Central Verein National Meeting To Be Held at St. Louis in August

Hierarchy of Church Will Be Represented; Catholic Women's Union Will Hold National Convention At Same Time; Headquarters at Coronado Hotel

(C. V. Service). St. Louis, Mo. — The Seventy-Seventh Annual Convention of the Central Verein of America and the Sixteenth meeting of the National Catholic Women's Union will be held at the Coronado Hotel and at St. Louis Cathedral Hall, and at St. Anthony's Church Hall.

The Catholic Central Verein of America is the natural outgrowth of the German Catholic Benevolent Societies organized in the United States long before the Civil War to counteract the influences of the anti-Catholic societies which were seeking membership among the newly arrived German immigrants, weaning them away from the Faith brought from their homeland. In 1874 it was perceived that a central organization was necessary to take care of those members who were moving into the pioneer territories and in 1885 the Catholic Central Verein was organized at a meeting at Baltimore.

A St. Louisan, "Bapa," John Amend, one of the German pioneers, attended this first meeting and was elected First Vice-president of the society. He later served as the President from 1880 to 1888 and at the end of this long term of office was elected Honorary President for life.

Directs Many Activities As the Central Verein gained strength it began to concern itself with major Catholic problems. It sponsored constructive social legislation and has successfully fought anti-Catholic measures in State legislatures and in Congress. Through its Central Bureau it directs its multi-

Press And Education Go Together

Close Cooperation Is Urged By Richard Reid, Catholic Press Head at Educators' Convention

Cincinnati — Speaking on "The Catholic Press and the Catholic School," Richard Reid, editor of The Bulletin, official organ of the Catholic Laymen's Association of Georgia, President of the Catholic Educational Association, in an address before the general assembly of the National Catholic Educational Association in convention here declared that one of the most effective methods of mobilizing Catholic character and intellect of America is through the cooperation of the Catholic Educational Association and the Catholic Press Association.

Mr. Reid's talk was announced by the Rev. Dr. George Johnson, secretary general of the convention and executive secretary of the Department of Education, N. C. C. W. who said that Mr. Reid represented practically all of the Catholic newspapers and publications of the United States who would be a guest speaker.

"In a commencement address at Yale University last week," Mr. Reid said, "Newton Baker expressed himself as being greatly concerned not about the gold reserve but about the character reserve and the intellectual reserve of America. Who, he asked, will devise the plan that will really mobilize the character and intellect of America in the public service of the country?"

Courage Based on Training, "I admit," he continued, "that I have sometimes been a bit discouraged as to what happens to the intellect of America after it leaves college. Why, in these periods of stress and strain, why, in this period of bewilderment and doubt, why, when the nation is afraid, has there not come from the academically trained masses of America, men and women who know the courage which is knowledge of history and the experience of academic halls ought to produce, and why has there not been that great concurrence of intellectual leadership upon which the people could safely have relied, and to which, if I beg to assure you, they would adhere if it once became visible and known?"

"This is the problem which perplexes not only Newton Baker as he surveys America, but one which puzzles Catholic leaders as they look at the Church in America. It is true that the problem of the Church in the present crisis.

Two Religious Vacation Schools Open Under Bishop Walsh's Auspices

Anderson, S. C. — Two religious vacation schools, one here and another in Abbeville, were opened here in June under the auspices of the Most Rev. Emmet M. Walsh, D.D., Bishop of Charleston, and under the direction of Rev. H. L. Spelman, in charge of the Anderson parish and its missions; the schools are taught by four Sisters of Charity, who live at Anderson and make the trip to Abbeville each day by automobile. The Anderson School is attended by Catholic children from Anderson, Clemson College, S. C., and Hartwell, Ga., which is attended from Anderson. Father Spelman was celebrating the opening Mass and spoke on the religious vacation school plan, which is intended to bring religious instruction to Catholic children who are living in places where there are no Catholic schools. He emphasized the need of religious education not only for children but for the sake of

San Francisco Univ. President, Fr. Lonergan

Former Associate Editor Of America On Way to Coast To Assume Duties July 15 Stops Here

Passing through Rochester on his way to San Francisco where he has just been named President of the University of San Francisco, the Rev. William F. Lonergan, S.J., formerly associate editor of "America," the Jesuit national weekly, paid a hurried visit with Dr. and Mrs. Louis J. Dowd, 286 Rutland Street, whose son, Louis J. Jr., is in the Jesuit novitiate at Los Gatos, Calif.

Father Lonergan has many friends here, made while giving the annual laymen's retreat at St. Bernard's Seminary, two years ago and through his writings in "America." His regret was that time would not permit him to see all of them. The appointment of this widely known scholar and writer as president of the University of San Francisco, which is a continuation of the old St. Ignace College of which he is an alumnus, was announced last week by the Rev. Father Thomas J. Maher, S.J., provincial of the Society of Jesus in the Province of California upon receipt of news of the appointment from the General of the Jesuits in Rome.

Father Lonergan is on his way to take office July 15. He will succeed the Very Rev. Edward J. Walsh, S.J., who has been president of the University of San Francisco since 1925. Father Walsh has been named Superior of Jesuit Retreats in Northern California and head of El Retiro San Inigo, Jesuit Retreat House at Los Altos.

Mission Unit At Nazareth Makes Report

A substantial sum of money raised for the home and foreign missions and many activities carried on for the benefit of the missions were reported by the Nazareth Academy Mission Unit, for 1931-1932 in a report just submitted to the Rev. Leo C. Mooney, diocesan director, Society for the Propagation of the Faith. The total amount disbursed by the Nazareth Academy girls was $228.79. The largest amount included was for $39.50 sent to mission priests. Other items on the report included: Charitable works, $26.00; Express, postage, parcel post, etc., $36.03; Subscriptions, $20.05; Gift to the poor, $5.00; Leaflets, St. Francis Xavier Novena, $5.66; Mission Books for Library, $5.10; Mass Offerings, $9.00.

This financial report does not reveal the great amount of work done by the Nazareth mission workers. At Christmas time, they sent a large amount of clothing to the priests down South, and sent money to another in the West. Toys for the children and gifts for priests and Sisters in the missions were sent.

The Medical Mission Board in New York City received large supplies of sample medicines and bandages during the course of the year. Several packages were also sent to the Good Shepherd Sisters at Holy Angels Home, this city.

Be confirmed in patience, that when you enter the holy city of Jerusalem you may, in the vision of peace, receive all that you have merited in this time of pilgrimage.

Writing on June 3, the Rector, Rev. Fr. Emmanuel, O.F.M., says: "Thanks to God, our new Seminary is well under way. The progress has been surprising. On the Feast of the Patronage of St. Joseph the 15th of April, our good Fr. Provincial, Fr.

New York Rector Gives 3 Rules For Catholic Reading

New York — To read with discrimination, to patronize Catholic newspapers and periodicals, and to read the Bible at least once a week were three rules for Catholics given by the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Lavelle, Rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, here, in a sermon at the Cathedral on a recent Sunday morning.

Holy Father See Beter Times Ahead

Vatican City, June 15. — Speaking to the Sacred Congregation of Rites, the Holy Father said: "We should be falling in our duty. We should not thank Divine Goodness for the faint dawn of better days that we appear to see on the horizon."

The occasion for the Holy Father's address was the reading of a decree proclaiming the solemn virtues of Maria Goretti, Daughter of Brescia, foundress of the Order of the Assumption Sisters of Charity, who died in 1905. The Pope in his talk was referring to the Japanese settlement.

"It is a particularly comforting thought for us that the first symptoms of a return of better times come at this end of the month dedicated to the Sacred Heart, which is an invitation to humanity to turn to God in a spirit of repentance and prayer," the Pontiff declared. "We must now continue to pray with redoubled confidence because the goodness of God appears about to listen to us."

The all-embracing charity of the venerable Maria's work, he declared, would be extremely profitable for all, when social doctrines are being spread that throw class against class and exaggerate and narrow national animosities against nations and peoples against peoples.

"The inevitable consequence of this situation is a universal crisis that after having unleashed a race after money, has produced a hungry quest for bread," the Pope said. "This is an untold amount of suffering and tremendous competition for what little life is left."

"Money in itself is completely devoid of life. The Pope continued. "In fact, we have seen the riches of private individuals as well as the riches of nations and peoples vainly impotent to provide the needs of life. The saints instead teach us to regard wealth with complete contempt, as God Himself regards it."

The telling of a falsehood is like the cutting of a sword; through the wound may heal, the scar remains.

The writer goes on to say the new site was situated about 15 to 20 miles from the old seminary, and that for part of the way the railroad could be used. "This gave some of the lads their first train ride," Rev. Fr. Emmanuel continues. "However, even more than this, they enjoyed the prospect of moving into a new home, so great an improvement over the old, of the new building, which was erected along very fine roads, but solid. How happy we shall be to leave the mud houses occupied by us for the last three years, and which were in a state of complete ruin."
