St. John's School Has Unique System at Graduation Time

Monday evening in St. John the Evangelist church a class of some forty-odd boys and girls was graduated. The altar, aglow with candles, fresh with flowers, crisp linen, and fragrant with burning roses, formed a most appropriate background for the occasion. The girls attired in cool, crisp gowns of pretty pastels, with contrasting, or matching shades, and carrying shower bouquets of pansies and baby's breath, made a very lovely picture as they received their coveted diplomas and various awards, from the hands of the Rev. John H. Sullivan, pastor.

Sometime each year, at the graduation exercises, is devoted to awarding of many splendid prizes. The system used in St. John's School is unique of its kind in Rochester, and was originated by Father Sullivan some years ago. The system is known as the "Gold Star System," and includes grades two to eighth. A gold star on the report signifies ninety per cent or above in all subjects each month. Those succeeding in writing nine gold stars, one for each month of the school year, are awarded a prize to be chosen by the pupil himself. The prizes are all purchased by Father Sullivan. It was indeed interesting to note the number who, encouraged by this fine system, succeeded in attaining high averages, and to watch them, especially the little tots of second and third grade, hurrying up the aisle to receive their well-earned awards.

After the awarding of various medals, honors and prizes, came the most inspiring part of the evening—the address to the graduates, delivered by the pastor. Father Sullivan stressed particularly the vital importance of religious training in school, telling the class always to be most grateful to, and mindful of the almighty who have given them their wonderful training in a Catholic grammar school, and who have sacrificed their lives to this noble purpose. Father Sullivan said that grammar school life was not complete without religious school life. The atmosphere in which children study has a tremendous influence on their lives, and if they are trained in the law of God and of religion, they will be the finest contribution that can be made to American citizenship. He cited Russia as an example of a country where the name of God is not even given utterance, and where, as a result, conditions are deplorable, to say the least.

He also cited the vast differences in cost of education per pupil, between Catholic and public schools. It costs $148 to educate a pupil in a public grammar school, as against $30 in a Catholic school. However, Father Sullivan said the effort to sustain our Catholic schools, despite the world wide economic distress is a worth-while one, in view of the fact that because of this religious training we are giving to the world better Americans.

Father Sullivan warned the boys and girls of the difficulties they would have to face, and the dangers to keep their minds fixed on God and on His law. If they did this, he said, success would be assured. Father Sullivan closed with the hope that the graduates would remain ever in the shadow of the Church, as they were then and finally gave them a hearty "God Bless You."

Cathedral School Pays Bishop O'Hern Tribute in Closing Exercises

Thirty-eight graduates of St. Patrick's Cathedral grammar school received their diplomas at exercises held Friday evening in Cathedral Hall. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles F. Shay, pastor of the Cathedral, presented the diplomas and awarded prizes. The class was presented by the Rev. John S. Randall, assistant pastor.

The program was in the nature of a tribute to the late Bishop O'Hern. Joseph Spillman spoke of "A Lifetime of Life" which exemplified in detail the life of the beloved Bishop O'Hern. He called upon the graduates to model their lives on that of the recently deceased Bishop.

Mary Coppetta gave a recitation on the class motto which was that of Bishop O'Hern's, "To serve is to reign." The Archbishop Hickey Scholarship medals were awarded to Joseph Spillman and Basilio Carapezza. The Bishop O'Hern Application Prize was drawn for by several and won by Nicholas DeMareo.

At the close of the exercises, Monsignor Shay addressed the class stressing the necessity for Catholic education. He said the standard of Cathedral School this year was better than in a long time. He commended the class for its work, each member of the class having won a diploma.
