

"Dramatic Moments" Is New Feature For Readers' Interest

"Dramatic Moments in Catholic Life and History," the popular illustrated story, which is now a feature on the editorial page of the CATHOLIC COURIER AND JOURNAL is included in these pages as one of the things being done to make this newspaper more interesting to our readers.

Sponsored by The Catholic Press Union, "Dramatic Moments" has earned success through sheer merit. The illustrations are comparable to the best in the daily press. Paul Kroesen, the artist, is chief staff artist for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, the national Scripps-Howard feature syndicate. The author, Cletus J. Koubek, Associate Editor of the "Cleveland Universe Bulletin," has won high praise for the effective treatment of his subject matter.

Through the medium of "Dramatic Moments," Mr. Koubek has invested dry historical facts which even Catholics should know with a new and lively interest, giving readers each week a complete and fascinating story based on authoritative data.

To guard against error or misstatement every article is subjected to the careful scrutiny of one of the best-known historians in the United States, the Rev. F. S. Hotten, S. J., Professor of History at Marquette University, and author of a number of standard text-books on Catholic history.

Comments on this additional feature is requested by the editors of the CATHOLIC COURIER AND JOURNAL.

TESTIMONIALS FROM LETTERS AS WE RECEIVED THEM:

3014. We both think that this LAPIDAR is helping very much. Sister tells me that she has no pain in her head anymore whilst before she had to take tablets every day to relieve the pain. She is so much encouraged again that she even says that she might be able to see sufficient again to do some other work than only knitting. I cannot express how thankful we would be if this would come true.

Testimonial Dinner For John A. Doyle

gree, District Deputy Timothy V. O'Donnell, Albion; District Deputy, Leo Collins, Medina; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John P. Brophy, pastor of St. Monica's Church, Joseph P. Flynn, Warden Joseph H. Brophy, Auburn; William D. Powers, Canandaigua; the Rev. James F. Collins, Utica, State Chaplain, Knights of Columbus; the Rev. Dr. William E. Cowen, Council Chaplain; Past Grand Knight, Daniel F. Fitzgerald, the Rev. Thomas F. Connors, pastor, Church of the Blessed Sacrament and the guests' pastor; Past District Deputy, Harry B. Crowley, general chairman of the dinner; Grand Knight-elect, Dr. Walter B. O'Neill; Supreme Court Justice, William F. Love, the Rev. Dr. Walter A. Foery, pastor of Holy Rosary Church; the Rev. Gerald C. Lambert, County Clerk, John H. Law, and Lecturer, George J. Law, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George V. Burns, pastor of Sacred Heart Church. There was no place at the speakers' table for the guest of the evening and he was escorted to a table occupied by Past Grand Knights.

Seated at the table for Past Grand Knights were Charles R. Barnes, John J. McInerney, George T. Boucher, William F. Shafer and James J. Jones, all former grand knights of Rochester Council, District Deputy Michael Dunn of Onondaga, Timothy O'Shea, former district officer, of Rome, and Grand Commander, Daniel J. O'Mara of Mosa Caravan, Order of the Alhambrans.

Telegrams were being rushed in all evening all presumably from high dignitaries of the country and written by the committee in charge of the dinner.

Announcement Appointments. Dr. O'Neill who was given a big ovation, opened the meeting by announcing the appointments of Father Lambert as chaplain; Mr. Flynn as Lecturer; Paul A. Predmore as financial secretary; and Miss Madeline Shill as office secretary. He introduced Mr. Crowley as the chairman of the evening.

A commotion at the door of the dining hall caused all eyes to be centered there and two stalwart Doyle Detectives Bureau policemen escorted Harry B. Somerville in. Somerville, who bore a striking resemblance to Grand Knight Doyle, to the speakers' table. Mr. Somerville was accorded the honors as if he were the guest of the evening.

Mr. Crowley introduced Lecturer George J. Law who in a witty speech reviewed Mr. Doyle's career and stated that he had never solicited patronage nor publicity, presented the pseudo guest of honor with a toy horn saying it was now time for him to blow his own horn.

In response, the substitute guest of honor rose to make an acceptance speech, a telephone on the speakers' table started ringing, and Mr. Somerville gave an excellent impersonation of Mr. Doyle's handling of arrangements for the Gene Tunney reception and golden anniversary celebration that kept the audience in laughter to the finish.

After the Past Grand Knights were asked to rise and Mr. Doyle was escorted into the membership. Joseph L. Logan and Charles Raymond, members of Rochester Council came into the dining hall escorting Miss Mary Sullivan, manager of the Columbus Dining Room bearing a beautiful cake with the Knights of Columbus emblem worked on it in colors and Grand Knight Doyle's name on it. He was finally invited to the speakers' table and asked to cut the cake. Finding it too difficult he was told to lift the cake and from underneath two doves with long ribbons tied to their legs flew out.

Past Grand Knight Daniel F. Fitzgerald introduced as toastmaster, so about to call upon different speakers. Talks were given by Past Grand Knights Barnes and McInerney and by Grand Commander O'Mara.

Father Lambert, the new chaplain expressed his appreciation to Bishop O'Hern for his appointment and to officers of the Council and said he would give his full support and cooperation to every project sponsored by Rochester Council.

Chairman Crowley next gave an impersonation of the guest of the evening having a busy day in his life, in which all matters of importance were referred to Mr. Doyle's son, "Archie." At the conclusion Mr.

July 4th Program At Cliff Haven

On Independence Day the program will include baseball in the morning, open handicap tennis play in the afternoon, dinner to distinguished guests at 6:30 o'clock, and concert at 8:30 p. m., and dancing in the ballroom of the New York South from 9:30 o'clock.

Among the guests who will be at dinner are Major General Dennis E. Nolan, commanding officer of the Second Corps Area with headquarters at Governor's Island, Colonel George A. Herbst, commanding the Plattsburgh barracks, Mayor Bouxay and other city officials of Plattsburgh.

An added incentive for the season about to open is the application of reduced rates, approved by the authorities of Cliff Haven. The reductions apply to the charges for meals and for rooms, and the combined fee will make it possible for one or more individuals to spend a week-end here at a very reasonable cost. If the reduced and tourist rates of the railroad are likewise taken into consideration, plans for a Cliff Haven vacation can be made at a minimum of expense. Miss Ignatia Moreland of Rochester, will be hostess at the Rochester cottage.

The fifth season of the annual university course for college graduates and undergraduates will start on Friday, July 1. To date there has been a gratifying registration, and the officials in charge anticipate a final enrollment that will equal if not surpass that of last year.

The course being given in art, English, education, history, mathematics, Latin, modern foreign languages, philosophy, and music. Registrations will be accepted at Cliff Haven or at the New York office of the Catholic Summer School.

Doyle's four sons, Arlington, John Jr., Kenneth and Leo were introduced. Mr. Brophy of Auburn State Prison, who has known Mr. Doyle many years paid tribute to the honor guard's ability as a policeman and said Doyle was known as "one of the greatest cops in the business."

Mr. Powers of Canandaigua brought tribute to Mr. Doyle from his former fellow townsmen. He lauded Mr. Doyle's parents and grandparents and said that the name of Doyle, being had been reared amid excellent surroundings. Supreme Court Justice Love recalled Doyle's early days as a baseball player concluding with a tribute to the sincerity, loyalty and character of his friend, John Doyle.

To Rev. Dr. Cowen was assigned the privilege of presenting the gift of the Council, a handsome set of golf sticks. Dr. Cowen after reminding all of the hardworking Grand Knight they were honoring who during his three years in office had never missed a day in taking part in the duties of the Council, and whose devotion, loyalty and generous giving of self had set an excellent example for all members of the Council to emulate, presented the guest of the evening with a token of respect and appreciation for all that Grand Knight Doyle had done.

A letter of congratulations was read from Bishop O'Hern who had "come the city to attend the golden anniversary of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Griffin, V. P. of Corning, and another from the Rev. John B. Sullivan, faithful friar, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus. State Deputy William J. Armstrong, also wrote a tribute to Rochester's Grand Knight.

The principal address of the evening was given by Father Collins, state chaplain who said that he had learned to appreciate the character and to recognize the ability, especially the leadership of the guest of honor during the past few years.

Father Collins in his talk to pay tribute to "The Patriarch of 'Columbianism' in New York State, Charles R. Barnes." He also said that the inspiring and beautiful talk given by Bishop O'Hern in Elmira "was much to do with the selection of Rochester as the state convention city for the Knights of Columbus in 1932."

"It is said that all fraternal organizations are meeting a crisis, but I do not fear for the future of the Knights of Columbus," Father Collins declared. "We are an order of Catholic men having behind us the power and strength of the Catholic Church was not acceptable to all quarters, but it has grown to be recognized and in a crisis has proved to be a providential organization."

"Membership in this organization is not a matter of choice, but a matter of positive obligation. If you can believe in the Catholic Church, you should believe in the Knights of Columbus because you are a body of men, who after conference with your priests, can speak in a voice that can be heard, as a strong organization of Catholic laymen."

Father Collins said that the Knights of Columbus is a movement that will go on regardless of any one locality. He advocated getting men to join the organization and to be active in it in the name of God and for the support of Holy Mother, the Church.

Grand Knight Doyle in concluding the program of the evening expressed his deep gratitude for the testimonial showered upon him and said: "If I have given any effort to the Knights of Columbus, I am one thousandfold repaid, tonight. I have enjoyed every minute of time spent in furthering the interests of the Knights of Columbus and especially appreciate the 100% spirit of harmony, cooperation and loyalty existing in my administration, and demonstrated so well here tonight."

A feature of the evening's program was the singing of parodies of popular songs written around the guest of the evening. Financial Secretary Predmore led the singing. John Bosacki was the accompanist.

Floral decorations were furnished by George T. Boucher and the dinner was served by Miss Sullivan of the Columbus Dining Room.

A bouquet of a dozen roses was sent by the Knights of Columbus to Mrs. Doyle in the afternoon.

The Council was presented with a life-size photograph of Grand Knight Doyle by the committee to be hung in the Council quarters.

Camp Stella Maria

By Rev. Gerald C. Lambert

In the articles to date we have been reviewing briefly the ordinary program at Camp Stella Maria. There are, however, certain days when special events are scheduled to avoid any possible monotony in the life of the camper. Among these events we find the over-night hikes are of the most adventurous in anticipation and enjoyable in realization.

After the mid-day rest hour, preparations for the over-night hike are immediately begun. Blankets are folded and rolled in true hiker's style, knapsacks are filled with utensils and edibles for the journey, canisters are prepared for thirsty mouths. When everything is ready, campers and luggage are packed in large trucks which whisk them off to a secluded spot some ten to twenty miles from Camp. Here all are unloaded and the rest of the journey must be made on foot.

Sometimes the over-night hike has the shores of Hemlock Lake as its destination, a place where the camper can enjoy the beautiful Fall Brook, or perhaps some more remote spot of historic interest. Wherever the destination, it is certainly a place which appeals to childhood because of its natural beauty, its seclusion from the distracting elements of civilization, a place where the camper can romp and play to his heart's content in the open fields and shady woods, along running streams, up steep hills and down sloping banks, and into the heart of deep ravines, searching out the beauties of God's nature, learning the secrets of His creation.

A dry, level spot is chosen as the camp site, and soon all shoulders are unburdened of luggage safely stored away or put in place for the night's lodging. When Camp has been prepared, all set out to explore the surrounding country. This scouting expedition is usually a place to swim in the evening, and a place to swim in the morning.

Soon after group files back to the camp site to swap stories of experiences had, new things discovered and good times enjoyed. A wonderful place to play "Cops and Robbers" has been found; a running brook with fish to catch, a place to swim in the evening, and a place to swim in the morning.

Another declares he has come upon the skeleton of a pre-historic animal, or an old Indian burial ground—perhaps the remains of an ancient fort. Something has been found by everyone, even to the tiny tot who produces a shiny stone which his imaginative brain has already appraised as a priceless treasure. And so, on the details go as many hands make preparations for the evening meal.

The evening program is a varied one, according to the possibilities of the selected spot. The early part of the evening is given over to some attractive event. Perhaps it would be a sucker hunt, which is similar in a way, to the ancient custom of hiding eggs at Easter time. Probably a treasure hunt, Cops and Robbers, or a sham battle with wet paper, cannon balls for ammunition, has been selected as the favorite sport. This game, whatever it may be, keeps all busily occupied until the sun is well settled in the west. With the coming of twilight the various groups, some singing, some playing, some telling stories, and some resting, prepare for the occasion.

When the sound of taps has rolled over the hill and ceased its ringing echo even in the depth of the ravine, each counselor sees that the campers under his care are safely rolled in their blankets for a peaceful night's rest under the starry sky, with the moon as their only candle, and with tall trees as sentinels of heaven keeping the night watch over God's innocent children.

What an experience for the product of a modern civilization! Comfort and rest, and yet, in nothing in camp life more thoroughly enjoyed and more frequently recalled than the over-night hike. Perhaps the food was not so appetizingly prepared; perhaps a few bumps or cuts were taken home as souvenirs of the evening, but the ground may not have been so soft as a roll spring, but the experience is a cheap price to pay for such a glorious experience.

Appointments Take Effect On Sunday

His record at St. Carmel is said to have been a remarkable one and is regarded as a tribute to his administrative ability and wise leadership.

In announcing the appointment, Bishop O'Hern said: "The work of Doctor Foery has brought him into contact with many of our Rochester people, and has brought him recognition as one of our ablest and most respected clergymen. His success in the work of the ministry has been a natural consequence of the splendid success he attained in his seminary course. He will bring to the Rochester people of Holy Rosary the same notable characteristics of priestly zeal and paternal solicitude for all that have so endeared him to the faithful parishioners at St. Carmel. The sorrow of my good friends at St. Carmel at the departure of their beloved pastor will be tempered by the knowledge that their new pastor will be one well known and dear to them, the Rev. Gerald T. Brennan."

Ordained in 1916
Father Foery is the son of William Foery and Agnes O'Brien Foery, born July 6, 1890. He studied at St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's seminaries, where he undertook special studies in philosophy and received the degrees of baccalaureate, licentiate and doctorate in philosophy. He continued his special studies in theology and was honored with the degrees of baccalaureate and licentiate in sacred theology in 1915 and 1916. He was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop Thomas P. Healey in St. Patrick's Cathedral, June 10, 1916.

Is Now Pastor
Doctor Cowen, the new pastor of St. Mary's Church, Auburn, has been connected with St. Bernard's Seminary since his ordination in 1902. He has since 1921 been professor of dogmatic theology. He received his degree of doctor of sacred theology at the close of his seminary course and was the first to receive this degree after the granting of the papal charter empowering St. Bernard's Seminary to bestow degrees in philosophy and theology.

For one year at Louvain and Rome before taking up his active duties as professor.

Born in Auburn, May 10, 1878, the son of William and Mary Jones Cowen, he was baptized in the church of which he now becomes pastor. He attended St. Mary's School, St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's seminaries. He was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Bernard J. McQuaid, June 14, 1902.

Doctor Cowen has been active in religious and fraternal circles, has been chaplain of the Rochester Council of Knights of Columbus, and a member of the Board of Synodal Examiners of the diocese.

His appointment, Bishop O'Hern said: "I feel that the splendid training and recognized standing of Doctor Cowen will enable him to serve most efficiently the people of St. Mary's parish. His years of service at St. Bernard's are deeply appreciated, and he goes forth as one skilled in teaching and endowed with gifts of mind and heart that will mark him as an outstanding figure among the pastors of our parish churches."

Has Studied in Rome
The Rev. Stanislaus Krolok, a new member of St. Bernard's faculty, has been studying for the past three years at the College of the Propaganda in Rome, Italy. The Rev. Maynard Connell, the second priest to join the St. Bernard's faculty, has been studying English at Cornell University and last week received the degree of doctor of philosophy.

The Rev. Jeremiah A. Maly, new pastor of St. Ann's, Hornell, was born in Starkey, N. Y., Nov. 17, 1871. He attended the Starkey schools, St. Andrew's Seminary, St. Joseph's Seminary at Troy, and finished his course at St. Bernard's Seminary. He was ordained by Bishop McQuaid, May 30, 1896.

Aquinas Group Raises $1824 for Missions

To Most Rev. Minnelt M. Walsh, D.D., bishop of Charleston, S. C. $350; to Rev. Martin Killian, O. P. C. $50; to Rev. George J. Willman, S. J. for Philippine Missions, $35; to Rev. John A. Lynch, C. S. S. R. for Porto Rican Missions, $25. Other disbursements listed are: Expenses of Mission Day, $150; Mission Day breakfast, $10; "Arise" advertisement, $10.

Father O'Donnell Director
Under the direction of the Rev. John C. O'Donnell of the Aquinas faculty, the boys of the mission group raised the funds. Under receipts are listed: Amount on hand, $100; 1931, $150; Home Room Memberships, $100; Donations, $72.75; Mission Drawing, $846.95; Mission Day Activities, $171.50; Athletic Exhibition, $29.00; and Social Evening, $88.50, making a total of $1,830.24 leaving a balance on hand, June 15, 1932 of $62.4.

Deserve Greatest Credit
Father O'Donnell, in announcing the above statement that it is these boys that the great share of the credit for the success of the Aquinas Mission Unit must be given. It was their task or duty to collect the offerings made in the various Home Rooms and the success of the Mission drawing is due to their zeal in the distribution and care of the funds.

The successful Mission Day opened with a play written and staged by the Sophomore Class under the direction of Edward Dolan. The following boys took part: Eldridge Bauer, Fred Englert, Sam Cavallaro, Sam Battle, Donald Hassett, Stephen Cautley, Thomas Bryan, William Malloy and John Springer.

The various booths on the campus Mission Day, were in charge of George Swaback, Paul Marchese, Anthony Saell, Joseph Granata, Raymond Arbor, William Hassett, Albert Braun, Thomas Hanley, Fred Meyer, Armand Mauer and Raymond Martin.

In the boxing and wrestling contest under the supervision of Mortimer J. Leary, the following took part: Max Russer vs. John Mastrella; Fred Mix vs. Chester Maliborski; Michael Pellino vs. Neil Shaw; William Shannon vs. Genaro Della Porta; Archibald Harris vs. Joseph Leene; Stanley Wajda vs. Hugh Marks; John Tobin vs. Fred Taschett; Edward Deviney and James Downes acted as referees.

The following committee had charge of the social evening: Chairman William Edell, Roman Hart, John Slatery, Francis Wischmeyer, Wilfred Martin, Robert Aulenbacher, Harry Murphy and James Rockwell. The music for the evening was furnished by the following members of the School Orchestra under the direction of John Cummings: Edward Naylor, Chester Vogt, James Alling, Nicholas Girard, Frank DeLoe, Allan Shea, James Coniff, Herbert Flack, Edward Cirillo, Kenneth Frederick, Arnold Fay, Raymond Countryman, Raymond Bailey, Donald Kridel, James Rockwell and James Mallon. Mark Flincochiaro was in charge of the singing.

Father O'Donnell paid special tribute to James Alling and Norbert Stroh who sold 966 and 400 tickets respectively for the mission drawing.

Churches Will Have Tridua This Week

August function. With them shall be present in spirit thousands of devoted sons of the Emerald Isle, and their brethren of other nations, heaven, uniting their fervent acts of adoration to Jesus Christ in the Sacrament of His love with the prayer of those privileged to be actually assisting at this great event. Financial difficulties due to existing conditions have made impossible the fulfillment of the desire of many a fervent Catholic to be present.

"Anxious that all our devoted flock may with the same devotion and fervor have a part in the glorious program of this International Eucharistic Congress, which is sponsored by the Holy Father, we are hereby directing special services in all public and semi-public churches, in our institutions and convents, where by the widest opportunity will be afforded for worship of Our Lord in the most Sacred Sacrament, during the very hours in which the Congress will be in session. Let there be a Solemn Triduum in each church and chapel, opening Friday evening and closing Sunday, solemn exposition of the Blessed Sacrament will begin after the last Mass Sunday, June 26, and continue until the morning of Monday, June 27, in the afternoon or evening shall close. At the conclusion of the Triduum, the prayers and hymns be such as to minister to the devotion of all who shall wish to be united with those at the Congress in rendering honor, love, thanksgiving and adoration to Our Most Holy Lord. You will, dear Reverend Father, please announce these services at the Masses Sunday, June 26, devoting the portions and instructions to Devotion to the Blessed Sacrament, and urging your people to receive Holy Communion on Sunday, June 26, in conjunction with these services. We hope them to attend in large numbers with the intention of the Holy Father concerning the Congress, petitioning God to bless our beloved country, Ireland, and all other nations with spiritual gifts and with a return of material prosperity."

"Devotion to Christ," JOHN FRANCIS O'HERN, Bishop of Rochester.

Blackstone Makes Wash Day, Play Day

The Purple & Behrman Appliance Shop, 422 Main Street, East, opposite the Eastman Theatre, has the Sales and Service for the Blackstone Washers.

You will be amazed to see how the Blackstone does so much, so well, so quickly. It is a hard-working worker and it does its job thoroughly. No matter how soiled clothes may get, a few minutes in the Blackstone makes them clean and wholesome again.

It's the Blackstone speed which turns "washday" into "playday." It gives you a whole extra day a week to play, to rest, to do the things you've always wanted to do. That way it more than pays for itself, but in cold dollars and cents, it'll meet the cost of paying a laundress, or a laundry, in the first few months you use it.

Slip on undies or wooly blankets—your Blackstone makes everything cleaner than scrubbing, though it's gentler than hands.

While it takes no more space than a kitchen chair, its capacity is so great it will take seven sheets at once and wash sixty pounds of clothes in an hour.

The mechanism, hidden and muffled, is made simple and perfect by Blackstone engineers. There's nothing to go wrong with it—nothing that will need repair or replacement—nothing to look out for.

Be sure to ask Purple & Behrman Appliance Shop for a demonstration. The Blackstone will show you, too, how to turn "washday" into "playday."

True charity requires that we compassionate the smaller afflictions of our neighbor, and that we wear with his imperfections.
