistic director of the Auditorium Permanent Players, will have the moving role of Mrs. Delaney, the hard-bitten racketeer's mistress whose mother love is strong enough to condemn an inebriated man to save her son. Supporting her will be Doris Packard, Graham Rhodes, Mary Vance, Arthur Howard, Don DeLoe, Willie Davis, Robert Blane, William B.

SPENCERPORT

Spencerport, Feb. 12.—Earl E. Hurlbaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hurlbaster of this place, was married to Miss Marion A. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Brown of Lark Street, Rochester. Miss Marie Hennessey was the maid of honor, and Mark Brown, brother of the bride, was the best man. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served the bride party at the Odessa. The bride couple left later on a wedding trip to Washington. They will live in Rochester, and will be at home to their friends after February 16 at 1345 Dewey Avenue. They will have the good wishes of all who know them for a happy married life.

Census Figures In Palestine Are Very Interesting

Jerusalem, Feb. 12.—A recently completed religious census of the Holy Land shows the distribution of the population according to religious beliefs. The figures show that in Jerusalem, Jews outnumber each of the other two main groups—Muslims and Christians—by considerably more than half, and the totals of Muslims and Christians are about equal, the Muslims outnumbering the Christians by only 559. A table of the statistics showing the relative population totals of Jews, Christians, and Muslims in the principal centers of Palestine is as follows:
