

DR. RYAN SEES RECOVERY ACT AID TO LABOR

(N. C. W. C. News Service)
New York—The National Recovery Act and its present administration provisions "point to a sustained effort to give labor as a whole a larger share of the products than it has been getting," declared the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, Director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, in an address Friday before the sixth national convention of the National Catholic Alumnae Federation. Delegates from 56 Catholic institutions of higher learning throughout the country attended the sessions.

Dr. Ryan, speaking on "Labor's Position and Duties," declared that, in his opinion, "this Industrial Recovery Act will not work unless capital gets a smaller share of the industrial products than it has been getting."

"It is purely an arithmetical proposition," he added. "If labor is going to get a greater share, capital must be satisfied with less."

"Whether capital will be satisfied," he continued, "I don't know. But if you ask me what we will have next if this doesn't work, I hesitate to think."

Emphasis on the incorporation of many of the great papal encyclicals' ideas and principals in current administration measures was placed by Dr. Ryan and also other speakers at Friday's sessions.

The Junior Cook

By MOLLY GAVIN
Hot weather takes the energy out of most everyone except Junior Cooks and even you need something to cool you off now and then. You frequently make lemonade, orangeade or snowballs. Snowballs would be wonderful to serve at one of your parties. One a little different, but perfectly delicious, is a pineapple snowball.

When a glass full of ice has been scraped, pour over it crushed pineapple, with the juice and a little bit of sugar. If it is a company snowball, put a cherry on top of it. Doesn't that sound good? And it is as good and cool as it sounds.

The Catholic World Over

would be dead before he could lift him from the horn, the missionary, a Consolata Father, baptized the man where he hung.

Madras, India.—(NCWC)—Statistics on the last census reveal a remarkable increase of Catholics in the Madras Presidency. In the past decade, the Christian population has increased from 1,380,672 to 1,793,742. The total Catholic population is 847,453. In this city, there are 32,662 Catholics as against 21,109 Protestants of all races and denominations.

London.—(NCWC)—The first airplane pilgrimage to Rome from London is planned by a Catholic travel agency here. The proposal is to fly to Zurich on the day of departure and go to Rome next day. The return journey will be made during one day, leaving Rome in the morning and arriving here in the late evening. Fifteen pilgrims will be carried on each air liner.

Dublin.—(NCWC)—The annual report of the St. Joseph Young Priests' Society in Ireland states that in the last year the Society has been maintaining 65 students. Of these no fewer than 46 were being maintained by the various franchises, leaving 17 to be supported from the permanent burses and funds of the Society.

Northern Nigeria, British West Africa.—(NCWC-Fides)—Traveling on foot, alone and unarmed, through a district infested with wild animals, a Catholic native of the Northern Nigeria Prefecture walked to a village 26 miles distant and back again, all in one night, to get his Baptismal Certificate that he might be confirmed the next day.

Berne, Switzerland.—(NCWC)—The Swiss Government has consented to give serious consideration to a resolution submitted in Parliament that proper measures ought to be taken to counteract the malicious propaganda carried on by the newly established "International Goddess Centre" with headquarters in Basle. This organization, said to act under direct instructions of the Goddess headquarters in Moscow, is considered as of pernicious influence on the religious peace of the country.

Ichang.—(NCWC)—Increased opium smoking in the Upper Yangtze Valley has prompted Bishop Gubbels of the Belgian Franciscans to institute a cure to save Christian victims the missionary in charge reports a first success with seven. The method consists in persuading the men to accept voluntary confinement with almost complete deprivation of the drug from the beginning. During the first days of cruel suffering the missionary gave the victims what in substance was a spiritual retreat, appealing to religious motives to fortify their constancy. "Once the desire is lost the men are freed under supervision and now are declared permanently cured."

Prague.—(NCWC)—Catholic associations here are seeking to obtain representation on the Board of Censors of Films in the new Film Act which is being prepared in the Legislature here. Legislation concerning film censorship in this country has been incomplete in some respects and while many non-Catholic cultural associations have had a strong vote in the Board of Censors Catholic groups as such, have not been in active co-operation with the board.

New York.—(NCWC)—Protestant efforts to proselytize Catholic aliens in the United States have proven largely ineffective in spite of large sums of money spent for such work, is the conclusion drawn in a survey just completed by Professor Theodore Abel, of Columbia University, for the Institute of Social and Religious Research. The results of Professor Abel's findings are published in a book entitled "Protestant Home Missions of Catholic Immigrants."

Readers Urged To Tell Advertisers Value of Catholic Publications

(N. C. W. C. News Service)
Albany.—How the Catholic lally, by enhancing the value of Catholic publications as mediums for advertising, can strengthen the Catholic Press as an "instrument of instruction and defense," is set forth in an editorial in the current issue of The Evangelist of this city.

Pointing to hundreds of millions of dollars spent annually by national and local advertisers, and stating that with a few notable exceptions national advertisers have not yet discovered the Catholic Press as a direct avenue to Catholic homes and to Catholic institutions, and that some local advertisers fail to take advantage "of this valuable introduction to the millions of readers of Catholic publications," the editorial continues:

"In many dioceses, including Albany, by editorial broadcasts, pulpit utterances, talks at numerous conventions and letters by Bishops, the lally has been made aware of the tremendous help it renders Catholic papers when it patronizes their advertisers, and informs the merchants where their ads were seen. This campaign for Catholic reader co-operation is to become nation-wide and advertisers will be told about it."

"This movement is of interest to the lally. It can visualize what a strong instrument of instruction and defense our Catholic Press can be if it receives its share of the millions spent for advertising."

"Our loyal lally can help bring these advertising millions to our papers by adding to the good reputation of our Catholic publications as valuable mediums for advertisers."

Household Hints

Keep a good supply of ice in the refrigerator. It is cheaper in the end.

To clean tennis shoes and give them a suede effect rub dry powdered whiting on the shoes with a piece of flannel. White canvas shoes, if much soiled, should be scrubbed before the whiting is put on, with soap and water applied with a hard brush; then remove all soap, dry in the sun and apply the whiting. The shoes should be first stuffed with paper or put on shoe trees to hold their shape and prevent shrinking.

For yellowed piano keys, rub them with peroxide. Or, rub them with a little lemon juice and whiting; then remove it with a damp cloth. It is advisable to close the piano on damp days.

For a pretty window shade for the bathroom or kitchen, use wall paper containing a colorful bouquet or other attractive design; cut out the designs and paste them on the shade and cover them with two coats of colorless shellac.

When icing starts to harden before you have finished spreading it, set the bowl or pan of icing in a larger pan of hot water till finished.

When cutting marshmallows, use a seissors and dip it frequently in ice water and use without drying; they will not stick and the work is quickly done.

Remove the outer leaves from a head of lettuce. Cut out the core. Leave as a head, hold under cold water faucet, drain. Wrap in damp cloth or lettuce bag and keep on ice. Unpeel leaves from heart of lettuce as needed.

CATHOLIC HOME

By FREDERICK J. MITTY
President, Rochester Diocesan Council, N. C. W. C.

The defeat by popular referendum in California of the law to repeal the unjust taxes against all private non-profit schools is a shock to the sense of justice of all fair-minded persons. The private non-profit schools of California save the taxpayers from a burden of twelve million dollars, and the capital outlay that would be necessary for school buildings to house children now educated privately, would be at least twenty million dollars.

It would seem that the private schools should receive the thanks of the taxpayers for saving them this large annual expenditure, but the tax legislation of the State of California provides for the taxes on private schools to the amount of $250,000 annually.

The proposal voted upon was not to provide for appropriation for Catholic schools, but to relieve the private schools of the annual tax burden. There were approximately 500,000 votes in favor of the repeal and 735,000 against the repeal. A bitter campaign was waged by the opponents of the amendment in San Francisco organized as the Tax Payers Alliance. This organization spent thousands of dollars for newspaper advertising, etc., and there can be little doubt but that the organization was formed not so much for the purpose of saving the taxes, as for striking a blow to the Catholic Parochial School System. This should hardly be expected in a State that owes all of its early traditions and early developments to Catholicism, and it is wholly out of line with what might be expected from a State which selected as one of its two representatives for the Hall of Fame at Washington, Father Junipero Serra.

It is estimated that many thousands of Catholic people did not even vote on this question. The matter of the repeal of these taxes was of vital importance to the Parochial School system of California which has furnished
