> North Carolina, 15 to 6. It was a stubbornly fought game. Villanova meets a tartar in Bucknell this week and somehow we feel that Harry is going to get his first defeat of the season to go along with that tie game with Ursinus which can't be included as a win in the season's record . . . St. Bonaventure's 32 to 13 win ever Westminster was impressive and it gave the Brown Indians a rather secure feeling over the outcome of the Niagara game. Reilly figures the Bona boys will continue to click as they have in the St. Vincent and Westminster games. . . . Wasn't that a huge slice of humble ple that Pop Warner had to masticate last week when Carnegie

Tech took Temple by the tally of 25 to 07... And what a shock the metropolitan fans got when West Virginia beat New York U. 3 to 0! Cornell's soft games are over. They steam-rolled St. Lawrence and Richmond on successive Saturdays and tomorrow they're going to take it on the button themselves from Michigan . . . And weren't Eddie Dooley and I "sour" in our pre-game predictions. We tied on four games, each picking wrong on Notre Dame, among other choices, and Manhattan, and New York U. Then I was sap enough to pick Clarkson over Syracuse, and Eddle was chump enough to pick Temple over Carnegle, which I didn't. And wasn't I glad not to have tried to choose the winner of the Wofford-Davidson game. Who are they, you sak? Are my cheeks pink?
