HIGH CHURCH DIGNITARIES COMING FOR INSTALLATION NEXT THURSDAY

HOLY WARFARE FOR DEFENSE OF SOCIETY URGED IN TALK BY DELEGATE IN NEW YORK

Archbishop Cicognani at Charities Meeting Sees Moving Picture Influence For Evil; 4,000 Present at Opening Session; Former Governor Smith Speaks

New York (NCWC).—More than 4,000 persons among them dignitaries of the Church and outstanding leaders of the city occupied every seat and all available standing room in the Metropolitan Opera House Sunday night at the opening meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Charities.

Papal Delegate Praises Catholic Action in U.S. At Charities Meeting

New York (NCWC).—Attention in the multiplicity of its activities has given, and is giving, continuous, magnificent and luminous examples of Catholic Action.

On the great stage were His Eminence Patrick Cardinal Hayes, Archbishop of New York, and His Excellency the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States and two score Archbishops and Bishops.

It is within the scope of Catholic Action to reconstruct the Christian city, the Apostolic Delegate said, and the Christian nation which modern pagan forces have sought to destroy.

America in the multiplicity of its activities has given, and is giving, continuous, magnificent and luminous examples of Catholic Action.

Catholic charities, as organized in many dioceses, are not simple club associations, nor are they confined even to the limits of the beneficent Corporations of St. Vincent, which according to the strict idea of Ozanam are merely auxiliaries of Catholic Action.

The Archdiocese of New York, under the zealous direction and fatherly care of His Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, has set a glorious example in the organization of its charities.

N.C.C.M. Files Protest Against Provisions Of Film Industry Code

Washington (NCWC).—Provisions of the proposed code of fair competition for the Motion Picture Industry whereby the practice of "block booking" would be continued with respect to 80 per cent of the producers' output was the subject of protest registered by the National Council of Catholic Men in a letter addressed to the National Recovery Administration.

The protest was registered in a letter sent by Dr. Thomas E. Purcell, President of the N.C.C.M., to General Hugh S. Johnson, Administrator of the NRA. The letter follows: "We write to you on behalf of our 515 affiliated societies, numbering among their members several millions of Catholic laymen, in protest against acceptance of the proposed code of fair competition for the motion picture industry, submitted to you on August 23, 1933."

"Block Booking" Scored. The most flagrant violation of fair trade practice in the proposed code is comprehended in article XXVI, which, while it would allow a relative degree of reiteration from the monopolistic tyrannies of enforced "block booking, nevertheless permits that odious practice to prevail as respects 80 per cent of the producers' output.

It is quite universally conceded that "block booking," together with "blind booking" and "double featuring," are not only extremely pernicious practices, but are altogether dissonant with democratic principles. That the people of every community in the country should be completely subject, as respects the motion picture entertainment available to them, to the whims and wishes and mercenary judgments of the producers, with no right of choice or check whatever, is both un-American and unwholesome.

Protest Registered. An additional point of protest involves Article V of the proposed code, which would constitute the industry its own moral judge and authorize it to formulate its own moral canons. No benefits whatever could reasonably be expected from this clause, and it very well might be used as a cloak behind which the industry could shield itself from further charges of immorality, however warranted.

At a luncheon session that will follow, the Rev. George Nell, vice-president of the conference, will preside and the Rev. Joseph F. Barbian, diocesan superintendent of schools, Milwaukee, who is the chairman in charge of local arrangements, will welcome the delegates. Frederick P. Kenkel, director of the Central Bureau, Catholic Central Verein, will be the principal speaker.

HOLY FATHER GREET'S 5,000 ITALIAN GIRLS

Affecting Scene As Pope Plus Grants Little Girls Holy Year Audience

Vatican City (Correspondent, N. C. W. C. News-Service).

Vatican City.—Among the hundreds of audiences which he has granted in the Extraordinary Holy Year of Jubilee none has been marked with greater fatherly affection than that which His Holiness Pope Plus XI gave to 5,000 "Beniamini" girls from ten to fourteen years of age, who, when they are fifteen, will enter the "Giovanni Femminile" (girls' branch) of Catholic Action.

The girls comprised three sections of the Catholic youth movement—soprano, "Beniamini" and "Piccolissime," (little ones), accompanied by a fourth group of students. They were presented to the Holy Father by His Eminence Angelo Maria Cardinal Dolci.

The girls assembled in the Vatican Basilica to hear Mass celebrated by Cardinal Dolci. Then they made the Jubilee Visit and at noon ascended to the Hall of the Benedictions for the pontifical audience.

Two large tables had been placed near the Papal Throne on which were put the gifts which the girls of each diocese had brought in filial homage to the Pope, typical products of the various zones from which they had come: fine lace of Cantu with the papal coat-of-arms, a little painted cart, peaches made to ripen in a form so as to leave impressed on them the same coat-of-arms, a silver

PROTESTANTS SHOW INTEREST IN MARTYRS

Join In Honoring Names of Heroic Jesuit Missionaries In This State

Syracuse, N. Y. (NCWC).—The canonization of the Jesuit martyrs, Isaac Jogues, John de Brebeuf and their companions, has aroused much interest in them among Protestants as well as Catholics throughout New York State.

The officers of historical societies and other groups of men and women from Lake Champlain to the Genesee Valley have often for the first time invited priests to give lectures and addresses at their meetings not only on the Martyrs, but also on the early missionaries associated with them. These invitations came from Protestants who have devised other ways of honoring the Martyrs.

In Ticonderoga, on Lake Champlain, the citizens of the town have named streets about the Catholic church for Jogues, Beland, Couplé and the proteges of the missionaries, Tekakwitha.

In Syracuse, on August 26, the leading citizens, mostly Protestants, insisted that the dedication of a magnificent parkway be conducted by Catholics and that only Catholics should deliver the addresses. Their reason was that the landmarks on the parkway were chiefly those consecrated by the missionaries and the French colonists—the Jesuit Will and the old fort.

Thirty-three thousand persons attended the ceremony, at which the Rev. A. M. Tibbitts, S.J., of Auriesville, memorialized the great missionary, Le Moyne, and an Iroquois Indian Jesuit, Father Michael Jacobs, also spoke in Indian and English. The principal speaker was Father Tibbitts.

CLERGY'S CONTRIBUTION TO SCIENCE REVIEWED BY ENGLISH DOMINICAN

London (NCWC).—An accurate list of eminent men of science will prove that the cloister has done more for science than has any scientific college, declared the Rev. Adrian English, O. P., preaching during a Mass celebrated in Leicester in connection with the annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

Vicar Capitalar Asks Prayers Of Faithful Sunday, October 8 For God's Blessing On New Ordinary

Procedure In Ceremony Of Installation

The Administrator of the Diocese, the Rt. Rev. Magr. William M. Hart, in his Excellency, Archbishop Edward Mooney, D.D., at the entrance to the Cathedral and give him the crucifix to kiss and then holy water with which he blesses himself and those who stand around the door of the church. Incense having been placed in the thurible, the Administrator incenses the Bishop. Symbolically, the holy water denotes interior purification; while the incense in burning signifies zeal; in fragrance, virtue; and in its rising smoke, prayer going up before the throne of God.

The procession moves down the church aisle to the sanctuary while the Cathedral choir sings the "Benedicamus."

Upon entering the sanctuary, Archbishop Mooney yields his throne at the Gospel side of the altar to Cardinal Hayes, the presiding prelate, and he himself occupies a specially erected throne on the Epistle side (right side).

The Pontifical Mass then begins and proceeds to the end without interruption. After the Mass is ended, Archbishop Mooney is clothed in Pontifical vestments: amice, alb, surplice, petasus, stole, cope and mitre. The Notary, the Rt. Rev. Magr. John F. Hoppel, Chancellor of the Diocese of Rochester, reads the papal documents in Latin and in English.

The "Te Deum" is sung by the choir. The Bishop kneels at the foot of the altar until the "Te Deum" is finished, when the Administrator recites the versicles and oration for the solemn reception of a Prelate. After the choir has sung the antiphon and versicle of the titular, the new Bishop sings the collect from the Mass of St. Patrick, and then gives his blessing.

The Cardinal then advances to the center of the sanctuary and escorts the Bishop to the permanent throne on the Gospel side of the altar and then makes an address. The Vicar Capitalar makes a brief address of welcome and pledges loyalty.

The priests of the Diocese of Rochester then come forward to the throne of their new Bishop where they kiss his ring expressive of the loyalty and obedience which they are ready to give in carrying on the work of the salvation of souls.

After the priests have made their obeisance, the new Ordinary of the Diocese of Rochester will give an address. Finally the Cardinal gives his blessing.

HONOR FACTORY-WORKER

Brussels (N.C.W.C.).—Public homage was paid to a factory hand at the townhall of Alost, East Flanders. The man, Fons Van de Maele, writes poetry when not at work. The poems, in which Van de Maele echoes the impressions of his daily life, are much valued, not only by the readers of the working-class but by the literary readers of the Flemish country as well. The popular author, Father Emiel Fleerackers, S.J., guided the first steps of this original writer.

In October, a monument is to be erected by the citizens of Rochester and vicinity at Homeoye Falls in honor of the missionary Frémoin and there is a movement to have the road passing the shrine at Auriesville designated Jogues Highway.
