

Auburn Marks St. Patrick's Feast With Religious and Other Functions

Auburn—Gala parties, dinners, playlets and other functions in the various church-auditoriums marked a fitting observance of the 1933 St. Patrick's Day in Auburn. Special services were carried out in all Catholic churches.

Characteristic of other successful plays staged under the auspices of the Little Theatre Players of this city, an intriguing comedy-drama entitled, "The Barney Stone," was cleverly presented before a capacity audience in the Holy Family Auditorium on North Street St. Patrick's night. A breath of old Erin in modern setting, pathos and comedy were cleverly interlaced to give the theatergoers a clean, wholesome entertainment.

Between the acts, a quartette composed of Leo Carroll, Anthony Conroy, Frank Dasher, and Clarence Hayden entertained with Irish musical favorites. A children's matinee performance was given Sunday afternoon. The play will be repeated next Sunday afternoon at the Grange Hall in Cato for the benefit St. Patrick's Church of which Rev. John Ball, former assistant pastor at St. Mary's Church, is pastor.

The play was declared one of the best ever produced by the local dramatic organization, thanks largely to the excellent acting of Luke E. White, Thomas Vail, Delos Brown, Bradley Carroll, Andrew McLane, Paul Landers, Irene Kenny, Hannah Stapleton Currier and Jennie McLean. Much credit for the success went to Rev. Donald M. Cleary, manager; Edward Hubbard, director; and assisting committee, Francis Searling, Adrian Dunn, Harold Brewster, Helen Beardsley, Amnera Carroll and Anna McGee.

St. Alphonsus Recreation Hall in Water Street was crowded for the St. Patrick party sponsored by the various church societies. Luncheon was served by the Immaculate Heart of Mary Society and the decorations were taken care of by the Young Ladies Sodality, William J. McLane was general chairman and was assisted by Joseph T. Heleck, Frank H. Steigerwald, Carl Fleig, Carl Steigerwald, Stephen J. Kleintjes, Alban J. Linnabach, James Waltrick, Joseph Eloh and Cyril Moran.

A large audience also assembled at the Grand in Wall Street for the playlet and party for the benefit of St. Aloysius Church under the direction of Rev. J. B. Crowley, pastor.

den and Mrs. Frank Robinson.

This committee, approved by the society, submitted the following list of appointees to permanent offices in the newly-formed society, all of whom were unanimously elected: President, Miss Carolyn Ruth Doran; first vice-president, Mrs. John Nugent; second vice-president, Miss Marjorie Klefer; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Garvey; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Haaselt. In addition, a budget committee of three members was appointed by the president, Miss Doran, and approved by members. This committee consists of Miss Claire Brophy, Miss Frances Grady and Miss Katherine Mack.

The general membership responded with remarkable enthusiasm to the outlined spiritual work of the organization as explained by the Rev. Daniel Holland, who has been appointed by Father Brian as spiritual director of the society. Pledges were asked and responded to for increased membership before the next meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, Mar. 28, and for the first reception by the new Sodality of the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist, to be received in a body Sunday, April 2.

Open to Parish Women
The organization is open to all women of the parish and will include in its varied activities, soon to be outlined, both young and old, in departments of activity suited to inclination, experience and taste of separate groups. Spiritually, however, the organization is a unified body, designed for the achievement of the purpose outlined above, and is under the general supervision of the Most Rev. John Francis O'Hern, D.D., Bishop of the Rochester Diocese.

Members unable to attend Tuesday night's meeting and who intend to affiliate themselves with the organization are asked to communicate with any of the officers or with Father Holland, who will be glad to register their names before the next meeting Mar. 28.

When Earthquake Shattered Churches

The recent devastating series of earthquakes in southern California caused a loss of one million dollars to Catholic Church property in the Diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego. At Long Beach, six churches, one hospital, two schools, five rectories and three convents were damaged. The above photos were taken in St. Anthony's parish, where considerable loss was suffered. Their church ruined, the parishioners attended Mass in a vacant lot nearby.

The session was largely attended by women of the various Catholic parishes in this city and throughout the county. There are 17 towns in the Auburn Deenery and all were represented. The president's message was given by Mrs. William H. Mesinger, head of the local branch, and the minutes of the preliminary organization meeting were read by Miss Ida Ferry, secretary. Mrs. Frank H. De Sales Doings

By JOHN TOOLE

(With this issue of the Catholic Courier, De Sales High School of Geneva makes its formal bow to the readers of the diocesan weekly newspaper.)

The Senior Class has the honor and distinction of introducing the first paper in the history of the school. The publication is called the "De Sales Review" and appears monthly. Edward McCarthy is the editor and is aided by a staff of other capable Senior assistants. In the paper appear Sodality news, social activities, poems and other interesting news items, including the Honor Roll. The first three issues have been successful and indications are future ones will be better.

An interesting and entertaining St. Patrick's Day program was presented by the Mission Unit of the Sodality, Thursday evening, March 16, in the study hall. The first part consisted of instructive talks given by members of the unit on topics of varied interest. A talk on National Vocation Week was given by the Rev. Edward T. Ball, spiritual director.

The second part consisted of an Irish minstrel show. John Mahan, prefect, was interductor, assisted by four bright and snappy end men, soloists, and a mixed chorus. The cast was appropriately costumed for the occasion. There were vocal numbers, oral recitations, tap dances and the customary end-men's jokes. The performance pleased all present.

The next big Sodality meeting scheduled for March 31 is in charge of the Publicity unit. The feature of the evening will be the welcoming of the freshmen. At De Sales, before freshmen are allowed to enter the sodality, they are put on probation and if they stand the test they are admitted. That's what the freshmen have been doing since last September and those who have "weathered the storm," are to be admitted with proper ceremonies.

After a strenuous week of examinations, pupils are waiting in eager expectancy for the issuance of reports. By the time this issue goes to press, reports will have been received.

ENTERS CHURCH London.—The sister of Lord Inchiquin, the Hon. Katharine B. Gallagher, has been received into the Catholic Church at the Church of St. Mary and St. Peter, Jersey.

The supreme aim and end of education is not attained unless it enlightens and sensitizes the conscience.
