Liverpool Cathedral Is Rising

Liverpool, England—The preliminary work on Liverpool's great new Catholic cathedral is being pushed so rapidly that it is hoped the cornerstone will be laid next year and much work done on the building. The cathedral will be the second largest church building in the world. It will have a slightly location, on the top of Mount Pleasant, in the suburbs of Liverpool. It will be four times as big as Westminster Cathedral in London and be surpassed in size only by St. Peter's in Rome. Sir Edward Lutyens's plans for the building are now on exhibition at the Royal Academy, London, and before long a large-scale model will be ready for exhibitions throughout the country.

Archbishop Downey of Liverpool recently explained why the new cathedral would be so large.

"In the first place," he said, "there are utilitarian reasons. When we celebrated the centenary of Catholic emancipation in England in 1929 a quarter of a million people were present; so you see we need a large cathedral. In the second place—though it is really the more important reason—a cathedral ought to be something not merely in which we worship God but something which will be an expression of His power and glory."

The cathedral will not be in the medieval Gothic tradition but in the modern Renaissance style, which Archbishop Downey considers more suitable as an expression of the modern era. No date has been set for the completion of the edifice, that depending largely on the amount of money contributed. So far it has been possible to buy the site for 100,000 pounds and another 100,000 pounds is already available for building. With the money being received at the rate of 2,000 pounds every month.

Chic Cleaners Form New Saving Society

There are many ways of earning money and one of the easiest is to save it. The old adage, "a penny saved is a penny earned," is as true today as it was when it originated. Aside from putting money in the bank, there is no surer way of saving it than by increasing the service of your clothing with frequent cleaning and pressing by an expert cleaner. Many people discard perfectly good clothing because it has become soiled or badly wrinkled, at the same time not realizing that modern cleaning processes are developed to a highly scientific degree and fine, sheer silks, and pure wools which a year ago would never be found in a cleaning establishment, are today handled with ease and skill.

The Chic Cleaners, 231 Genesee Street, are completely equipped to handle all kinds of cleaning, pressing and dyeing, and their place of business is open from 8:30 A. M. to 8:30 P. M.

Minor repairs on garments or suits sent to the Chic Cleaners are made without charge and there is a minimum charge on general repairs. All garments are hand spotted at the Chic Cleaners. They remove spots so that the garments will look as good as new.

Patrons of the Chic Cleaners are urged to take advantage of the Independence Day special. All garments cleaned, pressed and minor repairs made for 50 cents.

Leon I. Wainer is proprietor of the Chic Cleaners maintaining a branch at 532 Thurston Road.

A bright mind, a kind heart and sweet disposition—these are the qualities which have made the Catholic Hall will recall Sullivan's beautiful voice.

Growth means the unfolding of interior capacities through the assimilation of external substances.
