Good Shepherd Nuns Open Home For Inspection Prior to Enclosure

Improvements at Holy Angels Home Include Novitiate Quarters for Community; Girls Taught Home Duties as Well as School Subjects

Rochester Diocese's newest character building institution, Holy Angels Home for Girls, conducted by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd on Winton Road North was open for inspection Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday and drew many friends of the Sisters to their home recently remodeled and redecorated in preparation for its formal enclosure. Coming here two years ago the Sisters have been quietly but effectively carrying on their work with young girls turned over to them for protection and training. The Sisters, this week, expressed their great appreciation to all who come to view the alterations and improvements and to participate in a sale conducted of fancy needlework and embroideries done at the home.

Addition Newly Built

An addition has been built on the frame building facing Winton Rd. North, the original structure housing the Sisters. Connecting with this frame building is the three-story stucco building in which is conducted the school for the girls and the laundry of the Sisters. This addition has been made into novitiate for the local community of the Good Shepherd Sisters.

Visitors to the Good Shepherd Home now approach the front door of the frame building and ring the bell. After the enclosure is established the door will open automatically and the visitor is ushered into a hall way. To the left is a room with a large grill. In this room, visits with the Sisters may be had the curtains to be drawn when the Sister enters the visiting room.

For those who wish to deliver any articles to the Sisters a "turn" or half barrel like arrangement is further down the main hall. There is also a small grill through which visitors may speak to the Sister answer.

The Catholic World Over

Three Jesuits, the Rev. John J. Meyer and Messrs. John M. Lane and Vincent McGilchey, compose this year's addition to the personnel of the Patna mission in India, in charge of the Chicago Province of the Society of Jesus. The number of American Jesuits in Patna is increased to 45, 26 of whom are priests and 19 scholars.

Announcement recently made that the Catholic program broadcast for a half-hour each Tuesday evening over Station KOT, Phoenix, Arizona, will be continued this year, has revealed that in the last four years these Catholic programs have had a number of non-Catholics to call for baptism on their deathbeds. The speakers' period in these programs is given over to catechetical instructions.

Thirteen States and the Federal District of Mexico, which includes Lower California, have now adopted laws limiting the number of Catholic clergy, according to Charles Betton, Mexico City correspondent for N. C. W. C. News Service. The approximate population of the areas affected is 8,093,657 and the extent of the hardship faced by the Church can be understood when it is known that a total of 314 priests must attempt to minister to the religious needs of all these people in an area of about 408,078 square miles.

Well known for more than 60 years as Epworth Seminary, an educational institute of the Methodist Church, St. Paul's Mission House in Epworth, Iowa, has opened its doors as a Catholic preparatory seminary for the missionary priesthood. The property was acquired some months ago by the Society of the Divine Word.

Catholic Truth Guild Meeting In N. Y., Success

Professional, Literary and Educational Groups Respond To Call of New York City Catholic Evidence Guild

By HELEN R. GUNTHER
(Written Especially for the Catholic Courier and Journal)

October 2 and 3 were epochal days in the history of the Catholic Evidence Guilds in America. Under the auspices of the New York City Guild, a Conference was held in New York City for the purpose of establishing a national organization uniting various groups interested in this project. B. F. Meek of New York chaired the meeting, which was held in the Catholic Club and St. Francis Xavier College. The members attended Mass at St. Francis Xavier Church, followed by a communion breakfast at Kavanagh's.

Although a comparatively new phase of Catholic action in this country, the Catholic Evidence Guild has been popular in England for the last fifteen years. Francis J. Sheehy, scheduled to address the N. C. C. W. in Rochester the latter part of this month, has long been identified with this movement in England as one of its chief representatives and promoters. In this country up to the present time there are three groups functioning in New York, Washington, Baltimore, Boston and St. Louis.

Objectives Are Three-fold

This is an organization of laymen interested in the intelligent understanding and explanation of Catholic Doctrine. Its objectives are three-fold: the acquiring of knowledge of Catholic doctrine, the spreading of it by the written or oral word, and the formation of new groups.

For the realization of these objectives, a permanent organization was established with a constitution authorizing the continuance of like conferences annually for the exchange of ideas and the adoption of practical ends tried policies. Following the adoption of a resolution regarding the establishment of a national organization with the usual officers, elections were conducted in regular form. James B. Hayes, of New York, will serve as first President. To assist him, a representative Board of Directors was chosen from the various existing groups.

Mexican Situation Grows Tense Following Denunciation of Acts Of Mexican Government by Pope

Pontiff in Sharply Worded Encyclical Protests Church Law in Mexico; Orders Catholics to Obey But Urges Prayer for Deliverance from "Persecution"

Unhappy conditions for the Church, prevailing in Mexico were aggravated during the week following the last issue of the Holy Father's encyclical protesting against the situation created in that country for the Church by the "religions and impious" anti-religious law.

Officials of the Mexican government have interpreted the wording of the encyclical to their own ways of thinking and have caused the banishment of Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz Y Flores, Apostolic Delegate, according to certain press dispatches. The press services state he has been expelled from Mexico as a "pernicious foreigner."

As this is written no comment has come from the Vatican on the action.

New School Dedication Parish Golden Jubilee, To Be Held In Wayland

Bishop O'Hern Assisted by Clergy of Diocese in Official Sunday at Pontifical Mass in Morning and School Dedication in Afternoon; Fr. Heisel in Charge

NEW STRUCTURE IS WELL EQUIPPED FOR SCHOOL AND PARISH SOCIAL CENTER

Wayland, N. Y.—The celebration of the Golden Jubilee of St. Joseph's parish and the dedication of the new parochial school will be held on Sunday, October 9. The Most Rev. J. Francis O'Hern, D. D., assisted by the clergy of the diocese, will celebrate the Solemn Pontifical High Mass at 10:30. The dedication ceremonies of the new school will take place in the afternoon at 2:30.

The new school is one of the finest in Western New York and stands as a monument to the good people of St. Joseph's parish, whose loyalty and devotion, under the leadership of their pastor, the Rev. William V. Heisel, has made possible the building of this beautiful edifice. Well may they be proud of this achievement. The dedication of this school to the teaching of Catholic values to the Catholic youth of Wayland stands out as a bright light in this day of doubt and fear for the future.

Auditorium Seats 500

The new building is a three-story structure, 30 feet frontage and 100 feet deep. It stands well back from the street on a large plot of ground directly opposite St. Joseph's Church and parsonage. It is faced with cream shade tapestry brick and trimmed with cut stone. There are five classrooms, teachers' room and library on the second floor. The auditorium, with a seating capacity of 500 people, is on the first floor and has a stage for the presentation of school dramas. Adjoining the auditorium are men's and women's check rooms, men's smoking room, women's retiring room and a large and well-equipped kitchen. This building will be the social center for the parish.

The school is a product of the last word in the building art. The lighting, ventilation, heating, plumbing, painting, wiring, bookcases, etc., all are of the highest quality and standards of modern building construction. George F. Lorenson of Rochester, was the architect; Eugene P. Forrester, Akron, N. Y., general contractor; Kimmel Hardware Co., Wayland, N. Y., electrical contractor; Heisinger and David Storan of Rochester, the electrical work.

St. Joseph's parish was founded fifty years ago by a pioneer group of thirty-four loyal families. Today it has an excellent group of parochial buildings, including a fine church, convent, rectory and a modern up-to-date school.

Says Poverty Great

Bishop Willinger, deeply shocked by this new encyclical, said in a statement today that the situation in Mexico is so grave that the people are suffering from poverty and that the children are being starved.

Even in normal times, said Bishop Willinger, "poverty on the island is overwhelming. Now the child-feeding and medical work of the Association is needed more than ever. The Holy Father, who has graciously bestowed a blessing on all who aid the Catholic Porto Rican Child Welfare Association, will surely desire Catholics everywhere to come to our rescue."

Contributions should be sent to Bishop Willinger, care of St. Alphonsus Rectory, 308 West Broadway, New York, N. Y.

The Catholic Medical Mission Board, Inc., at 8 and 10 West 27th Street, New York, N. Y., will be glad to receive contributions from those who wish to help the hurricane sufferers who were injured and rendered homeless during the late calamity.

Rome.—After having led a pilgrimage from his diocese to the International Eucharistic Congress at Dublin and later to Rome Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Cleveland, went to Ratisbon, Bavaria, his native city, where he consecrated a new church, the erection of which he made possible.

On his last previous visit to Ratisbon Bishop Schrembs learned from the Vicar General that there had been people, desiring to give full effect to the splendid historic chimes of the cathedral, were very anxious to add to the height of the cathedral bell tower, but were unable to do so because of the expense involved—25,000 gold marks, about $5,000.

Appreciating the seriousness of the situation, Bishop Schrembs dispatched a gift of $10,000 to the Bishop of Ratisbon to be used for the erection of the church as a memorial to Bishop Schrembs' parents.
