ANTON LANG, JR.

Anton Lang, Jr., To Teach German At Georgetown

Son of Famous Passion Player
Expected to Take Part in 1934
Production at Oberammergau;
Played in Orchestra

Washington—Anton Lang, Jr., 27-year-old son of the pouter Oberammergau who three times played the part of the Christus in the Passion Play, has come to Washington from his home in the Bavarian Alps to accept the post of Professor of German at Georgetown University.

Mr. Lang brought with him the information that the villagers of Oberammergau, sorely beset by the depression that hangs over Germany, are preparing now to present the next Passion Play during the Summer of 1934, on the occasion of its 300th anniversary. The sacred drama in the past has been presented only at ten-year-periods, the last being in 1930.

As on a former occasion, when the villagers of Oberammergau refused $1,000,000 offer for motion pictures of the Passion Play, although their need was great at the time, Mr. Lang launched at the prospect of another such offer being accepted in 1934.

"They will never consent to commercialize the Passion Play in the movies," he said.

While he hopes to make this country his permanent home, the younger Mr. Lang looks forward to taking part in the forthcoming Passion Play of 1934. In the 1930 production he played in the orchestra. His brother, Carl, now in the pottery business with his father, sang in the chorus, and a sister, Ria, was understudy to the girl who took the part of Mary.

During the past four years Mr. Lang, Jr., has taken postgraduate studies at Georgetown University and specialized in French at Grenoble University. Like his famous father he speaks English fluently, with scarcely a trace of accent.

Catholic Women Will Gather At Charleston, S. C.

National Council of Catholic
Women Expect To Focus Attention of South on Catholic
Lay-Leaders

Washington—For the first time since its inception the National Council of Catholic Women will hold its annual convention in the Southland. Delegates to the twenty-fifth convention are to assemble from October 8 to 12 at Charleston, South Carolina, where headquarters are to be established at the Park-Summer Hotel.

N. C. W. leaders expect about 500 delegates representing the 1700 federated organizations of Catholic women which make up its total individual membership of approximately 5,000,000. Representation is already assured from more than 24 States including the far West.

The value of the gathering of such a large group of Catholics in a State whose Catholic population is only one-half of one per cent, is obvious. The Diocese of Charleston, comprising the whole of the State, is able to count less than 10,000 Catholics in a total population of 500,000, and many of these are scattered over a wide rural territory. The N. C. W. Convention is expected to focus the attention of the South on the social and educational work carried on by the Catholic laity.

The preliminary convention publicly emphasizes the highlights of the program. These are to be frequent addresses during the four day session on the encyclicals on Social Recon-

File Protest On Anti-Christmas Teaching in N. D.

Prominent Catholic Members of Catholic Petition Committee
Take Steps to Protest

Raleigh, N. C.—The members of the Catholic Petition Committee have filed a protest with the Governor of North Carolina against the teaching of anti-Christmas in the State schools.

The protest is a petition signed by 100 Catholics, including leading business men, labor leaders and public officials. Mr. Tatum asked the Governor to prevent the petition from reaching the State Board of Education.

The Catholic World Over

The necessity of religious culture which he declared to be nothing more in substance than study of the catechism, was emphasized by His Holiness Pope XI in an address delivered recently at an audience at which he received a delegation of Italian Catholics who are taking part in the National Competition in Religious Culture.

At the annual meeting of the South African Chambers of Industries held at Durban, South Africa, J. S. Hancock, a prominent Catholic, was unanimously elected President. The Federated Chambers of Industries, which comprise the whole of the manufacturing industries of South Africa, look after the interests of more than fifty million pounds of invested capital.

The serene language has a particular attraction for the missionary of West Africa because it is spoken by 300,000 people and because it is the language of a more cultured race which till now has been little influenced by Islamism and, for that reason, easier to evangelize.

From the little village of Montmin, in Haute-Savoie, France, which has only 247 inhabitants, thirteen priests have been received by the Church, all of whom are now living.

Economic depression notwithstanding the De Paul University's 1932 summer session was one of the most successful in the history of the institution. Dr. Howard E. Egan, director of the summer term, has announced.

The Constituent Congress now drafting a new national Constitution for Peru has approved the provisions referring to the Church, according to a dispatch to El Universal in Mexico City. Under the new Constitutional provisions thus approved the State will protect the Catholic religion. All other religions will have liberty to exercise their cults.

In recognition of his work with composite numbers, which had led to certain interesting conclusions.

Bronx Knight Of Columbus Gets Purple Heart

New York—John F. Cox, 1176 Castle Hill Avenue, Bronx, a parishioner of St. Raymond's Church and a member of Dr. John G. Coyle Council, No. 163, K. of C., has received the decoration of the Order of the Purple Heart from the War Department. This decoration, which is awarded for military merit, was established by George Washington during the Revolutionary War and was recently revived by President Hoover. Cox enlisted in the "old 69th" Regiment, now the 165th New York Infantry, in April, 1917. Immediately after the entry of the United States into the World War. During the Champagne offensive in July, 1918, Cox, private in Company E, maintained communication under heavy shell fire for three consecutive days, until he was wounded. He passed the next three years in government hospitals both here and in France, his wounds making a series of operations necessary before he was finally discharged.

Cox is also to receive the Silver Star citation for gallantry in action. Heretofore, this decoration took the form of a small silver star to be worn on the recipient's service medal. Recently the War Department decided to make the Silver Star a distinct decoration. It is now form its erstwhile of a small silver star, superimposed on a large bronze star, suspended from a ribbon of suitable colors.

Seminary Collection Will Be Taken In Churches on "Seminary Sunday"

Sunday, September 25, has been designated "Seminary Sunday" by Bishop O'Hern. And the collection for the seminaries will be taken up on that day in all Catholic churches of the diocese.

With a registration of 240, classes were organized at St. Bernard's Seminary last week for the year was begun on Monday. Bishop O'Hern, this week, gave Holy Orders to a class of deacons and sub-deacons at the Seminary.

It is widely known St. Bernard's Seminary, now serving 16 dioceses in the East, South and Middle West, has become internationally known. At one time the Rochester theological seminary served 36 dioceses throughout the country.

The work of St. Andrew's Preparatory Seminary and of St. Bernard's Philosophical and Theological Seminary is supported by the contributions made annually by the people of the diocese on the last Sunday in September. There are 220 students registered at St. Andrew's Seminary this year.

A sum of $54,000 will be needed from the people of this diocese for the support of the schools during the coming year. The remaining portion of the budget of expenses for St. Bernard's Seminary is supplied by the Bishops of other dioceses who send their students here, and by the income from endowment funds.

Graduates Over 1000

Bishop McQuaid inaugurated the seminary collection and set aside the month of September for taking it up in the churches. In fact, on the part of the Catholics of his day in behalf of the two seminaries made possible the building up of two institutions which are a source of pride to Rochester because of their beautiful architecture, but more so because of the great work they have done in history of sixty years for St. Andrew's—and of thirty-nine years for St. Bernard's. More than ten thousand priests have been graduated from St. Bernard's and are now serving in parishes and dioceses far and near, within our borders, also far beyond the confines of the United States.

So well did Bishop McQuaid plan and so well did he build that his seminary has become the model on which modern seminaries throughout the country have been built. Sacrifices will be required this year from the friends of the seminaries as they make their annual contribution for the training of young men for the Priesthood, Bishop O'Hern feels confident that this sacrifice will be made willingly for the future of our Priesthood.

Invite All Catholic Evidence Groups to First National Gathering in New York City In October

New York—All Catholic Evidence Guilds, throughout the country, are invited to participate in the National Conference of Catholic Evidence Guilds, to be held here October 1 and 2, has been received with marked enthusiasm and plans for the meetings are now going forward.

Baltimore J. Funke, president of the Catholic Evidence Guild of New York City, has just announced that the local Guild will sponsor the Conference.

Among those who have signified their intent to be present are: W. V. Kerrish, Catholic Truth Guild and Common Cause, Boston, Mass.; Kari Rogers, Catholic Information Society, Northampton; J. G. Bowen, Catholic Evidence Guild, Washington, D. C.; Anne Martin, Catholic Evidence League, Baltimore, Md. Every effort has been made to reach Catholic Evidence Guilds throughout the country. All are cordially invited to send a representative to this first national conference.

The purpose of the conference is to exchange views and to take counsel one with another about the best means of forwarding this type of work. A definite impulse was given at the High School and College Social Convention at Chicago (June, 1932) when a resolution was unanimously adopted to change the name of study groups from "Study Clubs" to "Catholic Evidence Guilds". The reason back of the resolution was that "Study Club" accentuates the acquisition of personal knowledge, whereas "Catholic Evidence Guild" implies the use of that knowledge in spreading the faith.

If any are interested in the forthcoming conference, they may write to Mr. Thomas Diviney, Catholic Evidence Guild, 25 West 43d St., New York City.
