Newspapers Express Opinions On Appointment of Archbishop Mooney

Editorials in Cleveland and Rochester newspapers express the great satisfaction felt over the appointment of the Most Rev. Edward A. Mooney to the bishopric of Rochester by the community in which he is well known and the community into which he will soon be welcomed.

The Cleveland Catholic Universe-Bulletin, official diocesan newspaper, says:

Archbishop Mooney

"Seven years ago Monsignor Edward A. Mooney arrested the attention of the ecclesiastical world when he was selected by the Vatican to be the representative of the Holy Father to the people of India. Unique was this honor inasmuch as he was the first American citizen to become an Apostolic delegate.

"His services in India won for him the esteem of all classes and when he was transferred to Tokio delegation he left behind him forty-eight Archbishops and Bishops, 2,955 priests and over three million Catholic laymen, who sincerely mourned his going. Indian Catholics still speak in praise of the distinguished American churchman whom they loved as a father.

"His happy and facile administration of church affairs in the flowery kingdom was a repetition of his success in India. He brought honor to the Church of which he was official representative and to America in his private capacity as an outstanding American citizen.

"For ten years the archbishop has been an exile, voluntary, it is true, but none the less an exile from his native land. The Holy Father has thought of his representative abroad and by a gracious appointment to the important See of Rochester he has returned to his homeland.

"America is glad to see the Archbishop come home. Rochester is especially fortunate in having the rare administrative ability of Archbishop Mooney placed at its disposal. He will add to the luster that his illustrious predecessors have shed upon that see."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, secular daily says editorially:

Still a Clevelander

"Clevelanders of all creeds take pride and pleasure in the appointment of Archbishop Edward A. Mooney to the diocese of Rochester, N. Y. Though the call of his church has taken him in recent years to Rome, India and Japan, Archbishop Mooney is still considered a Clevelander by the thousands who knew him here as pastor and educator.

"The young priest from the seminary faculty who some twenty years ago was made the first head of Cathedral Latin School, has been advanced rapidly in the service of the Catholic church. He is now rated one of the outstanding prelates of America and his distinguished talents have sent him to all parts of the world on important missions.

"The announcement of Archbishop Mooney's appointment comes close on the naming of Rev. C. H. LeBlond as bishop of St. Joseph, Mo. Members of the Cleveland diocese may well pride themselves on the advance of these Cleveland-trained prelates."

The Rochester Times-Union states:

Named Catholic Bishop

"Rochester and other communities in the Catholic diocese of which this city is the episcopal seat will await with deep interest the coming of Archbishop Edward Mooney, succeeding the late Bishop John Francis O'Hern.

"Archbishop Mooney will be fourth in the line of prelates who have held this office. His predecessors have been men who impressed the entire city by their personalities and public spirit, as well as by the devotion and energy they gave to their exacting administrative and spiritual duties.

"Holding high church honors prior to his selection as bishop of this diocese, Archbishop Mooney will come to Rochester with a reputation for thorough scholarship, religious zeal and administrative ability.

"He will receive here a most cordial welcome both from the members of his own church and from the community as a whole."

The Rochester Journal-American said in its editorial column:

The New Bishop

"Appointment of Archbishop Edward Mooney, apostolic delegate to Japan, as the fourth bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Rochester, awakens keen interest and will bring satisfaction.

"The prelate who will succeed the late Bisop John Francis O'Hern, widely known and well loved head of the diocese, will come here as a stranger to most of the members of its clergy and laity.

"But he has earned distinction elsewhere.

"The record of work that he has done gives promise that he will carry on successfully the administration of affairs of the diocese. His life has been a preparation for its duties.

"Priests and the people will welcome him sincerely and work with him with a full measure of loyalty that has always been characteristic."

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle states:

The New Bishop

"Residents of the Rochester area, without regard to creed, have received with great interest and satisfaction the news that the Most Rev. Edward Mooney, titular archbishop of Irenopolis d'Isauria and apostolic delegate to Japan, has been appointed bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Rochester.

"Since its establishment, the Catholic Diocese of Rochester has been administered by churchmen of outstanding character and ability. Bishop Bernard J. McQuaid, who laid the foundation; Bishop Thomas F. Hickey, now titular Archbishop of Viminacium, who continued and expanded the work of the founder, Bishop John Francis O'Hern, who gave meaning and direction to many new activities wthin the diocese, all have left the impress of their great work on the life of Rochester.

"Archbishop Mooney's record as a churchman, a statesman and a scholar recommends him as a leader who will contribute no less tha have his predecessors to the spiritual ad intellectual life of the community.

"Not only is Rochester fortunate in the selection of its new Catholic bishop, but is highly honored, since Archbishop Mooney is the first American Catholic to be named as an apostolic delegate."

CENTRAL VEREIN IS LAUDED BY BISHOP BOYLE

New York State Branch convention in 1932 had been conducted and assured the members that Rochester would prove a good host to the 1934 convention.

Delegates at the convention from Rochester were: The Rev. Joseph H. Gefell, of Holy Fmily Church; Joseph T. Otto, President of the Rochester Branch of the Central Verein, (Catholic Men's Federation); Frank C. Hohnlein, William J. Fuehrer, George J. Leicht and former County Judge Philip H. Donnelly.

Delegates to the convention here lost no time in getting down to work The Committee on Catholic Action met on Friday afternoon, August 18, and reviewed the work of the organization for the past year and laid plans for the work of the coming year.

On Saturday afternoon the committee on resolutions was called together by the Very Rev. A. J. Muench, President of St. Francis Seminary, Wilwaukee, Wis. Dr. Muench has for many years acted as chairman of the Resolutions Committee. The various proposed resolutions were taken up by the general committee and full discussion was had. At the conclusion of the discussion, the resolutions were sent to the different sub-committees for further consideration and for drafting into final form. This committee met again on Sunday afternoon, all day Monday and all day Tuesday.

Important Resolutions

The resolutions that were finally adopted by the committee were: The Holy Father, Taxation, Credit Unions, the Social Question, the Federal Child Labor Amendment, Married Women in Industry, Social Reconstruction, and many others. The resolution on the social question received the most lengthy and the most careful consideration. It was minutely discussed. It commends the work of the President of the United States and the N. R. A. for the efforts made to bring about a solution of the industrial question along the lines of Christian principles. It however calls attention of the public to the fact that although the N. R. A. is splendid, still it does not come up fully to the program of the Quadragesimo Anno. It calls upon its members to do all in their power to assist in the carrying out of the N. R. A.

One of the outstanding features of the annual convention of the Central Verein convention is the mass meeting which takes place on Sunday evening. This year's mass meeting was no exception to the high standard set by previous mass meetings. The meeting was held at North Side Carnegie Library Hall, and was presided over by John Eibeck, President of the Pennsylvania Branch.

Mr. Eibeck introduced Hon. John S. Herron, Mayor of Pittsburgh, who welcomed the delegates to the city. He paid a warm tribute to the Germans of Pittsburgh and to the Central Verein. Through some confusion the Mayor did not get to the morning meeting.

Rev. H. J. Miller, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was then introduced. His topic was "The Seventh Commandment and Social Action." Father Miller pointed out the intimate relation that exists between the seventh commandment and any form of true social action. There can be, he said, no real social action until the seventh commandment is fully understood and lived up to. Most of the evils that afflict society, he continued, were connected in some way with a disregard of the seventh commandment.

Hear Fr. Sigmund Cratz

Mr. Eibeck presented Very Rev. Sigmund Cratz, O. M. Cap., provincial of the Capuchin order. His subject was "Man Created in the Image of God, a Social Problem." He maintained that no real progress can be made in the solution of the social question or of social problems until the true dignity of every man is recognized; not only of the rich but also of the poor; not only of the skilled but also of the unskilled workers.

The Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, Bishop of Pittsburgh, was the final speaker. He paid a glowing tribute to the Catholic Central Verein of America and the work that it is doing. He told the various reasons why he likes the Central Verein, chief of which is that it is an organization that does things, one that not only talks Catholic Action but does Catholic Action. To no lay organization in the Church does he look with hope for the doing of big things as he does to the Catholic Central Verein of America.

On Monday morning delegates attended a mass in honor of the Holy Ghost; on Tuesday a solemn requiem mass for the deceased members of the Central Verein and of the Catholic Women's Union; and on Wednesday, a mass of Thanksgiving. All services were held at St. Augustine's Church.

Monday was given over by the Central Verein and the Catholic Women's Union to general business. In the evening a joint meeting of the two organizations was held. At this meeting a brilliant address was delivered by Mr. Kenkel, director of the Central Bureau of the Central Verein. At the Monay evening meeting, Mr. Kenkel usually gives a report of the activities of the Central Bureau. This year he departed from his usual practice and delivered an inspiring address on the history and development of Catholic social principles and the part that German Catholics have had in the development of those principles.

Speaks on Credit Unions

Another outstanding address was delivered at this meeting on "Credit Unions and their Benefits," by Mr. B. Barhorst, Presidet, Lafayette National Bank, St. Louis. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Barhorst conducted an open forum on the subject of his address, and a most interesting and instructive hour followed.

The business sessions of Tuesday were interrupted by an address in the morning by Rev. James R. Cox, of Pittsburgh, who spoke on "My Experience with the Men of Shantytown." He set forth some very informing facts which close association with the jobless had brought to his knowledge.

At the afternoon session of Tuesday, Dr. Nicholas Dietz, Jr., of Pittsburgh, spoke on the subject, "Looking To College and University Graduates For Leadership." He laid down the general qualities that go to make up a leader, and called upon the convention to interest the college and the university man in their work with the hope of making leaders of them.

Another address delivered on Tuesday afternoon was that of Rev. Joseph A. Vogelweid, of Wardsville, Mo. His topic was "What Think You of Youth." This was a searching discussion on the question of youth and of the evils that face the youth of today. He felt that youth could be helped much by becoming interested in such a movement as the Central Verein.

Tuesday evening was given to the reading of the report of the Committee on Resolutions, and to the discussions of the various resolutions as each was read.

At the morning session of Tuesday John Eibeck, formerly president of the Pennsylvania State Branch, was chosen to succeed Willibald Eibner, as president of the Catholic Central Verein of America for the next year.

At the final session of Wednesday an interesting discussion took place on the value and merits of Central Blatt—and Social Justice.
